THE CANADIAN ARMY — "INSURANCE FOR PEACE"

NERVE CENTRE of the Army

Communications are vital to every phase of Army operations. A single message could be the deciding factor of victory or defeat.

The men responsible for this key operation are trained in the use of the most advanced equipment and methods — wireless, telegraphy, electronics, telephone. The opportunities to learn and advance in the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals are boundless. The Corps offers a wide selection of specialist trades: wireless and teletype operation and maintenance; line and cable laying; switchboard installation and operation. All training is carried out with the most advanced equipment and methods.

The new Canadian Army can offer young men truly outstanding career opportunities. For complete details visit your nearest recruiting office. You are eligible if you are 17 or over and can meet Army requirements. Bring with you certificates of age and education.

ROCK MILLS

A jolly time was spent at the home of Mannie Dobson on Saturday March 18th, when twenty of the neighbors went and herenaded Mannie on his birthday. Three tables of euchre and two of Lost Heir were played, after which the ladies served a dainty lunch, including a lovely birthday cake with its 47 lighted handles. Mannie then blew out the candles and all joined in singing "Happy birthday to you." He was then called forward to open his birthday gifts, which were many and useful. Among them was a lovely steel hunting knife in a leather case. Mannie made a neat reply, thauking all for their gifts and best wishes. Mrs. Frank Betts read the verses on the birthday cards. A few games were then played and all departed to their homes feeling they had spent a very enjoyabel time together.

Miss Helen Betts of Owen Sound spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Betts.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Partridge motored to Galt on Friday to spend the day with their daughters.

A number from here attended the hockey game in Dundalk on Friday night, when Dunadlk again won. They report a good game.

Mr. Jack Porteous has been very ill with mumps, but we are pleased to report him improving nicely.
