A baby's in the house
And everybody's happy:
But no one's quite so proud
As is that new baby's pappy.

—The new class rooms at Knox Church are now about completed. The ladies have just finished putting down the carpet and the appearance is now very cosy and comfortable. The Sunday School will greatly profit by this added accommodation.

—The sermons in the series on the Lord's Prayer, now in progress by Rev. Mr. Edge, are most interesting and instructive. Next Sunday morning the subject will "Give us this day our daily bread." The subject for the evening service will be "The first Home."

—Three boys entered Mrs. Stone's garden Monday evening about eight o'clock and were about to help themselves to the plums on her trees when the owner surprised them. The boys should know better and may thank the leniency of the widow that Constable Lawson did not take them in charge.

THE NEWS AT HOME.

Mostly of a Local Character, and Every Item Interesting.

Harvest Thanksgiving.

The annual harvest festival and thanksgiving service will be held in St. Alban's church, to morrow evening. The ladies of the congregation have been busily engaged this week in decorating the church with fruits, flowers and grain and when completed the effect will be very attractive. Rev. Canon Mockridge D.D., of Toronto, will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

Volunteer Camp this year.

Many of the volunteers were anxious that the date, Sept. 1st, at first fixed upon for the commencement of the camp at Niagara should be changed to about Sept. 15th. They thought that the latter date would be fairly convenient, with a good prospect of pleasant weather; but they are not particularly pleased with the date now announced, October 6th, on account of the weather so late in the season.—Champion.

A Commercial Authority's Advice.

The Journal of Commerce gives good advice when it advises everyone to take advantage of the good crops to pay up. Get out of debt should be the motto for the year. Both business men and farmers should straighten up rather than spread out. In prosperity it is well to prepare for adversity. Good crops do not come every year; they are rather the exception than the rule. They should be utilized to make a general clearance of old debts.

The Social at Church Hill.

Those who attended the Social in the Congregational Church, Church Hill, last Thursday evening had an enjoyable time. The chair was occupied by Mr. Bryce, who has charge of the congregation at present. Rev. J. W. Rae gave an interesting address. Excellent music was furnished by a number of the members of the Methodist Choir, Acton, and Miss Lilla Moore, Chesley. Miss Nettie Swackhammer, gave a humorous recitation, and Master Bryce, also rendered a selection very creditably. There would have been a larger attendance from Acton had conveyances been provided.

District Council R. T. of T.

The semi-annual meeting of Halton District Council Royal Templars of Temperance was held in Milton last Friday, and the various sessions of the day were replete with interest. Delegates were present from every Council in the County. Considerable business was transacted, but the most important was that arranging with the various other temperance organizations of Halton for united effort for the advancement of the cause. This is a move in the right direction and will undoubtedly prove advantageous. The annual meeting of the District Council will be held in Acton in February. An enjoyable public entertainment was given in the town hall in the evening.

Song Service.

The Baptist Church was well filled last Friday evening on the occasion of the song service announced last week. In the absence of Rev. Mr. Norton, the pastor, Mr. H. P. Moore was requested to take charge. Miss Green, of the Institution for the Blind, at Brantford, rendered a number of sacred songs in a very creditable manner. The singer is almost totally blind. Her voice is remarkably sweet, and and although not possessing as great compass as that of the majority of professional singers, it is well suited to such music as that rendered on this occasion. Miss Green intends devoting her life to missionary work and in this her sweet voice will be of value. At the close of the service a hearty vote of thanks was tendered.

Halton and the Census.

The FREE PRESS has secured details of the recent Dominion census for this county which make the population of the rural districts 14,668, a loss of 852, and of the incorporated town and villages 7,318, an increase of 919. The residents of Acton will no doubt be pleased to learn that while every town and village in the county has gained in population the past ten years, their own town has advanced with much greater strides than any other municipality in the county. The ratio of increases are as follows:—Acton 361, equal to a net gain of 43½ per cent.; Burlington, 257, or nearly 25 per cent.; Milton, 148, or 11¾ per cent; Oakville, 115, or 6¾ per cent; Georgetown, 36, or about 2½ per cent. This is certainly encouraging and will give our citizens a new interest in Acton. The population given by the new census is Acton, 1209; Burlington, 1325; Milton, 1450; Georgetown, 1509; Oakville, 1825.

The School Bells Ring.

Promptly at nine o'clock on Monday morning the Public Schools opened, the teachers at their desks and the scores of bright-faced, healthy children in their places. All had enjoyed the long summer vacation and nearly every one was glad to return to school duties. It is only in recent times that schools had what could be called a long vacation. There are persons still alive who remember when two weeks was the usual length of the summer rest, even in our large cities. The present liberal vacation of from eight to ten weeks has been won against much opposition, and there are those who still object to it. Upon the whole, we think the long vacation is justified by the necessities of both teacher and pupil. If there are some children who are injured by "running wild" for several weeks there are more who are saved by it from a stunted growth and life-long ill health. The tendency of most of our schools is to attempt too much and detain the children at their books too long. Vacation does much to undo the mischief caused by the ambition of teachers and the exactions of educational authorities.

C. W. Hill's Success.

Acton not only possesses one of the finest photo. artists in the province to-day, but has turned out a number of artists who are prospering as they deserve and daily building up a national reputation. Of the half dozen who have gone from Acton and settled in Michigan, C. W. Hill is one of the most prosperous. Respecting a new studio he has just opened at Monroe, Mich. the Democrat says:—Mr. Hill is now fully settled in his new location and has one of the prettiest business places in this city. He uses the first and third floors. The third floor is used as a store room and printing room. It is conveniently arranged and is connected with the lower part by an elevator. The first floor is roomy, pleasant and tastefully arranged. The front is used as a show room. The windows which are handsomely decorated with pictures attract an unusual amount of attention. Just in the rear of this apartment and connected by a large arch door, prettily draped with curtains, is the reception room which is as pleasant and conveniently arranged as any parlor in the city. In the rear of this are the operating and work rooms. The change of the studio from the old quarters is a good improvement and gives the deserved appearance of prosperity. As an artist Mr. Hill equals if not excells all of his predecessors in the city, and we doubt if he has a superior in the state.

PLUNGED INTO THE CANAL.

Fatal Railway Accident at Burlington Beach.

BURLINGTON, Aug. 31.—Shortly before midnight last night a serious railway accident occurred at the canal at the beach, involving the loss of two lives and much damage to property.

On Sunday afternoon a train of 23 coal cars left Port Erie for Toronto, drawn by engine 258. Conductor Campbell was in charge, and Engineer William Hall was on the engine with Fireman W. J. Crouch. The train took the short cut across the Beach from Stoney Creek, instead of coming around the end of the bay. The night was stormy and a gale was blowing from the east. Engineer Hall had been along there before, but he seems to have got mixed with the lights and the noise and darkness. There is a heavy grade northward towards the bridge, and he ran up at a high rate of speed.

There is a very stringent rule that every train must come to a stop before reaching the bridge, but Hall says he did not think he was so near the canal until it was too late to do anything. Then he shouted to his fireman and jumped.

AN AWFUL PLUNGE.

Engineer Armstrong, who operates the bridge, heard the train approaching and was just preparing to close the bridge when, to his horror, he heard the train come thundering on towards the open chasm. "It was all over in an instant," said Armstrong. With a tremendous plunge the great engine shot over the brink and disappeared beneath the black water. Nine cars went tumbling after it crash after crash, the lights were extinguished, and a terrible silence followed. For a few moments the few men who rushed to the scene were paralysed by the occurrence, not knowing in the storm and darkness what to do. The cries of a drowning man were heard as if being swept along by the current towards the bay.

TWO TRAINMEN DROWNED.

When the train crew got together it was found that the fireman and a brakeman named Robert Shaw were missing. The fireman probably jumped into the canal, for it was his cries that were heard, and this morning his body was found about 50 feet from the ferry, where he had sunk. The brakeman was on the cars, and it is thought his body is under the wreckage. Both men come from Point Edward, as do the rest of the crew. Shaw is a married man and his friends live near Dorchester. Crouch was single.

On the news of the disaster being telephoned to Hamilton a wrecking train with a gang of men was sent. A coal car hung suspended over the brink of the canal, and in the water beneath a few mounds of coal and wreckage were visible above the surface. The engine went down completely out of sight, and then the cars popped over the top of it, one after the other, until the wreck was piled as high as the surface of the water which is 20 feet deep at that point. The train must have been running at a high rate of speed, for its momentum carried it nearly across the canal. Luckily however, there remains an open space between the wreck and the north pier wide enough for the steamers to pass if they feel their way carefully.

CLEARING THE WRECK.

By 2 a.m. a large gang of workmen with flaring torches were hard at work clearing the approach to the bridge.

After pulling the overhanging car on the track, it was found that the rails were all right and the bridge was swung into position, making the road open for traffic again by 5 o'clock. The most of the wreckage is still in the canal and will be a big task clearing it out. The coal will have to be dredged up and lightered, and the heavy engine lifted on to a flat boat with a derrick. The cars that went down are smashed to pieces and some of the car boxes floated away.

There will be an inquest on the bodies of the killed, in order to find who is responsible. The bridge tenderer is exonerated from any blame in the matter, as every train is ordered to stop before reaching the bridge and wait until signalled to come on.

MILTON.

Mr. N. M. Ruddy, of Omaha, Neb., is spending a few days under the parental roof.

Miss Eva Dobie, of Montreal is visiting her sister Mrs. J. Butterfield, of the Bank Hamilton.

Halton fair on Oct. 8th and 9th. Fine weather on the 8th. Rain on the 9th. Depend on it.

We have been invited to attend the meeting of the Georgetown correspondent of the Acton Free Press and the Editor of the Reformer in the capacity of referee, but have modestly declined. We will not encourage pugilism.

What's in a name? More than you'd think for. If little Willie Stribell's name had been something else the fact of him being sent up for trial for stealing a little scrap iron from the C. P. R. Co. would never have originated. We believe in justice, but let rich and poor share alike.

Mr. Geo. Hume is remodelling his residence on Queen street. This town isn't modern enough for this important personage. He must necessarily import material, labor, &c., from Brampton.

Mr. James DeForest is prosecuting Mr. Willis, a neighbour, for rendering tallow—not any too fresh—which he claims to be a nuisance. In return Mr. Willis has Mr. DeForest up for keeping a pig too near his residence and also claims $2,000.00 for slander. He claims Mr. DeForest said he stole chickens. Will give you results next week.

Roasted on Electric Wires.

BERLIN, GER. Sept. 1.—A horrible accident occurred at the electric works in Posen yesterday. The conductors on the roof of the works were being repaired by a number of employes, when by some mishap the full current was turned into the wires, and three of the men received the shock. Two of them were killed instantly, but their bodies remained in contact with the wires and were terribly roasted, the smoke issuing from the places where the wires touched the flesh and the forms of the victims being frightfully distorted. The third man was only stunned by the shock, but lost his footing and rolled from the roof and his neck was broken by the fall to the ground.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Rebecca Rubenstein arrived at the barge office today from Odessa, bringing with her 24 children. Their ages range from 1 to 25 years. The Rubensteins are in good circumstances, and will settle in this city. The father of this interesting family also accompanied his children to this country. Mrs. Rubenstein is 45 years old and is still plump and pretty.

KELLY BROS., Acton.

Of Course You Don't

Of course you don't want to be taken in, but we do—taken into your confidence. Your custom and your confidence should go together. The brightest mind is caught napping once in a while; you can't be on the alert all the time. You have heard of the tide which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune. Well our Ulster Cloths are having a rising tide of rapid sales. There isn't a fortune in them for you but there's a bigger return than any similar purchase ever afforded you. They won't take in—you can buy them with your eyes shut. We are making a special drive of

Hiptonette and Cravenette

WATERPROOF ULSTERINGS

As a special favor we have the privilege of purchasing the HIPTONETTE WATERPROOFS from the manufacturers Hipton Bros. of Leeds, England, thus saving to our customers the wholesalemen's profit. Bear this fact in mind, it will save you money.

It will do you good to see our assortment of plaid, striped and plain Ulster Cloths. People look when we mention the price. How were they ever made for the money? is the question we heard asked.

Our window of 5 cent prints is attracting general attention and no wonder people were glad to pay 10 and 12½ cents for the same goods ten days ago.

Our 7 cent Wincey is also gladdening the hearts of thrifty house wives. We sold the same at 12½ cents but are now clearing them at 7 cents.
