Birds Flew Down Stovepipe

Arthur Robinson of Glenelg was in the office the other day and left the body of a small bird, which with another, flew down the chimney of his home, on down through the stovepipes and into the top part of his kitchen stove. They made quite a racket, and in getting them out he had to kill the pair. Examining them, he discovered a band on one bird's leg, which we are sending to the Audubon Society in Washington to try and identify the band and who placed it on the bird's leg. The bird was banded probably in the south. While not a bird expert, we believe it was a chimney swift. —The Durham Chronicle.

LETTER FROM ITALY

The following letter was received by the Stephen's Corners War Workers from Pte. Ken Londry, who is with the Canadian Army in Italy:

I'm very sorry indeed that I just can't seem to get round to writing to you people as often as I should and thanking you for your generous supply of smokes, parcels, and chocolates which you send to us chaps over here.

I have received numerous parcels of 'sigs" from you people since Christmas and in the last mail received your lovely box of chocolates. We almost have to hide to eat chocolates, as the children never tasted candy until the allies arrived.

It is quite true that civilians aren't allowed in the unit lines, but those youngsters watch for mail coming just as much as we do, and I can assure you no sentry can keep them out if they figure there is any chocolate floating around.

Perhaps you think they don't know words how to ask for it. Well they sure weren't long picking up English words especially pertaining to something to eat.

This is a grand country, but a person couldn't believe just how ancient and backward they are in comparison to our ways and customs of living.

Each farmer only appears to have about four cows, a few sheep, goats, chickens and hogs. There are no fences and all the women and children herd the goats, sheep and pigs together and at night they drive them home.

The animals live in one room and the natives in another. Sanitation doesn't seem to exist in their vocabulary here

The women work equally as hard as the men, if not harder. It certainly looked funny to see the women and even young girls carrying huge jugs of water on their heads and swinging both arms like a soldier on parade, when we first came over here seven months ago.

Would like to try and paint more of picture of this place into a letter, but time space and the censor won't allow such.

Thanking you, I remain.

Ken.

Rev. Goff Passes

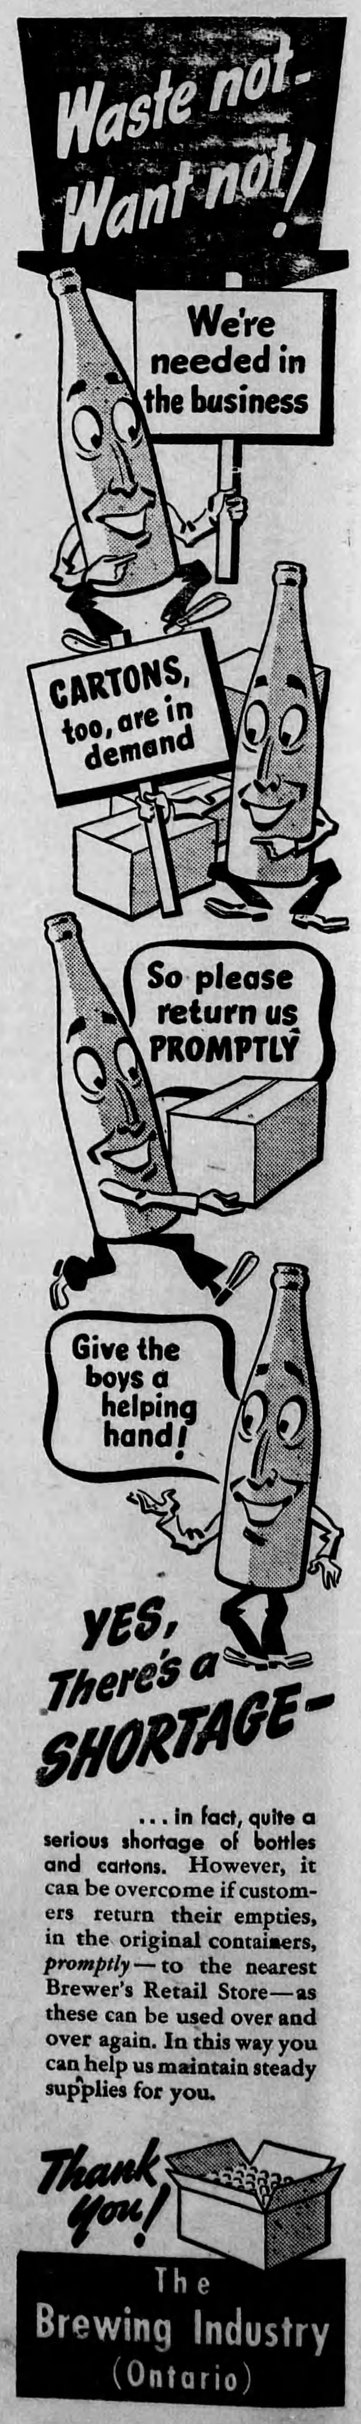
Following an illness of a little more than a month the death occurred at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon at his home in Clarksburg of Rev. F. D. Goff, one of the best known and greatly beloved ministers of the gospel in this district. He was taken ill with pneumonia, and appeared to be making a good recovery, but suffered a relapse, and death came to him quietly and peacefully on Friday of last week.

Rev. Mr. Goff was a dynamic and inspiring preacher of the gospel, and his Tabernacle in Clarksburg was usually well filled for the services. He was of the evangelistic type of preacher and carried on his work in Clarksburg independent of any particular religious denomination for the past 43 years. His name was a household one throughout the entire district, and he will long be remembered for his great work among the people. In the summer months it was his practice for many years to hold a series of tent meetings, when preachers from distant points were often brought in to assist him, and these meetings were very popular and a great amount of good was done. Farmers and others were in the habit of coming from long distances to attend these tent meetings, especially on Sundays, when there were almost capacity crowds. Rev. Mr. Goff will be greatly missed in the Clarksburg community and the sympathy of everyone will be extended to the members of his family.

He was born 71 years ago at Sand Bay, near Gananoque, where he received his early education, and while a young man entered the ministry, and two years after being ordained came to Clarksburg, where he established his work, which he had carried on so successfully ever since. His wife predeceased him three years His wife, who was Louise Armstrong, predeceased him three years ago and he is survived by three sons, Rev. Reginald Goff, Worland, Wyoming, U. S. A., who is at present at home; Samuel, lawyer, Toronto, and Albert, fruit grower, of Clarksburg; also two daughters, Ethel, in R. C. A F. Women's Division, at Rockcliffe, and Mrs. Howard Hall, Thornbury.

Mr. Geo. Armstrong, Miss Dorothy Armstrong, Rev. Alice Armstrong, Mrs. Wes Armstrong and Mrs. John Armstrong attended the funeral which was held Monday afternoon at the Tabernacle, Clarksburg. His son, Rev. Reg. Goff, preached the funeral sermon.

As we travel on life's way we often look back over what we have done or left undone in the past. Some of our memories may carry a sting with them, but there is one thing certain —no memory of a generous act brings with it any remorse. We never regret those occasions on which we have given our higher natures a chance to show generosity, though we do regret bitterly the opportunities for doing good which at times we have allowed to slip — Guelph Mercury.



... in fact, quite a serious shortage of bottles and cartons. However, it can be overcome if customers return their empties, in the original containers, promptly—to the nearest Brewer's Retail Store—as these can be used over and over again. In this way you can help us maintain steady supplies for you.

Thank You!
