GOLDEN TEXT.—We love, because he first loved us. I John 4:19.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING.

Time.—The books of Leviticus and Deuteronomy were written sometime between 1400 and 1500 B.C. The conversation of our Lord with the lawyer took place on Tuesday, April 4, A.D. 30. The words about the disciples' love for one another were uttered on Thursday of the same week. The First Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians was written about A.D. 57 or 58.

Place.—The books of Leviticus and Deuteronomy were, no doubt, written somewhere in the Wilderness of Sinai. The discourse with the lawyer, as well as Christ's words regarding the disciples' love, were uttered in the City of Jerusalem. The First Epistle to the Corinthians was written from the City of Ephesus.

Love One Another

34. "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; even as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. 35. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." This is called a new commandment, though to love one's neighbor as one's self was a familiar commonplace amongst the Jews. But this commandment set forth a new measure of love, so greatly different from all that preceded it as to become almost a new kind of love. The very same principle which makes this love to one another imperative upon all disciples, makes it equally imperative upon every follower of Jesus Christ to embrace in a real affection all whom Jesus so loved as to die for them. The way men will know we are the disciples of God is that in daily life we are found to be loving one another.

Language of the Angels

1. "If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am become sounding brass, or a clanging cymbal." The tongues of the angels are the languages which angels use. Sounding brass is a piece of clattering brass which makes a senseless noise. The cymbal is a shallow disc, capable of making only a harsh and clanging sound. Paul makes it a symbol of the hollow and shallow and pretentious loud talker who is noisy enough to drown out all opposition but who is all sound and fury, signifying nothing.

2. "And if I have the gift of prophecy, and know all mysteries and all knowledge; and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing." The apostle does not say that it is possible for a man to have all these gifts without love. He only says that if it were possible, it would be useless. Real faith without love is an impossibility.

Acts of Love

3. "And if I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and if I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profiteth me nothing." How can such acts be done otherwise than by love? The sacrifice of goods may be carried out in the spirit of ostentation or may proceed from a desire of self-justifciation and be dictated by a wholly different feeling than love. It may be so likewise with the sacrifice of life.

4. "Love suffereth long, and is kind." Love is slow to be roused to resentment. "Love envieth not." To covet good gifts is right; to envy gifted persons is wrong "Love vaunteth not itself; is not puffed up." Love does not play the braggart, is not conceited. A man who is continually boasting of himself has no inclination to love other people. All of his love is consumed by himself.

5. "Doth not behave himself unseemly. Seeketh not its own; is not provoked, taketh not account of evil." Love is not forgetful of others; it does not seek its own interests; it does not take evil for granted, but is prone to see the good which is in everything.

6. "Rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with the truth." Love is never glad when others go wrong but rejoices when truth defeats calumny.

Belief and Hope

7. "Beareth all things. Believeth all things. Hopeth all things, endureth all things." Love bears in silence all troubles. Love believes and hopes for the best. Love should motivate all that we do and think and say.

8. "Love never faileth: but whether there be prophesies, they shall be done away; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall be done away."

9. "For we know in part, and we prophecy in part; 10. but when that which is perfect is come, that which is in part shall be done away. 11. When I was a child, I spake as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child: now that I am become a man, I have put away childish things." As a man puts away the things of a child, so will much that we now think so important be put away, when we are face to face with great realities.

12. "For now we see in a mirror, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know fully even as also I was fully known." Our present knowledge of God is dim; but we shall see the Lord, even as now he himself sees us.

13. "But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love." It is one thing to have faith in a person; it is much more to love that person. If love remains, hope and faith always will remain. It is God's abiding love that will make Heaven our eternal home.

CANADIAN OBSERVERS AT FIRST ARMY AIR MANEUVERS

Capt. G. H. Dugal of the Voltigeurs de Quebec, Major G. R. Elliott of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Major K. Hall of the Midland Regiment Infantry and Captain C. E. Parish of the Canadian Grenadier Guards are pictured near Camden, S.C., where they are observing air maneuvers of the First Army.

Training Programme For War Activities

Mr. H. H. Kerr, Regional Director of War Emergency Training in Ontario, urges the immediate enrolment of men between the ages of 16 and 19 inclusive and 26 years up, to be trained in the mechanical trades to meet the pressing need of industry. They must be British subjects. Men in the age group 20-25 inclusive, are not eligible for training unless they can prove they are physically unfit to serve in the armed forces.

Radio Mechanics

While there has been an encouraging response to the appeal for men between the ages of 18 and 45 to train for Radio Mechanics, there is still room for more in the classes at the Toronto Central, Hamilton Westdale and Ottawa Technical Schools. Applicants must be British subjects, must have successfully completed Grade X of their secondary school education and be prepared to enlist in the R.C.A.F. at the completion of their 24 weeks' course. As the need is urgent, applicants are asked to enrol NOW in this vital phase of the War Effort.

Tool Room Improvers

There are some vacancies in the special Tool Room Improvers' Course being conducted at the Westdale Technical School, Hamilton. This course is the only one of its type and kind in Canada. It is a general course in tool and die making. It is arranged and designed to produce efficient help in a tool room. The Tool Room Improvers' Course is of six months duration. Students to take this important course, must be sponsored by an Industry.

Young Women Needed

Many hundreds of young women between the ages of 18 and 35 are needed at once by some of the larger industries engaged in vital war production. Married women of the aforementioned age, without dependents, are eligible. Special courses of training are now being conducted at Provincial Technical Schools.

Other courses of training include Machine Shop Practice, Machine Shop Refresher, Bench work and fitting, drafting, welding, electricity, Aircraft (Industrial) Radio, Aero Engine overhaul etc., as well as Pre-Enlistment Classes for the armed forces and Army Tradesmen Classes for enlisted men.

Subsistence allowances are provided while trainees are taking their respective courses.

Applications for nrolment may be obtained from the Principals of Secondary Schools, Directors of training centres or from the Regional Director, War Emergency Training Programme, East Block, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Still Schickelgruber

"The first indication of genius in the present German Fuehrer was when he changed his name from Schickelgruber to Hitler. What man could hope to rise from bumhood to chieftainship with such a name as Schickelgruber?" comments The Argonaut. But skunk cabbage by any name is still skunk cabbage.

The Royal Air Force has been dropping millions of bogus ration cards over Germany. The purpose is to disorganize the German rationing system.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE ancients believed that a toad brought good fortune to the house in whose new made cellar it took up its abode. Today we know that the toad does bring good fortune to the owner of the land it occupies, for experiments have shown that the toad has an enormous appetite, and insects are his specialty.

When Hedda Hopper appeared as guest of Edgar Bergen's program a few weeks ago, and Charlie greeted her with "Do you call that a hat or are you just absent-minded?" the wisecrack was a last-minute insertion, because Charlie (Bergen) had ad-libbed it at rehearsal and it went over big.

Among those present recently at a special CKOC broadcast was Mr. B.
