A large number from here attended the funeral in Markdale Thursday afternoon, April 3rd, of the late Chas. B. Boland, who passed away suddenly in Walkerton folloing a heart attack. The late Mr. Boland was practically a life-long resident of this community and took a keen interest in every worth-while community endeavor. He was highly respected and in every way a good citizen. His sudden passing was a shock to a wide circle of friends. The family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Winter still lingers in the lap of Spring, but the rain and thunder storm over the week end reduced the snow mountains considerably. Robins, Blakbirds, killdeer and other birds are here in abundance, and the warm days of Spring are just around the corner.

Mrs. Gordon Wyville and Joyce spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fawcett at Wodehouse.

McMillan - Fenwick

A wedding of interest to many people took place in Owen Sound on Saturday, April 5th, was that of Miss Elnora Fenwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Fenwick, formerly of the Eugenia community. Elnora was born on the 8th Line, Eugenia, and her many friends in that community wish her much happiness. Following is the report of the wedding:

First United Church, Owen Sound, lighted with tall white tapers in seven-branched white candlabra and with palms, ferns and Easter lilies as a background for the bridal party, was the scene on Saturday, April 5th, at 3 p.m., of the marriage of Blanche Elnora Fenwick, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Fenwick and John Archie McMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan of Shallow Lake. Rev. S. E. Annis heard the marriage vows. White bows marked the pews for thirty guests.

Mrs. Wm. Fenwick, sister-in-law of the bride, played the traditional wedding music and as the register was signed, she played "I'll Walk Beside You." She wore a long pink nylon gown, made on fitted lines with halo halo to match, silver slippers and corsage of pink roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her floor-length gown of white slipper satin made with sweetheart neckline, the bodice moulded on princess lines, long fitted sleeves pointed over the hands, the very full skirt falling in a train. Her fingertip veil of white net, with embroidered edge, was arranged on her dark hair with a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore white an silver slippers and carried an arm bouquet of red Better Times roses with rosebuds caught in the white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Edith Hall was matron of honor for her sister and wore pink crepe made on long lines with round neckline, cap sleeves and matching elbow length gloves. She wore a halo of pink and orchid velvet flowers and gold slippers and carried a nosegay of pink and mauve sweet peas, frilled and tied with mauve and pink ribbons and streamers. Miss Peggy Linton, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid. She chose a pink crepe dress on long fitted lines with puff sleeves and sweetheart neckline, a similar halo and silver slippers, and her flowers were in the same tones as those of the matron of honor. Little Sharron Johnton, niece of the groom, was flower girl, wearing a floor-length gown of pale blue crepe with puff sleeves and tiny embroidered flowers. Her halo was of pink and blue velvet flowers and she carried a nosegay of pink and white sweet peas, with matching ribbons.

Wilburn McMillan, brother of the groom, as bestman and the ushers were Clarence Biggar and Delbert Johnson, brothers-in-law of the bride and groom.

Receiving at the Canadian Legion Hall, the bride's mother wore a black sheer crepe with gray and rose hat, and the groom's mother was in navy crepe with light blue trim and black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink Happy Day roses. The bride's table was pretty with mauve candles in crystal holders and matching place-cards. The three-tiered pillared wedding cake, all white and topped with miniature bride and groom, was in a setting of yellow daffodils and white narcissus. Rev. S. E. Annis acted as toastmaster. The four waitresses, the Misses Mavis and Evelyn McMillan, Ethel and Louise Wolfe, worel ong gowns in pastel shades, with matching headdress.

Motoring to Niagara and Rochester, N.Y., the bride wore a blue dressmaker suit, white sheer blouse and matching blue half hat, blue top coat with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. She wore the groom's gift, a flower brooch set with blue and white brilliants with matching ear rings.

It's worth while to come in for an estimate. Our prices are reasonable and our workmanship is top grade. Bring in the car, we'll tell you all about our BUMPING and PAINTING SERVICE.
