EDITORIAL NOTES

Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, brought down the public accounts on Monday afternoon. The surplus, exclusive of railways, is between $600,000 and $700,000.

In the New Brunswick elections on Tuesday the Conservatives defeated the Liberals by a majority of 10. The Liberals had held power for twenty-five years and had a majority of 29 seats.

Rt. Hon. Mr. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has introduced into the British House of Commons, the Government's long-looked-for licensing bill. Its sweeping provisions will, if enacted, reduce the number of licensed houses in England and Wales by one-third, doing away with about 30,000 bars at which intoxicants are now sold.

Not long ago Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons and Asylums, took the county of Wentworth to task for neglecting to provide properly for the poor of the county, some of whom, he said, had been sent to jail as vagrants. He urged the establishment of a house of refuge. He is likely to be heard from in Halton before-a-long. A Milton man, disabled by disease, has been in jail for about two years, on successive committals of three months each, and a short time ago a Georgetown man was sent down as a vagrant. He has a disabled knee and his lungs are in such a bad way that he has to be kept in bed and requires constant nursing. He is a subject for a hospital, rather than a jail, and Sheriff Clements has reported his case to Dr. Smith. It looks as though Milton and Georgetown want the Government to insist on a county house of refuge and each hopes to provide a site for it.

A RELIABLE SPRING MEDICINE.

Recommended to the People of Acton.

At this season of the year there is hardly a man, woman or child in Acton who does not need a medicine to purify and enrich the blood, to induce an appetite, to promote digestion and create strength, and we are safe in saying we have never sold anything in our store equal to the cod liver preparation, Vinol, for this purpose.

The reason Vinol is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsion is because it is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron all the medicinal, healing and body building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a spring medicine and a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness Vinol is unexcelled, and you know what you are taking.

Mrs. Rose Lavigne, of Burlington, Vt., writes: Vinol is the best spring medicine I have ever used. It creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and takes away all feeling of lassitude. I could go on quoting from hundreds of such testimonials received from people who have taken Vinol.

AUCTION SALE REGISTER.

THURSDAY, 12th March—Sale of Farm Stock, Implements, etc., the property of Robert G. Brown, lot 30, con 1, Esquesing. Sale at one o'clock Terms ten months. James McDonald, auctioneer.

The March issue of the Busy Man's Magazine will be found unusually instructive and interesting, particularly to those who can devote only a short time each day to reading. The articles are timely and profitable, while some of the best short stories of the month will be found within its pages. The illustrations are good, and brighten up the number wonderfully. There are many features, bright and impressive, which will please "busy men." The March number of the Busy Man's Magazine is certainly well worth perusing.

A LEAP YEAR LETTER.

The following letter in reply to the poem, "A Bachelor's Lament," published in last issue by "A Rocky Mountain Goat" has been received:

Dear Sly,—I have often heard it said,
That you are much inclined to wed,
If you could only find
A lady, suited to your mind.

I fear it's not a task of easy,
As it has been said you're hard to please;
Now will you promise me the ring
If I can prove I'm just the thing?

Well, as to my age, I'm just nineteen,
Good looking too, as need be seen,—
I often look into my glass
Which tells me I'm a saucy lass.

The children, should we have a few,
I'll teach them French, and Latin too,
A minuet dance, or pas de deux,
Make butter, cheese, and puddings too.

To please our friends, should they come along,
I'm quite prepared to sing a song;
And when I've settled the 'big wigs'
I'll just step out and feed the pigs.

And then, when I have done with that,
I'll just turn round and feed the cat;
I'll milk the cows in addition,—
You'll see all the works I shall pursue.

Now don't you think I'm quite competent
To be your own helpmeet?
If so, answer, I pray;
Your affd. and obedient fairy,
"Rocky Mountain Goat."

SOME OBSERVATIONS.

Curiosities of Our Local Nomenclature, Past and Present.

"What's in a name?" is sometimes asked, but a more puzzling question is, "Where did all the names come from?" and is one which many paterfamilies have either had to evade, or acknowledge their ignorance in regard thereto. In any given community, such as ours for instance, the variety and form of names affords an interesting, amusing and suggestive study.

Some of these may be disposed of by saying that in a certain nationality the prefix "Mac" to an ordinary first name, thereby creating a surname, originally signified "son of" the name prefixed, and so the name became a family name. So we have in this community. McBain, McDonald, McDougall, McEachern, McGregor, McMckenzie, McLean, McMaster, McNabb, McPherson, McQueen, McTavish.

Similarly, the terminative "son" added to ordinary given names, creating also surnames, may have had the same origin, having given us Adamson, Anderson, Davidson, Dickson, Johnson, Richardson, Robertson, Stephenson, Thompson, Wilson, Williamson. Then, again, we have had a number of surnames, transposed from their class as first names, giving us Abraham, Adams, Donald, Francis, Matthews, Peters, Stewart, Thomas, Walters, Williams.

But in the nomenclature of our countryside there are still left a multitude of names, some of which are very suggestive, and the origin of many of which may well be a matter of wonder. This being as the name Acton implies, an industrial community, it is very appropriate that we have so many trades and vocations represented, for in recent years we have had Baker, Barber, Cook, Mason, Miller, Sheppard, Smith, Swackhamer, Weaver, Wright. Of the Smiths, it may be said there are ten or eleven distinct lines, and there have been one or two other communities where the same name would be found. But after all, is it not strange with so many trades, how few bear the name of Workman?

The constructive idea is suggested by Plank, Stone, Wood, with such ready-to-hand accessories as Small, Frame, Bellhouse, Bell, a cheery old fashioned Hall, Kee, and Locker. Then with such embellishing effects as Black, Brown, Gray, Green, White, is it any wonder we have some substantial and beautiful Holmes?

Landscape effects are suggested by a noble Hill, a quiet little Lake, an English Lawn, pleasant Parkes, with Wilds for hunting.

Being now a seat of learning of some note it is fitting that we should have such names from the literary world as Burns, Gibbons, Hawthorne, Moore, Scott, and then we have some interesting Storeys.

Missionary heroes are remembered by such names as Moffat, Livingston, Morrison, Taylor, McDougall, Duff.

Items of war are recalled by Gordon, Lee, Roberts, Wallace, White.

Natural history has not been overlooked, for Acton has Buggs, Roach, Lamb, and Coon—the latter maintaining a thriving existence albeit for some years we have had no Cornfield, and have had a vigorous Hunter and an energetic Barker.

Wells, but no Waters; Husbands, but no Wives; Walkers, but no Rhodes; Ryders, but no Riggs; Trotter, but no Driver.

Our Prices are not very high, but no word of Cutting down in milk, which is to be regretted, inasmuch as Rice is about our only food commodity.

In this kind of punning, minds of greater powers of research and suggestion may evolve more material and better results, but after all, I may say that while we have had both Day and Knight, and for a time a bright Starr, in our educational sky, now all are gone, even our last Goodeve.

Observer

Great Railway Promoters.

The March number of the Westminster Magazine contains an interesting article on the Canadian Northern Railway. It publishes striking new portraits of Messrs. William Mackenzie and D. D. Mann, the promotors and owners of this growing transcontinental road. The article concludes with this paragraph: "Everybody knows who Mackenzie and Mann are — two whole-souled Canadians; the former born at Kirkfield, Ont., and the latter at Acton, Ontario. Both have the indomitable pluck and perseverence of King Bruce of Scotland, and possessing so great a faith in themselves they do not know how to spell the word "failure." "Success," however is written large over one of the most stupendous undertakings ever engineered by two men — the Canadian Northern Railway.

Right From The Shoulder

That is how we purpose going out for the Men's Clothing business of this town.

A few reasons why we are going to get it

The average Clothing stock throughout the country is suffering from a condition commonly known as "loaded." In the face of such a position we make the following assertion. The beginning of our business year, February 1st, found us with the lowest, the smallest, the most sold out stock, we have yet had. The present moment finds us with the largest assortment of new Clothing we have yet offered.

Detail has been watched with that untiring persistency which has brought, and is bound to bring its own reward.

We wish to surprise you into a knowledge of the perfection of our Men's Clothing. We want you to come in and let us point out reasons for a belief in the perfection of our Clothing.

Collars fit snugly at the neck; shoulders with smooth, well tailored lines, which appeal to every judge of good clothing; general form and drapery of a classic mould, which acts as a tonic to every man's attitude—unconsciously makes him walk erect and look alert.

A few style points of our Clothing this season—long, low lapels; three button single breasted coats; four button diagonal cut high cuffed sleeves; bias cut pockets; garments made on the new roomy lines, exactly as you would have your tailor make when you are buying to order.

There is a good thing in store for both of us, and to this end we ask merely this. Give us a chance to try some of our new Spring Clothing on you. It will do its own talking.
