

Toys for Tots campaign is underway

The drive is on to collect toys for children. The annual Toys for Tots campaign had its seasonal kick-off last Friday in Burlington. A joint venture between Halton Regional Police, Canadian Tire, the Salvation Army, the Mandarin restaurant, Halton Honda and the Tiger Jeet Singh Foundation, Toys for Tots provides gifts to less fortunate families across Halton.

"One thing we probably can't relate to is waking up on Christmas morning without presents or being hungry. There's a lot of things we take for granted living here," said Toys for Tots program co-ordinator Halton Police Const. Jody Wilson. As it has for several years, Canadian Tire in Georgetown is participating in the program.

A box is set up at the store—to be staffed on 15 weekends by Halton Police officers— where shoppers are asked to donate money and/or Canadian Tire money. The money will be used to purchase items in the store for needy children of all ages. For more information, contact Wilson at 905-878-5511, ext. 5240, or visit www.haltonpolice.ca.
