HOSPITAL HELP SCARCE

The Meaford Cottage Hospital Board is "on the griddle" in trying to get a cook. One must be secured by Saturday night if the institution is not to be closed up. Who'll volunteer to relieve the board from "stewing" about this problem? Town ladies have been busy doing up fruit for the hospital this past week in great style, says the Meaford Express, and speaking of hospitals an urgent appeal is being made for nurses, registered or "practical," and even for surse-aides, women without nursing experience, to assist in hospitals. If the Ontario government had not a few year's ago deliberately set about to reduce the number of studen nurses by shutting down the classes in the smaller hospitals like our own of the province, the present situation would not be so acute.

It's your own fault if you prefer to forget the past rather than use it for the future.

A man is a sucess these days who has a furnace, a set of furnace pipes coal in the cellar, and a coal shovel.
