You don't have to be an enemy bon alien to make yourself eligible for an internment camp. Several people have learned that with some surprise from the case of Adrien Arcand, Fuerher of the Quebec Nazis and his group of lieutenants, most of them native Canadians, who are now behind barbed wire. In time of war, says the Windsor Star , it does not matter so much where you come from as where your thoughts come from. No birth certificate will keep you out of the barbed wire pen if your actions and your talk carry "Made in Germany" labels.
