The elections in Western Ontario were featured by a veritible landslide of public opinion in opposition to Premier Hepburn's proposal of two-year terms for councils. Practically every centre that voted on this by-law turned it down by big majorities In the face of this opposition, Premier Hepburn should remove this iniquitous piece of legislation from the statutes.

Rev. R. H. Stone Dies

There passed away on January 29, in Washington, D.C., Rev. Dr. Reginald Heber Stone, pastor of Lincoln Road Methodist church, and son of the late Richard Stone of Beech Grove Farm, in what was known as the Stone's neighborhood, west of Ceylon.

Reggie Stone, as he was then known, was born in 1884 and received his public school education at S. S. No. 6, Artemesia. After years assisting his widowed mother with the farm work he, at the age of 18, went to Manor, Sask., and homesteader there, afterwards going to the Moody Bible Institute ot prepare himself for Christian work.

While completing further university and theological training, he took a course in law, as a means to more effectual social service, and won the L.L.B. degree. His Conference having appealed for volunteers to pioneer in a newly-opened area in Montana, he responded, reaching Scobey months before the railroad and being the builder of the first church and one of the first homes. Pastorates at Glasgow, Havre and Lewiston, Mont., followed. Then he was transferred to Union Square Methodist church in Baltimore and after nine years there he was moved five years ago to Lincoln Road church in Washington. His earnestness and warm brotherliness made his church in each field of labor known as "The Friendly Church," and many were won into the blessedness of the Christian life and fellowship. Two years ago his "Alma Mater," Taylor University, Indiana, honored him with the Doctor of Divinity degree in recognition of a very fruitful Christian minstry.

His wife and family of seven survive, the youngest being 16, and one of the elder sons being about to be ordained into the Methodist ministry. Brothers and sisters, survivors of the old home in Stone's neighborhood, are: Edna (Mrs. John Anderson) Melfort, Sask.; Ida (Mrs. Thos. Fee) 121 Charles St., Hamilton, Ont.; Nettie (Mrs. W. Banks) Forestburg, Alta.; William Ulric Stone of Manor, Sask., and Rev. Richard Stone of Kimber Methodist church, Springfield, Ill., U.S.A.

WAR EFFORT

While the Government has taken a hand in keeping prices from going too high, there are also hopes that they may prevent prices from going too low in summer. With this thought in mind, and also taking into consideration that the Government actually needs more butter, it might be wise to add another cow or two to your milking herd. Extra feed and attention may prove a good investment financially, while at the same time having the satisfaction of helping the war effort.
