CVC is on flood watch this week

CVC will continue to closely monitor weather and water levels in the watershed due to the expected rainfall and warmer temperatures this week.

In a Flood Outlook Statement, in effect until Friday, March 21, the CVC reported the mix of warmer temperatures, rain, and melting snowpack is expected to increase water levels in watercourses. This may lead to flooding and/or drainage issues in low lying areas. The resultant flows may mobilize ice sheets resulting in ice floes or jams. The return to below freezing temperatures will create icy conditions near river banks. As a result, local streams and rivers will become dangerous, especially in the vicinity of culverts, bridges and dams. Children should be warned to stay away from all watercourses.

Precipitation is expected to total 10-15 mm, and the melting of the snowpack may generate an additional 10-15 mm of equivalent water.

For more information on this Flood Outlook Statement or to report a flood, please contact CVC during office hours at 905-670-1615. For afterhours, call 1-800-215-8505 to report a flood.
