A Handsome Store.

Mr. R. L. Stephen, druggist, Division Court Clerk, and Central telephone agent, has moved into his handsome and spacious new premises. It will take some time to get everything into ship-shape but Dick is a hustler and is getting there with both feet. He has now one of the finest stores outside the cities. The building is 73 feet long and a large department is fitted up at the rear for Division Court Clerk's office, with vault convenient. The telephone (central) is located at centre of building, where the public can communicate with the outside world without being unnecessarily exposed. All Mr. Stephen now lacks, in order to thoroughly set off the interior of his magnificent premises, is electric light. He would have it too if available but will be compelled to use the old stand-by in the mean time. The building and store is an ornament to the place. McCullough & Young, bankers, will occupy their part of the block in about three weeks.

After Effects of La Grippe.

PARRY SOUND, Oct. 16.—In the year 1891, Miss Ida I. Hicock of this place, suffered from a severe attack of "La Grippe." Her life was saved, but as is too often the case the victim of this dread disease did not escape scot free. Ever since her illness Miss Hicock has suffered from nervous prostration and insomnia. Nothing in the way of medicine did her any good until she recently began to use Dodd's kidney pills. She has just finished the second box of the pills and the result has been a delightful surprise to herself and friends. She is rapidly recovering and no longer suffers from insomnia, but enjoys refreshing sleep. Here is another case in which an unsuspected kidney affection entailed much suffering and many months of misery.

Many other people are doubtless unconscious sufferers from kidney trouble. Fortunately this remedy is within easy reach of them, if they will avail themselves of it.

Meaford Road.

Your correspondent appears to have been too busy lately to furnish the usual budget of news, so I will take the liberty of sending you a little.

Our young people in connection with the League of C. E. gave a social evening on Wednesday last. The program consisted of readings, speeches, essays and a debate. The latter was the event of the evening; the subject was, "Are the mental capacities of the sexes equal?" Two ladies took the affirmative and two gentlemen took the ground that they are not equal but that man is intellectually greater than woman. The subject was well handled on both sides and was made both amusing and interesting. The general verdict is—so far as I can learn—"The ladies won the day." One gentleman gave a history of books and book-making from the time the savage etched pictures of animals or implements of war upon leaves plucked from a tree, down to the books that Caxton made in 1474. The pastor followed this up by giving a description of the modern process of paper-making. He provoked a good deal of laughter by some apt personalities and humerous anecdotes. The choir gave some choice selections, and was ably assisted by a young cat which succeeded in gaining admittance. It introduced the fifth part called cat-a-tone. A gentleman seldom seen at church—hearing doubtless that something good was expected and being fond of music—determined to be on hand and to this end mounted the axle of the democrat and maintained his position, in spite of difficulties, until church was reached, when the sudden stop caused him to lose his equilibrium, and he gave vent to his displeasure, and apprised the family of his presence by giving a load s-c-r-r-a-w. Judge of the surprise and merriment of the boys on looking for the unearthly sound to find, perched on the hind axle, a large Rooster! Leagues I hope you'll soon have another—not a rooster, but a social evening.
