Find Fawn Hidden Near Eugenia Lake Head Gates

A young red deer fawn was found Saturday morning by fishermen near the head gates of the Eugenia power development, and it was brought to the Munshaw House, where Mr. and Mrs. Welton and daughter, Florence did everything they could to keep it alive. but it refused to eat and gradually grew weaker, passing to the happy hunting ground on Monday afternoon. The mother had been chased by dogs all through the night and the apparently day-only fawn had become chilled and developed pneumonia. It was hoped that the deer would survive and be an added attraction for Old Home Week. Many of our town-people and others enjoyed seeing the pretty little creature that was not more than a foot high.

Card of Thanks

Mr. Leonard Latimer of Eugenia wishes to sincerely thank all his friends for the various kindnesses shown to him during his recent illness.

Parents Discuss Problems At A Special Gathering

A small but enthusiastic group of parents attended the Parents' Night in St. John's United Church Tuesday evening of last week, the meeting being conducted by Rev. A. G. Macpherson, who divided the gathering into three groups for discussion. Mr. P. S. MacDougall led one group on modern reading. They reported to the general forum later, that home reading should be more selective, in an attempt to cultivate appreciation of the best literature, also that the so-called "realism" of modern writing was a threat against the higher moral standards of young people, who are not mature enough to evaluate it. It was suggested that the wide appeal of sex writings came partly from the failure of parents to impart adequate sex knowledge.

The group on radio, led by Mr. John Cook, reported their belief that there were many fine programs on the radio for young people, but that many of the "soap operas" and crime broadcasts were detrimental to good character and good citizenship They recommended that parents help their children find the best programs.

The group on movies, led by Mrs. A. G. Macpherson, reported their belief that only 25% of the films were worth seeing. They recommended the use of good movie reviews provided by reputable magazines, in order that wise selection might be exercised. It was felt that St. John's should seriously consider the purchase and use of a 16 mm. movie projector.

The evening concluded with a humorous and exciting game of "Egg Pollo," followed by lunch and the singing of a hymn. This first experiment in a "Parents' Night" at St. John's came to a close with everyone convinced that it was worthwhile, and should be held at least once a year.

ST. JOHN'S W.A. WERE GUESTS OF W.M.S.

The ladies of St. John's W.A. were guests of the W.M.S. at their May meeting held Friday evening, when about 30 ladies were present. Mrs W. Lever, with Muriel Sparks accompanying, favored with a vocal solo, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Miss Kate Macmillan went to a great deal of trouble in preparing a very interesting, and sometimes amusing, account of "Our Church," when she related of the erection of the present building in 1875 and of all the work, time and energy expended to bring it to the standard enjoyed today. Mrs. McCauley voiced the appreciation of the W.A. for having been invited to the meeting. Mrs. F. Duncan pronounced the benediction and a social time with refreshments was enjoyed.

CLARK — BLACKBURN

With Rev. W. A. White officiating, the marriage of Ruth Mae Blackburn and Richard Harold Clark took place on Saturday, May 17th, at 3 p.m. at Cedarside Baptist Church Parsonage, Flesherton.

The bride chose a tailored navy suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Her niece, Lois Blackburn, was her attendant, wearing a grey suit with black and white accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. Bill Clark was his brother's groomsman.

After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served to the immediate families at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Kendall Stewart.

Amid showers of confetti and good wishes, the young couple left for a short motor trip. On their return they will reside at 73 Laws St., Toronto.

F. R. Oliver Leader Of Provincial Liberal Party At Election Held In Toronto

Crowning 22 years of public life, Farquhar R. Oliver, M.P.P. for South Grey, has been elected leader of the Liberal party of Ontario. He was the choice of 1,200 delegates, representing every riding in the province, at the convention of the Ontario Liberal Association held in Toronto last week.

Although only 43 years of age, the new Liberal leader has been a member of the Ontario Legislature for more than 22 years, and the Liberals look forward with confidence to a vigorous revival in Ontario under experienced, yet youthful, direction. In addition to being victorious in six successive provincial elections, Mr. Oliver, youngest man ever to sit in the Ontario House, has been a provincial cabinet minister and has been Leader of the Opposition since 1945.

Although equally familiar with urban and rural problems, Mr. Oliver is a practical farmer. He was born on the farm, South Line, Artemesia, where he now lives and works. His grandfather was a pioneer of the Priceville district. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Oliver, reside in Flesherton.

During the First World War, Mr. Oliver, while in his early teens, farmed his father's land. He now has 550 acres, of which his wife is the manager — "and a good one, too," Mr. Oliver declares. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver have both beef and dairy cattle, and their farm is their livelihood, not a hobby. Mrs. Oliver is the former Annie Mable Crutchey of Durham, whom he married in 1930.

Mr. Oliver has many interests in addition to his public career and his farm and home. His favorite sport is baseball, and he used to play for Flesherton and South Line teams, and he played softball even after he was first elected to the Legislature in 1926. He is fond of boxing and fishing. He is widely read and has a well-stocked library. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver attend Priceville United church. Liberalism goes way back in the Oliver family. Mr. Oliver's uncle, the late John Oliver, was Liberal Premier of British Columbia for nine years.

Mr. Oliver, elected first to represent Grey South in 1926, was successful in the successive elections of 1929, 1934, 1937, 1943 and 1945. In 1941, he was appointed Minister of Public Welfare and Public Works in the cabinet of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn. A year later, he broke with Mr. Hepburn over the latter's dispute with Prime Minister King, and resigned from the cabinet. The following May, 1941, Mr. Oliver returned to the government in the same portfolio under Premier Harry Nixon.

While Minister of Public Welfare Mr. Oliver was prominent in putting through legislation which made Ontario the first province to provide medical services for recipients of old age pensions, relief, blind and mothers' allowances. He introduced legislation which, without any general contribution, increased old age pensions from the rate at that time of $20 a month to $23. As Minister of Public Works, he negotiated the agreements with the Dominion government wherby provincial public buildings were turned over to Ottawa for war purposes, rent and tax free.

When the present Ontario Government took office in 1945, Mr. Oliver was appointed Liberal House leader and became Leader of the Official Opposition. His House followers, in caucus at the conclusion of the 1947 session, endorsed his candidature for party leader.

In a message to convention delegates, Mr. Oliver predicted that "we can build up the Liberal party in Ontario to a point where it can successfully engage the present Government party in an election campaign. To that desirable end, I pledge myself to work constantly and tirelessly . . . We believe that, through the Liberal Party, we can provide more lasting and beneficial legislation that will more adequately meet the needs and aspirations of the great mass of the electors."

On achieving the leadership of a great party in Ontario, his friends in Artemesia area and South Grey despite party affiliations, congratulate Farquhar on the honor he has attained for himself and for his native township.

Sudden Contact With Bear Scares Visiting Fisherman

One fisherman from Brantford went back home on Sunday with a bit more experience of wild life than he imagined he would have when he left his home for a week end of fishing at the Eugenia lake. Sunday afternoon he decided to try his luck fishing in the Miller Creek and as he was going up stream heard a noise further up, but thought it was another fisherman and did not pay any attention. Shortly he rounded a stump in the swamp and there, not ten feet away, was a large black bear, ripping an old rotten stump apart for whatever he could find. Both bear and man were startled by the close proximity of each other. The man did not wait to see whether the bear would retreat or not, but turned and fled away from Bruin as fast as he could travel. In his headlong flight and excitement he fell over roots and stumps and suffered a long cut on his arm and was otherwise scratched and generally used up. He didn't know whether the bear finished his meal at that spot or not, and cared less, if only he was successful in leaving the territory to the undisputed possession of the bear.

Mrs. Geo. Sled Injured When Hit By Car At Feversham

Knocked down by a car at the close of a dance at Feversham on Friday night, Mrs. Geo. Sled of Feversham is now in Orangeville hospital suffering from a broken bone in her right leg, a cracked hip bone and a number of bruises and cuts. Miss Bernice Hudson received bruises and cuts on her legs and Mrs. Burt Hudson also received cuts. Apparently, from the information received, a truck had backed onto the road and a car cut around to pass and struck the ladies as they were standing beside Lloyd Hudson's car preparatory to entering The ladies were struck with considerable force and pinned between the two cars. The accident is regretted by a wide circle of friends, as Mrs. Sled has a family of four children, the youngest only about eight months of age, and it is difficult to secure help to assist in the home.

Fishing Good At Week End

Trout fishing in this area was very good over the week end. Several over two pounds in weight were taken at the fi' on the eighth line. The high waters in the rivers have gone down and some nice catches have been reported from the streams. It is supposed that the cold weather of the past few weeks has had its effect on the fish and that they are just now commencing to move around.
