Poultry

The poultry season is drawing near and we have a good market for your well-finished birds. A demand for C grade poultry, however, is definitely lacking. We, therefore, advise you to properly finish your birds, whether you sell them alive or dressed, in order to secure top prices.

This year the production of poultry is exceptionally heavy. It is advisable for you to finish your birds and begin marketing them early and at regular intervals, in order to aboid too heavy a supply at any one time.

Right now we are dressing poultry. You may sell your poultry to us alive or have us dress them for you and pay you on dressed basis.

Patrons are requested to co-operate in bringing their cream to the creamery by 10 p.m. on open nights, otherwise cream will not be tested until the following day.
