A mouse can still shorten skirts quicker than fashion lengthened them.

Two armed women robbed a Pennsylvania fur store. We still think crying for fur coats is the best way to get them.

H. D. Brown Passes

Harold Duke Brown, a former teacher in Flesherton High School, died on Sunday, Feb. 6th, in Sunnybrook Military Hospital, Toronto. Many of our older residents will remember him, as he was a fine hockey and baseball player around 1912 and was highly regarded. Lately he was entrusted with the distributin of 1,000,000 tons of UNRRA supplies in China, in which language he was very fluent.

Chesley Editor Ribs The Post Office Department

Editor Clayton Schaus of The Chesley Enterprisz, had this item in his last issue:

"Many people are getting quite a kick out of a slogan stamped on Baby Bonus envelopes which came out during the past week. The post office department often uses these slogans in cancelling the stamps. Presumably it had the bright idea of backing community and national recreation programs with its slogan this month, but the boys who are looking for bright sayings got quite a laugh when they saw the slogan, "Recreation Pays Dividends" on the Baby Bonus envelopes. Some of them thought the slogan should be posted on the bedroom wall as a reminder."

We have no comment to make other than a check-up might show that both the editors of the Chronical and the Enterprise are badly in need of recreation. — Durham Chronical

CANADA IS BUYING TOMATOES FROM BAHAMS

Canada is buying most of the Bahamas' large crop of tomatoes this year. Prices ranging from $1 to $1.40 per 30 pounds, f.o.b. Nassau, are below last year's average, and are not considered profitable to the growers. Up to the end of December, 3,120,000 pounds had been shipped, and the total crop is estimated in the neighborhood of 4,500,000 lbs.

With Canada unable to buy Gahamas pineapples because of import restrictions, a large crop matured in the past year without an available market. To save the crop, arrangements were finally made to can a large quantity for shipment to Britain as a gift of the Bahamas Red Cross and the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire.
