THE CHURCH OPERATES THROUGH INDIVIDUALS

(by The Rev. W. A. White, E.D.)

In our last talk we dealt with the Church and the community. Today we will go a step further and deal with the above subject. The value of the Church in the community can only be estimated in terms of what the Church has accomplished.

My dear friends, our western civilization is a composite structure and one element in it is the influence of Christianity. Some of our greatest blessings, many of the things that we take for granted, can be traced directly back to the Church of Jesus Christ. It is idle for us to speculate or even suggest that such things could have come to us by some other agency. We may not have any way of proving how they came to us. We only know that they are here and that we are indebted to Christianity for them. They bear the stamp and marks of the New Testament.

The Church of Jesus Christ, it must always be remembered, can only act through its individual members. From the birth of the Church of Christ down through the gges this has been so. What little learning that survived the Dark Ages was kept alive by the Church of Christ. The very first hospitals were part of the Church of that day. The same thing is true today in our Mission Fields abroad. Yes, many of our foreign missionaries are medical doctors or nurses and they are doing a fine piece of work. In the Dark Ages, when the callousness of society allowed the sick and infirm to manage as best they could, the Church of Christ came to their aid with protecting care. There was in time evoked from ordinary men and women a new concern for the sacredness of Humanity.

The social life of a community is truly a child of the Church. In the person of Wilberforce, the Church abolished the iniquitous slave traffic. The Church released the victims of mines and factories in Dear Old England in the person of Lord Shaftsbury. Yes, my friends, it can be fairly claimed that wherever you find constructive effort put forth for social and personal regeneration without a doubt there lies behind it the inspiration of the Christian Church and its Master.

The Church of the Spirit is not powerless. Its influence in this world of ours is far greater than its numbers might suggest. Prayer is the most powerful instrument that the Church has. Let every one of her members learn this truth and put it into action by using every opportunity they have for prayer. They will see mighty things done for the Lord Jesus Christ. How about it? Remember that the "Church Operates Through Individuals" in every community. I therefore beseach you to make the following resolve:

"By the grace of God, I affirm my loyalty to Jesus Christ as Lord, and to the Church which is His Body, the visible expression of His ideals.

"I resolve to prove my loyalty to Him by a life of faithful and consistent service among men, and by my faithfulness to the Church in all her enterprises.

"And I further resolve to seek others for Christ and the Church by definite prayer and effort, supported by my witness to Jesus Christ as Lord and Master."

THE MIXING BOWL

BY Anne Allan
HYDRO HOME ECONOMIST

Hello Homemakers! We have often heard people say, "I don't enjoy meals during Lent. They get so tiresome." Yet we know others who look forward to interesting meatless dishes.

We contend that fish dinners can be delicious and exciting. It's all in the way the fish is cooked — providing, of course, that the fish is good quality and fresh! Most of the people who do not like fish have formed that dislike because fish has been badly cooked or always served in the same old ways.

You might try, for instance, the dish a friend of mine calls Lenten special. It is a tasty combination of minced onion and fish fillets in a cream sauce, baked in layers in a casserole. Another special way to prepare fillets is to cook them in parchment paper. The parchment paper or butter wrapping lds in all the juices.

A homey but as fine a dish as you would ever want to eat is codfish cakes with tomato sauce. If they are served with cut beans and a grated carrot salad even the most finicky gourmet will enjoy them.

LENTEN SPECIAL

3 onions, 1 bsp. butter, 1 tbsp flour, salt and pepper, ⅓ cup canned soup, ⅓ cup milk, 6 fish fillets, lemon juice, ½ cup bread crumbs, grated cheese.

Brown butter and add flour. Add sliced onions then soup stock and flour. Cook fillets in water to which you've added 1 tsp. lemon juice, for 10 mins. Put some of cream mixture in greased casserole then lay on fillets, more sauce and remaining fillets. Top with bread crumbs and grated cheese. Heat through in electric over at 375 edgs. Yield: six servings.

FISH FILLETS
(Cooked in Parchment)

1 lb. boneless fillets, 2 tbsps. salt, 1 tbsp. grated carrot, ⅛ tsp. pepper, ½ tsp. finech-opped parsley, 1 cup cold water, 1 tbsp. cooking oil, 1 tbsp. grated onion, ½ tsp. lemon juice.

Soak fillets in the cold water and salt for 5 minutes. Drain. Place fillets on middle of large square of parchament paper that has been rubbed with cooking oil on both sides. Cover fish with combined cooking oil, grated carrot, onion and pepper. Sprinkle each piece with lemon juice and finely chopped parsley. Then fold fillets in two and gather the edges of paper together to form a bag. Tie up firmly with a string so that fish and flovarings are tikhtly enclosed. Drop bag into a pot of rapidly boiling water. After water comes again to the boil, continue boiling about 8 minutes. Turn fish out on hot platter, pour juices over. Yield: Two servings.

CODFISH CAKES

1 cup codfish, 1 tsp. butter, 2½ cups potatoes, cubed, 1 egg or 2 yolks, dash pepper.

Soak codfish over night in cold water if it is not already prepared for using. Pour off water in the morning and shred fish by placing pieces on cutting board and drawing a fork down through the meat. Cook potatoes in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain thoroughly and shake over heat to dry; add codfish and continue heating until mixture is light and fluffy. You may add more salt if needed.

Add egg or egg yolks, slightly beaten, shape into flat cakes, dip in flour and cook in frying pan in which three tablespoons fat have been melted, cook until brown on one side, turn carefully so as not to break, and cook and brown on the other side. Serve with tomato sauce. Yield: Six to eight cakes.

TAKE A TIP

1. A section silverware box is a convenient utensil to hold brush and comb, hairpins ad cosmetics. Everything is right at your finger tips for the morning rush.
2. Rubber gloves last longer if a small tuft of absorbent cotton is put in each finger end.
3. Waxed bread wrappers make good polishing cloths for closed electric elements and the iron or steel top stove.
4. Tack one end of your tape measure to an empty thread spool wind around and secure firmly with a rubber band. It will not tangle with other things in the sewing basket.

Coed: "Shakespeare is immortal."
Boy friend: "Oh, well, we all are once in a while."
