Before lunch the children took the opportunity to present their departing teacher, Mrs. F. J. Seeley, with a coffee table and large crystal tray, accompanied with a nicely worded address, which was most kind and gratifying to their teacher. The address was read by Robert Betts and Florence Wilkinson presented the gifts. To this, Mrs. Seeley briefly replied, saying that she would always prize the gifts and the address as some of her most precious possessions, and stated that she felt that the last four years were most pleasantly and profitably spent together, after spending nine years, in all, in the Rock Mills school. She felt that it was "home" to her and the children who passed through it in those years, well, "they belong to me." Mrs. Seeley remarked that she was always interested in their progress and welfare and watch to see how they got along in later years. Everyone then joined in singing "A jolly good fellow," after which a grand picnic social time and lunch enjoyed, ranging from delicious salads and sandwiches, home-made cakes, pies and cookies, and was topped-off by ice cream cones for all.

WHAT NEXT?

What's scarce now? Lumber, nails, plumbing or wiring equipment . . . the list is endless. No sooner is one problem solved than another comes along. The scarcity of materials has delayed the completion of many new Hydro projects. This, combined with a greatly increased demand, has limited the power supply.

Never has Ontario used so much electricity as now . . . not even during the record-breaking war years. Another half million horsepower could be utilized almost immediately, if available. Hydro plants to generate that much and more have been planned and are under construction. Some additional power will be delivered this year . . . more in 1948. But it will be 1950 before the big new Hydro plant on the Ottawa river can start to pour its 360,000 horsepower into the Hydro system.

Why so long? It's because of the shortage of building supplies . . . a tremendous quantity of construction materials and electrical equipment must be sought and bought to build such a plant. The Ottawa river development alone requires a concrete dam nearly half a mile long, in addition to the power house and the thousands of items of electrical equipment, small and large. Building a new power plant often creates an entirely new community. It takes a long time . . . especially when materials are as scarce as they are now.

Few places in the world have as much electricity available per person as Ontario has. However, it must be conserved so that new homes and industries will all receive their share . . . so that the wheels of our factories will be kept turning and maximum employment and production maintained . . . use Hydro wisely and there will be enough for all.
