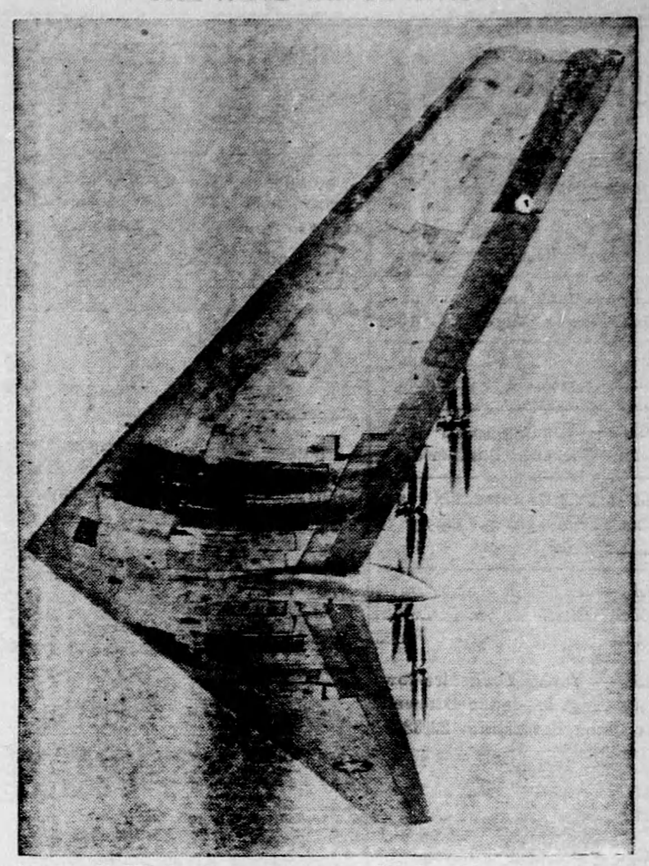
THE WING WINGS AWAY



Northrop's XB-35 plane, the famous "Flying Wing," is pictured above in "clean" flight over Hawthorne, Calif., the giant landing wheels tucked inside. According to the Army's Materiel Command at Wright Field, Ohio, the strange air monster has had an "unprecedented" record of trouble-free performance since its first test flight.

SPOTS OF SPORTS

By FRANK MANN HARRIS
("A Six Bit Critic")

About as funny a thing as has come up in our goofy world of sport in quite some time was the recent action of Mister Ellsworth Vines, golfer and tenniser extraordinary. (In case you have forgotten about it by the time this gets into print, Mister Vines is the man who forfeited $675 of his prize money rather than travel around in a golf tournament bearing the stigma of a numbered tag.)

* * *

In explanation of his weird procedure—an athlete refusing money under any circumstances whatsoever strikes us as nothing less than weird—Mister Vines said it was a matter of "dignity before dough." In other words, he considered it quite beneath his dignity to wear a number so that the huge crowds following the play — the same crowd whose admission fees made such a lucrative tournament possible—would be able to distinguish one player from another.

* * *

Now if Mister Vines had been competing as an amateur in an open tournament—like Bobby Jones of old—and wished to have that fact clearly known, it would have been quite another matter. In English cricket the "gentlemen" used to be—maybe still are for all we know—distinguished from the professionals, or "players", by having a separate entrance to come onto the field through, and by having a "Mr." ahead of their names on the program. And no real harm was done by this separation of the sheep from the goats, although to our crude colonial mind it always seemed a trifle stuffy.

* * *

Or if Mister Vines had entirely refused to accept any of the vulgar money of a crowd so benighted that they couldn't tell him, the great Ellsworth, without the aid of a number, we might have pegged him as a slight screwball, but still one who stuck up for his principles no matter what the cost.

* * *

But Mister Vines wasn't — and didn't! He was and is a professional, competing with other professionals not only in this, but in plenty of other tourneys. And when the thing was over, and payoff time arrived, he by no means turned up his patrician nose in scorn but stepped right over to the wicket and accepted the other $4325 of his winnings like a little martyr. And, as the lady said, real nice work if you can get it.

* * *

So all that remains is to laugh —and to recommend Mister Vines to try some of those cold compresses, used for the reduction of tumid joints, on his aristocratic dome. And it's rather a pity, because Ellsworth Vines was one of the finest tennis players that ever swung a racket, and now he's right up among the best of them at golf. And any man who can get to the top in those two sports —which, as played in fast company nowadays, probably take more skill, staying power and plain guts than any other games whatever—is certainly a wonder and should be above such petty stuff as he pulled in Chicago.

* * *

For, Heaven knows, if people can be found who are willing to pay real money for the privilege of tramping several miles around a golf course, on a hot sticky day, to watch a lot of other guys swat the little pill, the least they deserve is to know who they are looking at.

* * *

And, speaking of the noble game of golf, we ran across a statement which rather interested us on the score-card of the St. Andrews Golf Club, of Toronto. In Local Rule Number Three it is distinctly stated that "BRIDAL paths are not hazards"; and we have been wondering, ever since we saw it, whether a long list of much-married gents, from King Solomon down to Tommy Manville, would entirely agree.

U. S. Family Incomes

Almost half of the families in the United States have incomes of less than $2,000 a year, and two out of three take in less than $3,000, a recent survey showed.

The figures represent the combined income of all members of each family.

About one in 10 families had pooled incomes of $4,000 to $7,500, and only one in each 33 or 34 had joint income totalling more than $7,500.
