Board To Reorganize Its Ration System

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is taking steps to re-organize its ration system, Chairman Donald Gordon, said this week. By enlisting local people with an intimate knowledge of community conditions, it is planned to set up local ration offices in the municipal buildings at some 500 centres across Canada.

While final plans have not yet been announced, the Boards will be so located as to give representation to all areas.

The local boards will be staffed by volunteers chosen from among leading citizens of the communities concerned, who will work without pay as part of their war effort. Mayors and reeves are being asked to act as chairmen of the local ration boards and to submit nominations for board members. The boards will be made up of people representing agriculture, trade and industry, labor, the professions and women.

"The move is designed to give better and more understanding service to the people of Canada with a minimum of expense and inconvenience," Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board explained. "It will bring local knowledge to bear upon local ration problems."

The local boards will have wide powers in administering local matters relating to rationing. This includes such work as issuance of ration books for new born babies, collection of the ration books of deceased persons, replacement of lost books, special allowances to soldiers on leave, allowances for preserving or other special circumstances, changes of address and similar business, which it is believed can best be handled by persons familiar with local conditions.

Has Broken Leg

Mr. Sam Croft of town suffered a broken leg while working with the Lorne Turvey crushing outfit at the Duckett gravel pit on the west backline this Wednesday morning. He was taken to Markdale hospital. It is stated that Mr. Croft's trouser leg became caught in a universal join and started to wind the cloth. A workman nearby saw his predicament and pulled him loose but not before his leg was broken. It was fortunate that the accident was not of a more serious nature.

Retires After 50 Years As Orgnnist

After 50 years of untiring efforts as organist for Flesherton churches, Mrs. Jos. Blackburn has retired from the organ of St. John's United Church. For the past 24 years she has been organist and choir leader in the former Methodist church and St. John's, prior to which she was organist in Chalmer's Presbyterian church for 26 years. During that time she was seldom away from her duties and her work with the choirs was accomplished with credit to herself. Her wonderful alto voice was in demand in duet and quartette numbers and was of exceptional quality. She has taught music in her home for some 45 years and many pupils feel the benefit of her teaching. Mrs. Blackburn's pleasing and friendly personality nade her many friends and she will be greatly missed in her regular position at the organ.

GYPSIES GOING TO FAIRS

The Elmira Signet published this item: "It wouldn't be a fair without gypsies telling fortunes, reading heads or palms. In one case gypsies should have told the fortune first before lifting it. According to reports one man is supposed to have lost a hundred dollars while having his head read. Apparently his head needed reading. It appears the technique used was of the dark lady out in front, holding an unlighted cigarette, to ask a passerby, usually, generally, or by design, a man, a young or old one, for a match. From then on the victim was on his own. If you needed your head read you were taken in, if not you proceeded on your way to safer grounds. The story goes that the gypsies lifted $100 from a man and in five minutes pulled stakes and not taking time to take tent poles, quickly roll their tents and beat a hasty and sure retreat."

Teachers' Convention Held At Durham

The Public and Separate School teachers of South Grey met in their 65th annual convention in Durham on Saturday, Oct. 3rd. At 9.15, opening exercises were conducted by Rev. P. W. MacInnis, Durham, after which minutes of last meeting and the financial report were confirmed.

In the absence of the president, Harry Henderson, who has left the ranks, Vice-President B. Firth of Neustadt started the business of the day with an inspiring address, stressing the need of instilling beauty or quality into the lives of children by the example, ideals, and precepts of the teacher.

Miss Marjorie Stevens, one of the teachers, then delightfully gave some of her "First Impressions," ending her theme on such a high level of aspirations as should guarantee her own success in her chosen profession.

Robert Christie next brought back some of the highlights of the Easter convention, and urged every teacher to attend next year and gain some of the inspiration he had received.

"The Best of the Grammars" was a topic well handled by Miss Mabel Leitmeier of Hanover, and the teachers must have gained much from her experiences along this line.

Mrs. H. Fell answered the question "Can a Teacher Come Back?' with a decided affirmative, showing how a teacher who has once left the profession may answer one of the many calls of her country in the time of need by filling a vacancy in the ranks caused by the war. The fact that she is again handling a school that she managed many years ago shows the kind of teacher she was and is.

The teachers were then introduced to Master Bobby Robinson, a boy of six years, who read easily, fluently, and intelligibly, from all the school readers from Grade 4 up, and ended with a selection shown him for the first time from Longfellow. The convention then presented this promising young Canadian with a fine volume of Longfellow "for his very own."

"The Tacher's Place in the Section's Life" was well set out by Harold Hamilton, whose long tenure in one school certainly proved the value of striving to raise the cultural level of a community by proper attitudes and sympathetic appreciation of the respective rights of parents, pupils and teacher.

The secretary, J. A. Magee, discussed the weakness of the new Mathematics text books, and advised teachers to use several good supplementary books available in the subject and to make problems suitable to their own classes and localities.

Inspector G. E. Pentland, in his "Things General," stressed the sale of war savings stamps, contributions to patriotic funds, war salvage, etc.; explained how to figure the new income tax; and made various announcements and comments re the general work of the school.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Hon. President, G. E. Pentland, M.A.; president, Miss K. Bergin; vice-president, Harold Hamilton; sec.-treas., J. A. Magee; delegate to O.E.A., B. Firth; auditors, Miss M. Leitmeier, G. H. Brown.

The meeting was closed with the national anthem.
