THE NEWS AT HOME.

Mostly of a Local Character, and every Item Interesting.

Farewell to the Old Baptist Church.

The farewell service in the old Baptist Church was held on Tuesday evening. It was a very solemn occasion, the recollections of the past brought up the sainted memories of former workers and esteemed members during the forty years since the erection of the building. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. H. McAlpine, B. A., and will long be remembered by those who were present.

Government Inspection Satisfactory.

The first inspection of the electric light system here was made last Friday evening. Mr. Johnston, the Government Inspector, visited town that evening and after a careful inspection of the plant and system generally reported to Reeve Pearson, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee, that everything was very satisfactory. This result must be encouraging to the committee and reassuring to the citizens and patrons of the light.

Showed Their Appreciation Practically.

During the series of nature studies in connection with the Baptist Young People's Union, Georgetown, last year, Rev. T. H. Forbes contributed several very able and instructive addresses. Last week the Union sent a letter to Mr. Forbes expressing very cordial thanks and enclosing ten dollars in recognition of the valuable services rendered. Mr. Forbes appreciates very sincerely the kindness of the Georgetown Young People. His services were rendered freely and without thought of reward, beyond the pleasure enjoyed by every good man in rendering service to others.

St. Alban's Social at Mr. Statham's.

The social under the auspices of St. Alban's Church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Statham, Church Street, last Thursday evening was quite a success. The attendance was good and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Miss Schram and Miss Jennie Smith sang several vocal selections which were enjoyed. The Jubilee Orchestra, and Mr. J. C. Hill and Miss Hill in violin and organ numbers, added much to the success and pleasure of the evening's proceedings. A series of games was a feature of the entertainment. Refreshments were provided at the close. Rev. Mr. Godden and Mr. and Mrs. Statham exerted themselves to ensure the pleasure and comfort of the large company assembled.

The Last Sad Rites.

The remains of the late John Snyder, of lot 32, con. 3, Esquesing, whose tragic death at Toronto on Sunday, 4th inst., was referred to in last issue, were tenderly laid to rest in the family plot at Churchill on Thursday afternoon. The attendance at the funeral was the largest ever known at the Hill. After a brief service at the house conducted by Rev. H. W. Holden, pastor of deceased, the funeral proceeded to the church which was crowded even to standing room. Revs. H. W. Holden, T. H. Forbes, H. A. Macpherson and Wm. Bryers took part in the service. In his address Rev. Mr. Holden spoke in very feeling terms of the consistent christian life of the deceased and his constant anxiety to do the will of his Heavenly Father. Words of consolation and comfort were addressed to the bereaved widow and family. The bearers were the three brothers of the deceased, James, David and George, and Messrs.

A Series of Mishaps to Horses.

One day last week as Messrs. Anderson & Kingsbury, the loemen, were at work on Henderson's Pond one of their horses was driven on a spot of thin ice and went through. Prompt assistance rescued the horse, but there were some very wet men as a result....A thresher living in Erin below Mimico, went to the bush one day last week to get a load of wood. He cut a tree he wanted and it fell across his team and killed both horses instantly....A livery horse, one of a team drawing a load of Erin people to the carnival at Georgetown last week, dropped dead when opposite Mr. Erwin's and the fun of the excursionists ended right there....One day about a week ago Mr. Karr, of the fifth line, Erin, was driving out of Acton and when approaching the Mill Street crossing of the G. T. R. one of the bits broke and the team ran down Guelph Street at a terrific pace and brought up in the fence on Queen Street. The damage was slight.

Acton W. C. T. U.

A very creditable number of ladies of Acton proved themselves on good terms with cold water, when, notwithstanding the down pour of rain on Monday evening, they wended their way to Moorecroft to attend the meeting called for completing the organization of a local Women's Christian Temperance Union. Twenty-two members were enrolled representing the protestant churches in town. The officers elected are as follows:

President—Mrs. C. S. Smith.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. H. A. Macpherson, Mrs. Henry Grindall and Miss H. Schram.
Cor. Secretary—Mrs. Josia Grant.
Treasurer—Mrs. H. P. Moore.

The ladies have entered upon this work with a determination to form a strong organization capable of doing effective work in the cause they espouse in the community. The Union has been fortunate in the selection of its executive officers who are ladies of influence and possessed of that executive ability and energy which carried to a successful issue the enterprises undertaken.

An Interesting Note from Bermuda.

About the middle of January Mrs. Robt. Little, left with friends from Cobourg for Hamilton, Bermuda, where they are at present sojourning. Mrs. Little writes the Free Press that roses, nasturtiums, violets, snow drops and china asters are all blooming. The weather for the most part is delightful. Rain is frequent, but after two or three hours it is generally quite dry again. She continues: "I am very curious to sample the tropical fruits which are quite new to me. Loquats and mangoes are such as I have tried. Pawpaws, custard apples, and sugar apples I have seen, but not tasted as yet. It is very pretty here, as regards scenery. Hamilton is a military station and of course great interest is taken in the South African War. We were all very seasick during the voyage. A gentleman on the steamship told me he had been round the world and was never sea sick till he took this trip, yet they consider it a good one and by no means stormy. I felt very thankful the voyage was no longer and have no desire to let my mind dwell on the return passage. I hope you are having a mild winter in Canada. Kind regards to all Acton friends."

AUCTION SALE REGISTER.

THURSDAY, Feb. 22.—Sale of farm stock and implements, the property of William Barnes, lot 2, con. 4, Erin. Terms: eight months' credit. Six per cent. per annum discount for cash. Thomas Ingram, Auctioneer.

Acton Liberal Association.

An interesting meeting of the Liberals of Acton was held last Friday evening in the Council Chamber for organization. Mr. A. J. McKinnon, barrister, was elected President with Mr. John A. McGrall as Vice-President and ex-Warden Havill, Secretary. A strong executive was also appointed and arrangements are being made for frequent meetings of the association.

Opening Services—New Baptist Church.

The new Baptist Church at the corner of Mill and Elgin Streets is completed and will be opened with appropriate services next Sunday and Monday. Rev. Chancellor Wallace, of McMaster University, will preach at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. and Rev. W. H. McAlpine, B. A., the pastor of the church, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Chancellor Wallace is one of the most able and eloquent preachers of his denomination. His eminent position will also create an interest in his visit, aside from the importance of the event his sermons are intended to emphasize. On Monday evening a platform meeting will be held. The programme of the occasion will include addresses by resident pastors, the reading of letters from former pastors, an historical sketch of the church, music by the choir, Mrs. J. W. Bews, Milton, and a male quartette from Georgetown. John Firstbrook, Esq., of Toronto, a former resident of Acton, has kindly consented to occupy the chair. The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these services.

A MARKET FOR ACTON.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE FREE PRESS,

Dear Sir:—As your remarks of last week re the establishment of a market in Acton have been much talked over permit me through your columns to briefly mention a few thoughts which occur to me on the same subject.

The expression elicited from the majority of the farmers in the country surrounding Acton, to say nothing of the general opinion of the merchants, leads me to believe that a Market in Acton would be a capital thing for the town and would be well patronized. To have such a market as would be profitable to farmer, merchant and citizen means a small outlay to begin with. This, I think could and would easily be met if the Council would give the matter a favorable consideration. Place the question of toll comes in and there is not one of the farming community who would, when he saw the advantages accruing to himself, refuse the small amount which would be named by the Council as toll to provide the revenue towards the maintenance of an up-to-date market and a cleanly square. As for a site some point centrally located for the citizens could be determined by the Council. The advantages of a Market are manifold. The farmer would not have so far to carry his produce; he could have all sold and do his shopping in much less time than it now takes him to drive to and from an outside town or city.

As time is quite an important factor with a farmer in the busy season one can easily see the advantage of a market close at hand. This market would serve not only for his produce but for his wood, hay, grain and hides.

The citizens would have the privilege of buying direct from the farmer; butter, eggs, fowl, fresh fruits in season, &c., &c. then too for wood and hay there would be no difficulty in buying the quality desired. By naming a certain day as Market day one and all would know just where to go and when to go to get their week's supplies.

The merchants have their share of advantages which need scarcely be touched upon. All will agree that a Market run upon a sound basis would result in marked profit to druggist, dry-goods-trade, boots and shoes, hardware, confectionary business and others. As Saturdays (supposing this to be Market day) came around we would find each merchant with some article as a leader for that day.

Last but not least we have a Chartered and a Private Bank to cater to the needs of the people in a financial way and meet all the requirements of farmers and others coming to town to do their marketing and general business.

I think if the Market question was taken in hand, a meeting of citizens called and views expressed thereon, action might be taken which would soon place Acton on the list of successful Market towns and with results equal too, if not better than some of the so-called City Markets.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for this space,

Believe me,
Yours very truly,
CIVIS.
