Some people consider one dollar a rather steep investment for an adv. for three weeks for farm for sale. The little dollar adv. in THE STANDARD has been the means of securing a buyer for many a farm, from one thousand to six thousand in value. Surely the adv. investment is exceedingly moderate.

I have another 1000 bushel car of corn bought which will arrive in a few days. Since buying this car, corn has gone up four cents per bushel, but I will give the farmer the advantage of the price I bought at; so corn will be the same price as long as this car lasts. Secure your supply now. John W. Ford.

East Grey's Member.

For our popular M. L. A., Mr. I. B. Lucas, the Toronto Star has the following in Tuesday's issue:

The Star does not fail to notice that young Mr. Lucas of Centre Grey is a favorite chairman when the House is in committee. The frequency with which he is called to the post of honor is taken to mean that he will be the next Speaker. Youth will be served. This world belongs to the young men, as the next world belongs to the old. Although Mr. Lucas is known as the Boy Orator, he is no callow stripling. He has the usual number of wisdom teeth, and time, while careful of him, has begun to trace a few crowsfeet round his eyes. In 1909 he will be three years older, and of full senatorial age, a fitting successor to St. John, the Magnificent, though lacking his pride of port. The Star hopes that Lucas will never feel a day older than he looks. May the hair of his head never grow less. May it never become an early grey through shaking the furnace. May his cherub face be always round and rosy, and may the liquid dew of youth lighten his eye to extreme old age. Lucas comes from Markdale, the home of Dr. Sproule. This alone picks him out for a great destiny. Grey County is a mother of lions.

Markdale Curlers Won.

Two rinks of Dundalk curlers came to town on Monday and in a close and interesting match were defeated by the locals by five shots.

From Grey, Ont., to Grey, Sask.

Early in January last G. W. Armstrong, accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong, arrived from the West. Mr. Armstrong's purpose was to organize a second party of settlers for the Armstrong colony in Saskatchewan, and after two months work he succeeded in getting together a number of the best settlers that has ever left Ontario to test the mints of the prairie farm. Most of G. W.'s party are Grey County farmers, a fact which at once spells Success, and the Post Office Department, having granted the request of the settlers already on the ground, the new post office being opened in the Armstrong colony will be known as Grey P.O., Sask. Our friends from this county will at once feel at home in their new location.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left for the West on Monday, March 19th, to have everything in readiness for the party when they arrived.

The first contingent left Flesherton Saturday, March 24th. The second, consisting of some twenty cars, left from various points on Tuesday of this week, to be followed during the next two weeks by some twenty cars more, making in all upwards of 45 cars and the capital represented is close to $200,000, which speaks well for the future of that settlement. Just watch how it will grow.

This neighborhood unites with the Lauriston people in wishing every joy to Mr. George Campbell and his bonnie bride, sweet Vi Reynolds. She was one of our "pets" in bygone teaching days.

Mr. Geo. Blair and her niece, Miss Hannah Smith, attended the funeral of Miss Mary Smith on Thursday of last week in Melancthon. She contracted malaria fever, while attending to her brother George and his wife, who were down with the disease. Pneumonia set in and she succumbed in a few days.

Little Blanche Martin is now on a fair way to recovery, though pretty far through last week.

Early on Sunday morning was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Peart a son, but still born. 'Tis their first in their six years of wedded life, hence many regrets are heard.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jack, of Brantford, attended the funeral of Mrs. Will Jack on Tuesday, returning to their home on Wednesday.

The gifted and the beautiful Mrs. Will Jack, formerly Miss Mary Glencross, is dead. She fell asleep like a tired child on Saturday as the bright, March sun dropped eventward. By every fireside and where people chanced to meet, are heard heartfelt expressions of sorrow. Mary was but twenty-five years of age, being the third child of the late William and Maggie Glencross, who passed away about a score of years ago with the same dread disease, consumption. Mary was reared in this neighborhood, but spent a few seasons in Toronto and while there cultivated her voice, becoming noted for her powers of song. 'Twas natural that manly and gallant Will Jack should woo and win her and on the 19th of October, 1904, they were wed so happily. But a year ago she began to feel unwell, the summer days brought further weakness, the autumn saw a rapid decline, but the imperious spirit kept her up until about a month ago she took to bed for good. Miss Sarah Jack has proved a heroine of a nurse, being unremitting in her care and in devising dainties for the failing appetite. She has had able helpers in Mrs. Neil McKechnie, of Durham, and Mrs. Tom Jack. Medical aid was of no avail. The end was most peaceful. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to Zion cemetery and was attended by friends and neighbors from far and near. Rev. T. Colling, her pastor, conducted an impressive service and most suitably spoke of her rare gifts. The singing by the choir was specially sweet. A most magnificent floral tribute of Roman hyacinths, lilies-of-the-valley, mingled with a profusion of rare white roses, was presented by her brother, Tom, and her sister, Mrs. W. J. Greenwood. Zion League had a handsome wreath there to her memory. Many a time had she thrilled a Zion audience with her power of song. The League also had the grave lined with white and garlanded and softly she was laid to rest. How hearts go out in sympathy to the young husband so sorely bereaved; but even in his deep grief he desires to express his thankfulness to friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness.

MARKDALE MAKES A "GARRISON" FINISH.

The Hockey Boys rose to the occasion on Monday night and put it over the Owen Sound pets to the tune of 3 to 2. A crowd of 250 enthusiasts depending no doubt upon the statement printed on bills distributed in Owen Sound advertising the excursion that "the boys were going down to win," accompanying the team and saw the visitors go down to defeat, and incidentally swelled Manager Bartley's gate money.

As to the game not much need be said. The ice was in bad condition being covered with water due to the thaw and the rain. Every player was thoroughly soaked before the game had gone far; consequently the game was a cross between hockey and water-polo, with odds favorable to the latter. As it was both teams were playing upon the same ice and the better team won. Undoubtedly had the ice been fast the locals would have beaten the visitors badly, as they seemed superior in every way. That would have been too bad, for as it was it was quite all the rooters could stand to bear the score.

For the visitors Rhynas in goal and Brown at point did great work and kept the score down. It is too bad, however, that the point man doesn't play clean hockey. He seems to know the game well but is continually doing dirty work, slashing and tripping.

For Markdale every man was a hero, and it is unnecessary to specialize at length. However, Mercer at point was in the game from start to finish and certainly played a wonderful game. Hill at cover is a great puck chaser and was always on the spot. He scored the winning goal. Burnside makes an ideal rover, always on the job—and willing to give what he gets—in fact seems to enjoy hard checking, provided always that the other fellow is the bigger. Fitchett at centre played well but was taken with a chill in the second half and had to quit. Yule went off to even up. Littlejohns is a great shot, a cool player, and an excellent skater. He scored the first goal for Markdale. Allie was rescued from drowning twice during the evening. Pat Kelly aroused great enthusiasm by tieing the score with but a few minutes to play. It was easy to score the final goal after that. Pat's name will go down to posterity as the player who came to the relief and pulled the game out of the fire—or rather, out of the water. Bansley in goal played well and filled Trelford's place to Manager Booth's taste.

Bert Brown of Toronto was referee and gave satisfaction to all. He held the players well in hand and was strict and impartial in his rulings.

The teams were as follows:

NOTES.

Come on in, the water's fine!

It was a great crowd! a great game and a great victory.

A number of the visitors—a great many more youngsters—were highly charged with fire-water. No wonder Owen Sound wants local option.

It was a sight to see some of our quiet, well-behaved citizens giving an exhibition of the war dance. They were all boys again Monday night.

Manager Booth's and President Rowe's joy was unbounded, but they were not like many of the visitors—too full for utterance.

A few visitors were disposed to look for trouble. It is needless to say they found it. On the whole, however, the crowd was good-natured and orderly.

This game was the deciding point of the Owen Sound Sun cup series and the championship of Grey County, and the cup will be held by Meaford thif year. Under the conditions which governed the series, the club winning the cup two consecutive times becomes its owner. It will, therefore, be again open for competition next season.

The altar drapery in the Roman Catholic church at St. Catharines was set on fire Sunday by a fallen candle. The men in the congregation prevented a panic by holding the women and children, while others rushed up and assisted the priests to smother the with overcoats and carpets.
