THE frost of Saturday and Sunday nights has done an immense amount of damage to the early fruit crop and garden vegetables throughout Ontario and in several States. The sudden drop in the temperature from 90 in the shade to several degrees of freezing was a severe shock to the animal as well as the vegetable kingdom.

FRIDAY of next week will be the 24th. The Methodists of Rocklyn have posters out for a lawn social on that day on the agricultural grounds there. FORTY-SEVEN YEARS IN GLENELG.—Mr. James McGirr, Sr., of Glenelg, died on the 2nd inst., at the advanced age of 85 years. Deceased was one of the pioneers of Glenelg and one of its most hospitable citizens. He was eight years a member of the township council, four of which he filled the Reeve's chair. He was also assessor for a number of years about 30 years ago. It is forty-seven years since he first settled in Glenelg.

AT a prayer meeting in a small town near Syracuse recently, an illiterate but good man made the following prayer:—"O Lord, Thou knowest that we are thankful to Thee that our souls are free from the fire that quencheth not. If a man lose his horse, Thou knowest he can buy another; if he lose his house, Thou knowest he can build another; if he lose his wife Thou knowest he can find another; but if he lose his soul—good bye, John."

A CONTEMPORARY sensibly remarks that the girl who gives way to a desire to gad about the streets, to cultivate the acquaintance of young men, and sets simperingly, is laying the foundation for a useless after life; and when married she will develop into a slatternly gossip, if no greater misfortune befalls her. It is the girl who loves home and helps her mother that wins the model man and becomes an ornament to womanhood. The girl who does this and devotes some of her time to reading and strives for the graces of mental culture commands the esteem and respect of everybody. On the principle that birds of a feather flock together, the girl that gads about the streets is very likely to pick up the young man that gads about the streets, and it doesn't need any great gift of prophecy to foretell the life of such a couple.

"LIVES there a man with soul so dead," who to nice a one had said? Artley's pumps are the best that are made. Not if he had ever used one. People who have used them say, his pumps are good and all things show it. I thought so once, but now I know it.

THE legality of keeping a child in school after regular hours for not learning his lessons was tested in an English law court recently when the mother of the little boy had the head master of the school he attended before the court. The judge, in giving his decision, said that the master had no authority to impose on children the duty of studying at home and that he therefore, had no right to detain him, and he also said that in his opinion this detention amounted to an assault. As the plaintiff in the case did not wish to press it, the matter was discharged on paying costs. Canadian teachers can take the lesson home.

Death of C. Bertrand.

On Saturday last Mr. W. G. Pickell received a telegram from Montreal informing him of the critical illness of Mr. Claude Bertrand, his son-in-law, at his home there. Mrs. Pickell left by first train arriving at his bedside on Sunday morning to find him rapidly sinking and he passed away at 4:30 the same day. He had caught cold about a week prior to his death which developed into pneumonia, and baffled the best medical skill, resulting as above. Deceased had been happily married for three years, and only twelve months since buried his only child, a sweet baby girl of one year. His remains were brought to Markdale, arriving here at noon on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Pickell, Miss Frank Pickell and his wife, and were conveyed the following day to Flesherton cemetery and there interred in the family plot by the side of his child. Mr. Bertrand was but 30 years of age and yet had proven himself a man of superior executive abilities as well as undoubted integrity in all matters of business. But it was in the domestic circle that his finer qualities were best seen and most appreciated, which makes the loss more keenly felt. This is indeed a severe affliction, especially to his bereaved wife, also his only brother, Mr. Joseph Bertrand, of New York, who unfortunately failed to receive despatches in time to reach Montreal prior to his death, but arrived here on Tuesday night to attend the last sad rites. They have the deep sympathy of this community in their heavy affliction and very sad bereavement.

Public Library.

The seventh annual meeting of Markdale Mechanics' Institute was called for Monday evening the 6th, but owing to other attractions the attendance was meagre and it was adjourned until Wednesday night when there was a fair turn out. After the minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed the president, Dr. Ego, delivered a comprehensive and interesting annual report. The treasurer's and auditors' reports were then read and adopted. The librarians' report showed that 1885 books had been taken out of the library during the last year, being the highest of any year in the life of the Institute except one. There are now 1159 volumes in the library.

Under the new law a board of management is to be elected at the annual meeting, which board is to elect officers, and in future all Mechanics' Institutes are to be known as Public Libraries. The following five gentlemen and four ladies were then elected as a board of management for the ensuing year: Rev. J. Hunter, Dr. Ego, W. A. Brown, J. C. Henry, C. W. Rutledge, Mrs. Bigger, Mrs. McCullough, Miss Leslie and Miss Ettie Ford.

The Institute winds up the year in a very prosperous condition, with over one hundred members enrolled and in excellent working order.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

On Saturday evening the Board met and the following officers were elected: President, W. A. Brown; Vice-president, J. C. Henry; Treasurer, C. W. Rutledge; Secretary, W. Turner; Librarian, A. Macpherson. It was decided to hold regular monthly meetings to commence at half past eight on the first Tuesday in the month. It was also decided to sell by auction back numbers of the following Magazines, for two years to date, viz: Harpers Monthly, Century Magazine, Review of Reviews, Cosmopolitan, and Canadian Magazine. These are now on exhibition at Mr. Turner's drug store where they may be examined up to Saturday, May 25, when they will be offered for sale in the council chamber. This will be a rare opportunity to replenish your library with the best Magazines published on the continent at a small price.
