

A symbol of hope

Police seek information after girl, 12, hit by car

Halton Regional Police are asking anyone who witnessed a 12-year-old girl struck by a vehicle while walking to school last Wednesday morning to call them.

The incident happened on Delrex Boulevard just east of Mountainview Road at around 8 a.m. as the girl was on her way to classes at Centennial Public School when she was hit by a white four-door Kia being driven by a 58-year-old Georgetown man.

She was first taken to Georgetown Hospital and later transferred to the trauma unit at Toronto General Hospital with what's being called serious but non-life-threatening injuries.

"By all accounts, the girl was attempting to cross the road and walked out into traffic without looking both ways," said Sgt. Paul Davies of the HRPS Collision Reconstruction Unit.

"Luckily, the vehicle wasn't going at a high rate of speed, from what we gather, about 40 kilometres an hour. We're appealing to any witnesses to come forward with any information that might help us in the investigation. At this time there doesn't appear to be any charges pending to the driver."

The CRU investigated the scene and collected statements and information from residents in the area.

Witnesses are asked to call the CRU at 905-878-5511 ext. 5065.
