F. J. THURSTON, Editor

The Late Frank Stephens

Death claimed a life-long and highly esteemed resident of the Singhampton district on Sunday morning Feb. 10th, at 8:30 o'clock, in the person of Frank Stephens. Although he had not enjoyed robust health for the past year, he was able to aid with the farm duties until a few days previous to his death, so his passing was a distinct shork to his family.

Deceased was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Stephens of England and he came to the farm on which he died about 75 years ago when a child of tender years. Mr Stephens possessed a very quiet, retiring disposition, clean in habits and in speech and his dealings were honest and upright. With unabated industry, he carried on his agricultural pursuits and his faithful endeavors were well rewarded in the upbuilding of a cosy home, which to him was a great source of comfort.

Nearly fifty years ago, he married Minnie Horton, daughter of the late Sam Horton, Collingwood Township, who survives, together with two sons, Richard of Ravenna and George, at home, also three daughters, Elsie (Mrs. Leo Densmore) and Nellie (Mrs. Coram Hustler), both of Grand Valley, and Evelyn (Mrs. Mervyn Moore) of Feversham. There are also nine grandchildren. His only sister, Mrs. Robt. Taylor, predeceased him by eight years.

The funeral service was held at the family residence on Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. Robt. Birnie of Duntroon officiating.

The bier was borne by two nephews, Henry and Herb Taylor of Feversham and four neighbors, John Lougheed. Wm, Reid, Robt. Brown and James Monaghan. Interment was made in Singhampton Cemetery.

The Late Jarvis J. Magee

With many friends and relatives in attendance, the funeral of Jarvis J. Magee, who died at the home of his son, Roy S. Magee, 161 Mary Street, Orillia, was held in Toronto to Prospect Cemetery.

Rev. E. A. Baker of Dufferin-Port Road United Church officiated. Pallbearers were, T. Ball, G. Ball, J. Duncanson, W. Wiggins, T. Finnie and J. Wilcox.

Mr. Magee had resided in Orillia during the summer for a number of years during which he spent the winter in Toronto. Because of failing health he did not go to Toronto this winter.

Born in Kimberley in Grey County 78 years ago, Mr. Magee lived most of his life in Toronto where he was with the Toronto Street Railway for 49 years until his retirement in 1938. Mr. Magee could clearly remember the old horse-drawn railway cars and he used to often tell of the progress made by the Toronto system to the present-day streamlined cars.

Besides his son, Roy, manager of the National Grocers branch in Orillia he leaves a daughter, Mrs Fred Kemish of Toronto, a brother, John of Eugenia, Ont., and two sisters, Esther of Thornbury and Mrs. Annie Griesbach of Moose Jaw. — (News-Letter).

"Oh, I like the scenery around here," observed the vacationist. "But the people up here are queer."

"Wa-al, yes, that's so," replied the Muskoka farmer. "But one good thing, most of them go back home about September."

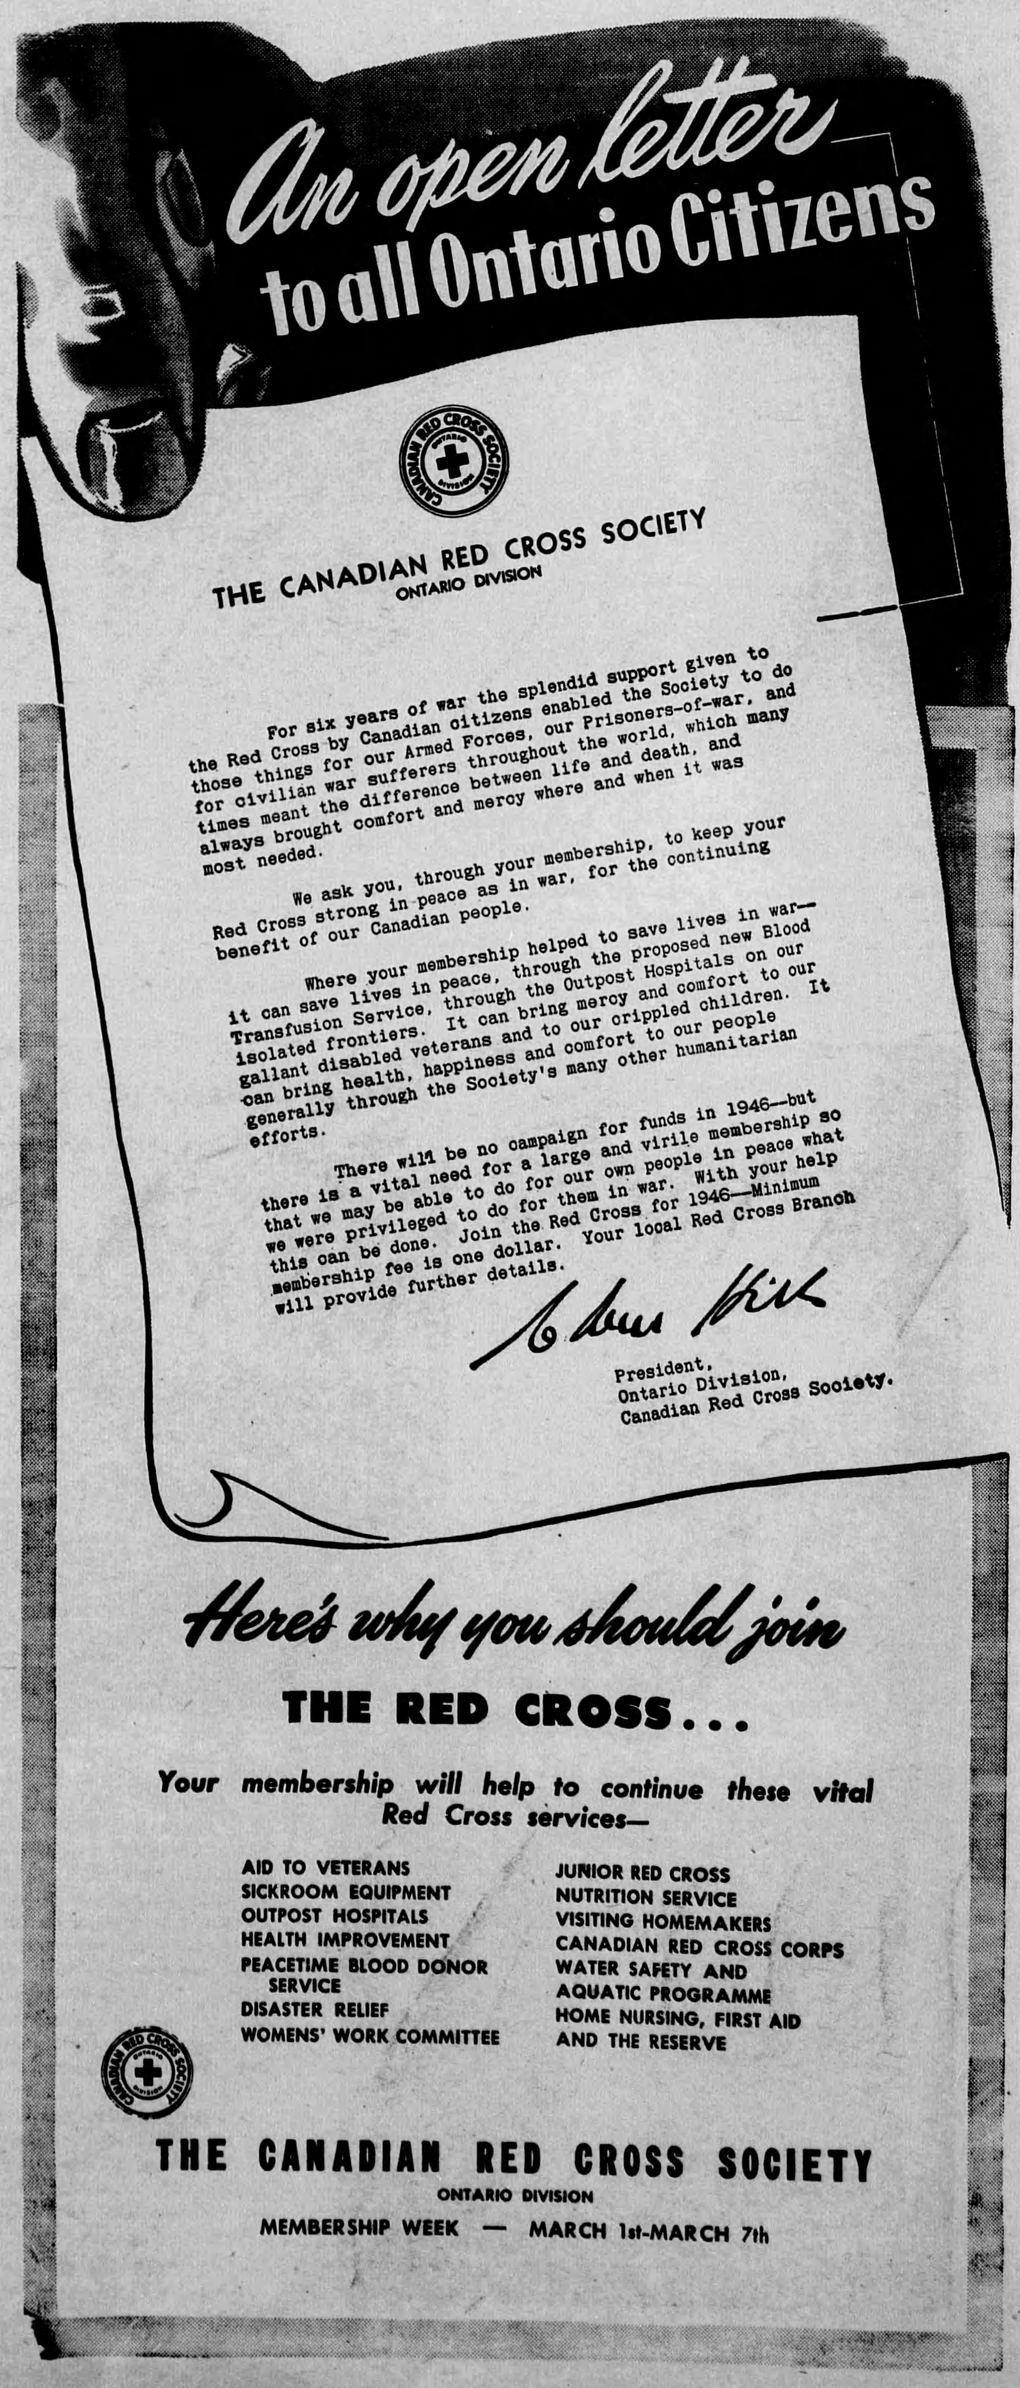
The 'Queen's Comeback

The eighty-five thousand tons Queen Elizabeth, the world's largest liner, will by autumn be ready for the luxury passenger traffic for which she was built but never used. Within the next two months she will complete her last war job, taking Canadian and American soldiers home, and then he will have six months' overhaul and refit. The first part of the renovation will be done at Gourock on the Clyde where John Brown, the ship's builders, will complete the structural work halted when it was decided to convert her for troop-carying. The boards over the swimmng pools will be removed, and where soldiers slept elaborate cocktail bars will reappear. The builders will also give the ship a complete engineering overhaul, testing her turbine blades, four thousand feet of oil piping from bunkers to furnaces, and many miles of electric cables. Painting, refurnishing and restocking will be done at Southampton. Elaborate freizes and other wall decorations boarded up while the ship was carrying troops are in good condition.

"When does the next train go?" inquired a prospective passenger.

Upon being advised, she again asked, "Isn't there one before that?"


"No," replied the testy agent, "there is no train before the next train!"
