—Last Sunday a couple of boys were out in a canoe on Nicklin's pond. Everything went on smoothly until the canoe upset, when there was a general scramble for the shore, which they reached in a short time. Instead of going home to dry their clothes, they stripped, hung them around on the ground, and went in swimming until they were dry, when they went on their way rejoicing.

—The Georgetown Herald says that the people of that village should be thankful to Mr. James Barber, jr., for his being instrumental in having an early train leave that station for Toronto every morning. Until very recently the early train started from Brampton, but for the special convenience of people in that neighborhood it now starts from there, leaving at 6:50 a.m., and returning, arrives there at 9:47 p.m. This will be a great convenience to parties wishing to visit the city and have a whole day there.

He was immediately taken to McGarvin's drug store, but not before he had lost a considerable amount of blood. Dr. Morrow dressed the wound, and Fred. is progressing very favorably. —On Monday evening, July 1st, a Strawberry Festival will be held under the auspices of Acton Division, Sons of Temperance, in the Temperance Hall. This being the first festival of the kind this season, no doubt the public will turn out an fill the Hall to overflowing. The Acton Brass Band has been secured, and will furnish an abundance of music. Those wishing to enjoy themselves should not miss this festival, as a splendid time is expected. Select pieces of vocal and instrumental music by good performers, will form a brilliant feature of the evening's amusement. Mr. Jas. Kennedy, of Brantford, the artistic representative of old Southern darkies, is expected to be present and sing some of his celebrated songs in character.

—A man, considerably "slewed," drove into the Village on Tuesday evening. He took his rig into one of the back streets, unhitched his horse, tied it to the fence and left it there. He then went to one of the hotels, slew some whiskey, and, after an absence of an hour, managed to return to his horse and buggy. He tried to hitch up his horse, putting its head towards the dashboard. At last he got it hitched, to his own satisfaction, and told the animal to "g'long." The horse first went forwards, then backwards, then sideways, and at last got so confused and entangled that it fell down. The man went to sleep, being completely overpowered by bad pop, or something else. In this queer mess a kind Samaritan found the rig, and set things right. The horse, no doubt glad to face as he had always been used to, started off, and went home, the man sleeping all the while. The man called yesterday, and "confidentially" told the story, and requested us not to publish it, as he had not got hurt, nor anything damaged. Of course, we will not publish it, but will merely tell it to our subscribers, but hope they will not tell anyone else.

J. E. McGarvin, druggist, Acton
