Cat Watches Berry Patch For Marauders

The household cat at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bellamy in town has been doing an extra good job of policing the strawberry patch in their garden and keeping off all feathered marauders. She walks up and down the rows of berry plants and when a bird comes close she soon makes it travel fast. One day one robin, more venturesome than the others, dropped into the patch, but when the cat went into action the bird flew to perch on a nearby apple tree, which did not suit pussy any too well and she decided that Robin was still too close and she went up the tree after her. When the bird flew kitty immediately took off into space, but although she was a good kitty her wings had not developed enough to enable her to pursue the bird in the air and she came down rather suddenly. Now Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy are reaping the fruits of her watchfulness and enjoying the luscious strawberries.

"I hear that your son left college because of poor eyesight."

"Yeah, he mistook the dean of women for a co-ed."

Patriotic Service Held At St. John's On Sunday

Canada's national birthday was observed at St. John's United Church last Sunday, June 27th, when the church was filled and everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion. Members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion paraded, to stirring bagpipe music by Comrade Snowden McLeod, and occupied the front rows of the auditorium. Comrades Snowden McLeod and Russell Andrews assisted Rev. Comrade A. G. Macpherson in the conduct of the service.

Rev. Comrade Macpherson spoke on "The New Patriotism." He traced the development of the spirit of Loyalty in individual, social and national life, and asserted that both the Christian Faith and the times are calling mankind to take the next step into world-wide fraternity. "We must take it, or perish," he said. "We have paid long enough the price of extreme nationalism. The democracies and all Christians must lead the way under the banner, and in the power of the Christ. Russia's present refusal to co-operate must not be allowed to discourage or obstruct."

St. John's junior choir, under Mrs. J. E. Milne, led the service of song, and rendered an inspiring anthem "Dear Canada." A fine duet was sung by Roy Park and Douglas Peebles.
