Received Highest Marks In Province In Music

A splendid record in music has been achieved by Miss Nancy Ellen Davis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glen Davis, 91 Edgewood Ave., Toronto, who has been studying music less than three years, and was successful in winning the medal presented annually to the pupil obtaining the highest marks in the Province. Nancy Ellen obtained the highest mark of any pupil who wrote the Grade V examination in the Province of Ontario in the last two years, truly a splendid record. She ranked third place in the East York Musical Festival a few months ago, winning the bronze medal at that time. She is in Grade VII at Bowmore Road School, and has been an honor pupil every year.

Nancy is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer, Duntroon.

Changes Made Regarding Taxation Of Co-operatives

Changes in original budget resolutions covering the taxation of co-operatives as well as steps to assist the gold mining industry to overcome the financial handicaps arising from the recent adjustment of the Canadian dollar to parity with that of the United States were announced in the Commons by acting Finance Minister Abbot.

Disclosing that steps had been taken to meet requests for changes in the proposed taxation of co-operatives, Mr. Abbot announced these three amendments.

1. For taxation purposes, co-operative organizations will be allowed 12 months instead of six months, as proposed in the resolutions, to pay patronage dividends.

2. The provision that money expended by an organization in the purchase of the interest of members would be exempted only if that interest had been acquired after 1941, will be removed.

3. Provision will be made whereby a co-operative which wishes to pay patronage dividends only to members or at a lower rate to non-members will be able to treat such patronage dividends as a deduction from taxable income, provided they pay tax on income arising from non-member business.

A Black Ground Hog

(By Vandeleur Reporter)

Yes, there is such a thing as a black groundhog. Your correspondent saw one this week with his own two eyes. It was shot by Alex. Gilray in H. I. Graham's clover field. The animal was full grown, and just the same as any other wood chuck, except that its fur was jet black, and it was not artificial. It had died, but was not dyed.

In Memoriam

DOUPE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Gnr. E. C. Doupe, killed in action at Caen, France, August 4th, 1944.

Not just today, but every day,
In silence we remember.
—Lovingly remembered by Wife and Children.

In Memoriam

MAGEE — In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Hazel, who passed away August 7th, 1942.

She is gone, but not forgotten,
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of her are always near.

Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by Mother, Father, Sister and Brothers.

Bookie — You call that a race horse. Can the nag really run?

Owner — Can he run? Why, that horse can stand still faster than most horses can gallop.

Loses Barn And Stock In Fire Near Markdale

Fire completely destroyed the fine large barn on the farm of Mr. Alfred O'Neill, just south of Markdale on Highway No. 10. Besides the barn, there were burned a team of horses, 45 pigs, an automobile, about 25 tons of hay and a number of farm implements. The wind carried the sparks to the next farm owned by Mr. Ed. Bierns and set fire to the roof, burning a large hole before it was discovered and extinguished. Insurance was carried but will not cover the loss sustained by Mr. O'Neill. Milking was in progress at the time the fire was discovered and the cows were untied and found their way outside, but the flames spread with such rapidity that none of the other stock could be saved. Included in the loss was a fine bull.

Retires On Eight Hour Day

Some farmers, who have sold their farms because the work was too hard for them at their age and fourteen hours too long, have retired in Ontario towns on the eight hour day. They find eight hours of mechanically-aided work a nice way to spend their spare time, in which to earn twice as much per hour as they earned farming.

One such farmer, who sold a good farm with a modern home and up-to-date barn, is revelling in the comparative ease of a town job, at good pay. For the first time in his life he is enjoying leisure. His job provides him with sufficient physical recreation to keep him healthy and enough time for his garden, games and friends. He is producing, creating employment for others. He says, "It is a great life, if you keep on working a little.

When the reaction from inflation comes he will live on his old-age pension from his savings which he has kept intact. The people who bought his farm will be employed while urban people pay the unemployment penalties of their more-for-less absurdities of today.

Those Were The Days

Remember when salesmen almost hounded you to buy cars, offering you many tempting inducements? Why there was a time when you'd hardly get seated on the front porch before a salesman would drive up in a shiny new car and invite you to go for a ride. If you worked it right, you could get free motoring all summer in this way.

A thousand former residents gathered in this village on Monday for the Old Boys' Re-Union. The program was held on a platform built under a spreading tree outside the Women's Institute Hall. War veterans headed a calithumption parade to the hall and the first number on the program was the singing of "O God Our Help in Ages Past". Three old-time fiddlers, Charles McDonald of Holstein, who was accompanied on the piano by Betty McDonald of Stranraer, Sask., Thos. McDonald of Priceville accompanied by his wife, and Neil McKinnon, 77, of the South Line accompanied by his son Neil entertained the crowd.

Presentations were made to four old-timers, Neil McLeod, 95, Mrs. Isaac Pinkerton, 94, Thos. McKeown, 91, all of Priceville, and Mrs. Arrowsmith, 92, of Markdale. Mrs. Arrowsmith was unable to be present. The presentations were made by Colin McMillan and Jos. White of Priceville and Allan McInnis of Toronto.

It had been planned to extend a welcome to three war brides, Mrs. Wesley White, Mrs. W. Meads and Mrs. Orville McKinnon, but only Mrs. White was present.

Servicemen from Priceville were presented with sums of money and an illuminated address.

In a softball game South Line defeated Glenelg 16-15. Races of all kinds were held for the children. A largely attended dance in the Women's Institute Hall in the evening concluded the program.
