OUR LATE BELOVED KING

In the sudden death of King Edward VII last Friday at midnight the empire lost one of the wisest and best beloved sovereigns of all history. The King is dead. The King we have learned to love and respect, not only because he was our King, but because he was a man and gentleman in the best sense of those words. The King is dead. The active brain, the sympathetic eye and the kindly voice is still, but Edward VII, King and Emperor, peacemaker, is still and for a long time will be an active force, not only in the life of our empire, but in the life of the world. A King and Emperor who has deservedly earned the title of peacemaker, than which none can be more honorable, can never die in the hearts of his subjects.

"Well it is all over, but I think I have done my duty!" All the people the world over will say Amen, you did your duty and you did it faithfully and lovingly.

In the dark shadow which is now impending over Her Majesty, the Dowager Queen Alexandra, and all the Royal Family, all people throughout the Empire will join in prayer to our Heavenly Father that by his grace they may be comforted and sustained.

KING GEORGE V

In the accession of His Majesty King George the Fifth there will be the unfailing and firm loyalty of all our people, as in the past, to the throne and institutions of our Empire. It is believed generally that Britain's destinies are safe in the hands of the new King as in those of his father. George V will surprise the world. He holds pronounced opinions and possesses courage to press them and has already declared he will follow in the footsteps of his father, the late King Edward VII. In Queen Victoria May he will have an able and helpful consort and counsellor.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Over a thousand liquor men will meet in Quebec to protest against the early-closing movement that is sweeping the Province. According to obvious indications, protests will be as futile in Quebec as in Ontario.—Globe.

The Senate at Ottawa has granted James T. Brownridge, of Glenorky, Trafalgar, a divorce. This is the first Canadian divorce ever granted to a resident of Halton County and it is to be hoped there will never be an occasion for granting another in this good old county.

Sir Gilbert Parker, the celebrated Canadian novelist, contributes a political article to the May number of The Canadian Magazine, under the title "The Land for the People." It is an account of a proposal to solve the land question in Britain and is well worthy of general perusal.

At the recent meeting of the Good Roads Committee of the Halton County Council, which comprises the Reeves of the municipalities, the question of the rate to be levied and the amount to be spent this year was settled. The appropriation for the good roads was fixed at $30,000, and the rate at 1½ mills, one mill to be rebated to towns and villages. This is on the same basis as last year.

The Daily Globe on Saturday said: "Several hotelkeepers, not all in one "dry" locality, have ostentatiously, if not petulantly, retired from the business of keeping hotel because they are no longer allowed to sell intoxicating liquor. It is within their right to act in this way, but it may without offence be questioned whether it is the part of wisdom to do so. It looks like proclaiming to the world that they have been in the business of hotelkeeping for the profit of whisky-selling, and not for any higher service they have been in a position to render the travelling and lodging people who have been patronizing them. Their best policy is to do all they can to retain the respect of their own neighbors, and any such avowal as the above will not be the best way to do this."

HOTELS PAYING WITH NO LICENSE

A Correspondent Tells Interesting Story of Business in Another Local Option Town

HOTEL MAN MAKING MONEY WITHOUT LIQUOR

EDITOR FREE PRESS:

DEAR SIR—With liquor licenses removed from the local hotels the question of whether these places of public accommodation can be run profitably and successfully without bars is presumably one of large interest to Acton at the present time.

A couple of weeks ago I had occasion to spend a couple of days in Brighton, a bright little town in eastern Ontario, which has been under Local Option for two years, and a report of a conversation I had there with one of the local hotel men may throw some light on the above question.

Brighton has two hotels; both of them are run, not by temperance men nor backed by any temperance party or financial scheme, but by ordinary citizens, who stepped into the business believing there was money in it, when the license holders went out on Local Option coming into force. The accommodation given, at least in the one where I stayed, will compare quite favorably, I believe, with anything offered in Acton in recent years, and with that provided in almost any other licensed town of similar size in Ontario. I have visited quite a number of hotels in various sections of Ontario during the past couple of years and am in a position to know whereof I speak.

On Sunday evening I got hold of the proprietor—in some licensed houses it wouldn't be very easy to find that gentleman at such a time—and asked him to tell me frankly how the business was going.

"Well," he said, "I might as well give you the whole story. When Local Option came in the old hotelkeepers both closed up their houses. I was running a livery at the time and one night coming up from the station Sam Nesbitt, who owns the hotel property, climbed up on the seat of the bus beside me and said, 'Say, Ab, how would you like to take hold of my hotel?' I didn't think much of it at the time, but finally the idea got me that there ought to be money in it. I talked it over with my wife and at last we agreed to take hold of it on this basis—to rent it for a month only and to make cash month pay for itself. If it didn't we would have to quit the thing at once. That was most two years ago," Mr. Wade continued, "and you see we're here yet."

"But how does it pan out financially," I pressed him hoping to get to an actual percentage basis of business.

"Well," he said, "there's the way I've figured it up. Last year I ran the place kept seven of a family, three or four of whom helped me more or less, and at the end of the year I had cleared twelve hundred dollars. Oh, yes," as an afterthought, "and I put about two hundred and fifty dollars into the equipment, too."

Going on Mr. Wade said: "I don't run the place as a 'temperance' house. It's just the same as it was before only we don't sell whiskey. And perhaps we pay a little more attention to the hotel itself than the other fellows used to.

"My house is practically filled all the time," Mr. Wade went on, "and often I have to give up my own bed and put up on the sofa in the sitting room. I'm thinking of fitting up another wing of the building and using that.

"Yes," in reply to a question, "the travellers, most of them, stay here, when before they used to go into Belleville at night. I have practically all the bank boys in town, too, and a good many of the passing motorists get meals here and sometimes stay over night." The hotel in question bears the "recommended" sign of the Canadian Motor League.

"So you think a hotel can be run alright without a license, Mr. Wade?"

"Well, haven't I proved it? of course it can."

So far as a comparison between Brighton and Acton is concerned, the latter should be much more able to support barless hotels than the former. Brighton's population is several hundred less than Acton's and the town, unlike Acton, has no manufacturing to speak of, and consequently less business is being done and the number of regular visitors is smaller. Undoubtedly there will be a larger demand for meals and accommodation in Acton than in Brighton.

From this it seems to me readily deducable that the hotels in Acton can be run profitably without licenses and bars. How many of Acton's business men are able to stow away twelve hundred dollars of net profits in the bank each year as a result of their efforts? The experience of the Brighton man can be repeated and improved upon in Acton if the managers of the hotels will try to do a decent hotel business and pay a reasonable amount of attention to it.

I could readily give other examples of successful and profitable licenseless hotels I have visited, some of them in much smaller towns than Acton, but the above stands out so prominently as an evidence of the success of this business that it needs no further substantiation.

CREWSONS CORNERS

Here, as everywhere throughout the British Empire, deep regret is felt over the death of Edward VII, Britain's best and noblest king.

Farmers are busy preparing for the planting of their root crops.

Brookville will celebrate Victoria Day with a pic-nic. The committee are sparing nothing to make it the best yet.

There passed away at his home in Luther on Thursday, April 28th, Mr. Lorenzo Crewson in his 75th year. Mr. Crewson was the youngest son of the late Morgan Crewson, founder of this place, and removed from here some thirty-five years ago. The deceased was highly esteemed by all who knew him. Of a large family of brothers and sisters only one now remains, Mr. Joseph Crewson, of Missouri, U. S. A.

The many friends of Mrs. H. Roy Wansbrough will regret to learn of her critical illness. It is the sincere wish of all that she may soon recover.

Miss Maggie Crewson is also very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dennis, Sr., visited at Mr. Wm. Dennis' on Sunday.

Miss Jennie Crewson, of Toronto, is spending a few days at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Lamb spent Sunday with friends in Erin village.

This hamlet is to have telephone connection in the near future. There are quite a number of subscribers.

Mr. W. Ryder, of Erin, has moved to the McTavish homestead in Nassagaweya which he recently purchased. By the removal of the McTavish family the community loses one of its oldest and best esteemed families. General regret is felt by their large circle of friends on their removal.

Mr. Colin Kitching has purchased from Mrs. Wm. Bennett her 62-acre farm in Nassagaweya for a fair figure.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Acton People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them

Sick kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions are dark, contain a sediment.

Passages are frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is constant day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent.

The weakened kidneys need quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills, which can be obtained at Brown's drug store, Acton, cure sick kidneys, backache, and urinary disorders. Brampton evidence proves this statement.

Mrs. Ellen Henry, of John St., Brampton, Ont., says: "My son used Doan's Kidney Pills and pronounces them fine. He suffered from a kidney irregularity, backaches and pains through his muscles and limbs. Doan's Kidney Pills did him more good than all the other remedies he ever used. I also used this remedy and found it a good tonic, invigorator and back strengthener. We are glad to add our endorsement to this valuable kidney and bladder regulator."

HALTON LIBERALS MEETING

Mr. W. F. W. Fisher, of Burlington, Succeeds Mr. G. Havill, of Acton, as President

SPEECHES BY THE LEADERS

The annual meeting of the Halton Liberal Association was held at Milton on Friday. There was a large attendance and the meeting was one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the association. Mr. George Havill, of Acton, presided, and the following officers were elected:—President, Mr. W. F. W. Fisher, of Burlington; Vice-Presidents, Mr. E. F. Earl, Reeve of Milton, and Mr. Hugh Cunningham, of Norval; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. J. H. Peacock, Milton. The new officers are men who have taken a lifelong interest in the Liberal party in Halton, and under their direction the interests of good government will be carefully looked after.

After effecting a thorough organization by appointing Chairmen of the various wards, speeches were made by Dr. W. S. Harrison, R. D. Warren, Geo. Havill, J. D. McGregor, A. J. McKinnon, W. J. Akins, G. Greenless, W. J. Clements, J. Campbell, R. A. Hall, Henry Robinson, D. McCall, A. S. Forster and R. White. The naval policy of the Government was heartily endorsed as being sane and progressive and as giving adequate expression of Canadian loyalty toward the mother country.

When "Work" Becomes "Labor"

There's Something Wrong. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Will Right It.

When it seems as if you simply could not bear up any longer it is high time to look for the cause of the trouble—and the remedy. In an astonishingly large number of cases the real cause of woman's misery is found to be constipation, and the remedy that always cures is Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Thousands of Women feel just like this.

Neglect of the daily movement of the bowels, so necessary to health, soon poisons the whole system from the impurities retained in the body. Headaches, indigestion, biliousness and lassitude follow, and often more serious female disorders are brought on or aggravated.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only regulate the bowels, but they stimulate kidneys and skin as well to throw off waste matter and purify the blood. The result is quickly apparent in the disappearance of the headaches and biliousness, and the return of health and vigor. Thousands of women all over the world owe their present good health to Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.
