GOODYEAR

D. McTAVISH & SONS

When you wire your farm for the first time, make sure that the job is designed to take care of present and future needs. That is the economical way . . . the only way to get your full money's worth and to profit as you should from Hydro service. Electric wiring, like a horse, can be efficient and safe only when adequate for the heaviest load it may have to carry.

The safe way is to have wiring done by a competent electrician. He may advise a little extra first-cost for heavier wire and more outlets and switches but he will save you time, trouble and the expense of re-wiring later on.

No matter what appliances and motors you start with, you will be wanting to add more electrical money-savers, work-savers and conveniences as time goes on. You can do that, if you start right with adequate wiring.

Your Hydro Rural Superintendent will gladly advise you as to good general wiring practice. His advice and a competent electrical contractor to do the job will be your best assurance of satisfaction.

MAXWELL GIRL GRADUATES AT 453th Graduation of G. and M. Hospital

Threatening skies gave way to bright sunshine for the forty-fifth graduation exercises of the General and Marine Hospital, Collingwood, held on the lawn of the Ann Long Nurses Home, Thursday, June 14th. Although it was feared that the ceremonies would have to moved indoors, the weather man held off until the programme was practically completed. The exercises were presided over by Mr. John L. Smart, chairman of the Board of Trustees, who extended a cordial welcome to the relatives and friends of the graduates.

Equally as impressive as on former occasions was the march of nurses from the hospital to the platform headed by the members of the staff and followed by the student body and the graduating nurses carrying bouquets of deep red roses. Mrs. N. D. Boadway presided at the piano for the entrance march. The invocation was said by Rev. A. S. Kerr, M. A., of Trinity United Church.

On behalf of the citizens of the town, Mayor T. W. Scrannage spoke a word of congratulations to the graduates. He expressed the opinion that Collingwood had just reason to be proud of its hospital and the fine services which is being rendered to the community.

Speaking for the medical staff Capt. Douglas A. Harvie, recently returned from overseas service, extended congratulations and good wishes to the graduates. He expressed his pleasure in finding the hospital carrying on in its best tradition. "There are changes", he said "and the hospital building itself has been modernized extensively. However it is not the building itself has gives a hospital its character but the people who worked in it and for it and have given something of from here, you will always be a part themselves to it. Wherever you go of this hospital and already each of you has given her bit to its tradition. This is the first hospital function I have attended without the late Dr. Simpson here in person, but I feel sure that the friendly influence of his personality will always be with us on these occasions." Concluding he wished for the graduates health, happiness, and the odd spot of luck.

Always the highlight of such a function, the presentation of pins, diplomas and awards was an important feature. Gifts from the medical staff were presented to the girls by Master Donald McKay and Master Richard Elliott. Diplomas were given by Mr. Smart and pins fastened on the graduates' bibs by Mrs. D. A. Harvie, chairman of the House Committee. Mr. Smart and Mrs. Harvie added their congratulations to each young lady. For the nurses alumnae of the hospital, Mrs. Austin Brown presented each graduate with a gift while the prize from the Board of Trustees for General Proficiency was given to Miss Shirley Edwards by Mrs. F. E. Courtice. This part of the afternoons programme was climaxed with the graduates, Misses Shirley Ethel Edwards of Beaverton, Dorothy Ethellen Fee of Ravenna, Mabel Velma Fenwick of Maxwell, Bessie Jean McKinlay of Ravenna, and Marjorie Melissa Page of Fenwick, repeating the Florence Nightingale pledge.

Dr. F. W. Routley, secretary of the Ontario Hospital Association was to have been the guest speaker, but circumstances at the last moment prevented him from attending. However he was successful in obtaining Miss Gladys Sharpe, superintendant of the Nuress Training School of Toronto Western Hospital to come in his place. Miss Sharpe, who was introduced by Mr. F. E. Courtice, is a graduate of Toronto Western Hospital and from the school of Nursing at McGill University. Later she took post-graduate work in the British Isles and has gained recognition as one of Canada's most outstanding women in the field of nursing. Soon after the outbreak of hostilities she offered her services as an army nurse and in this connection rendered splendid service. In 1941 a call was made for volunteer nurses to go to Africa she responded and in time left Canada as matron-in-chief of a group of three hundred nurses who went to lend nursing service where it was needed on the African continent. Of this work she told a most interesting story and her address was very much enjoyed.

Speaking to the graduates she said "While for the past five years graduate nurses in our profession have had the privilege of caring for the men in the armed services at home and abroad, you have had the abiding satisfaction of contributing to the health and comfort of their loved ones at home. Today as you receive the pin and diploma of you Alma Mater remember that work instructed by education, guided by wisdom and inspired by love is the greatest thing in the world.

Miss Mabel Fenwick, daughter of Mr. Roy Fenwick, Maxwell, is well known here, having attended High School at Flesherton and Feversham. Many of Mabel's friends from the district attended the graduation exercises. To her we express our congratulations and best wishes in her chosen profession. Miss Ethel Fenwick, Reg.N., her older sister, graduated from the same hospital four years ago and is now a member of the staff there.

He picked up the telephone, but found the line busy. "I just put on some beans for dinner," he heard a woman say to her neighbor. A few minutes later he tried again. The same two women were still talking.

"Say, lady, I smell your beans burning," he broke in.

There was a scream, two receivers went up, and the line was open.

Shot Through Foot

Little Billie Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Wright, was a patient in the G. and M. Hospital for an X-ray as a result of an accident which occurred recently. He and some companions were digging a skunk from a hole, when one of the boys stepped on a .22 rifle, causing it to discharge. The bullet went right through his foot near his ankle. We are pleased to report that no bones were broken and he has returned home. — Wiarton Echo.

"I'll teach you to make love to my daughter."

"I wish you would, Old Man; I'm not making much progress."

Editor, The Advance

I would like to express in an open letter, my appreciation and thanks to Providence War Workers and others in Feversham community. In the year and a half I have been overseas, they have literally showered me with parecls and cigarettes.

It seems but a few years ago I was young enough to go to those meetings of Providence Ladies' Aid with my mother. Therefore I can fully appreciate the big job being done by such a small group for the boys over here.

Again I say "thanks" and here's hoping we will all be back soon.

Sincerely,
Leslie Guy Poole.
