THE NEW B. C. PARLIAMENT

The Debate on the Speech from the Throne Highly Interesting

THE OPPOSITION IN FIGHTING TRIM

At the last session of the Epworth League Parliament the government was defeated on a bill to raise an army by conscription. As a consequence they handed in their resignation and the Governor-General called upon Hon. A. T. Brown to form a cabinet, which he immediately proceeded to do.

On Tuesday night parliament was reopened, the new government and Progressive Party sitting to the right of the newly-elected Speaker, Rev. C. B. Draper.

His Excellency, Sir William Stewart, read the address from the throne embodying the proposals of the government for the present session.

The debate on the speech from the throne, which occupied the whole evening, was opened from the government benches by Hon. J. P. Scarrow, who was leading the House in the unavoidable absence of Premier A. T. Brown. He was ably supported by the Hon. Frank Kennedy and Miss Lily Frankum. Some of the legislation and proposals expounded by these able orators included woman suffrage, coalition government, protective tariff, etc.

The Opposition standpoint was ably maintained by Messrs Uren and Bennett and Martin Moffat all of whom took exception to some of the proposals presented by the government and eloquently and forcefully described them as detrimental.

Mr. A. P. O Brien, who was present and sat with the Opposition, in a short address very favorably impressed the House by a brilliant analysis of some of the points under discussion.

The leader of the Opposition, Hon. J. Victor Coleman, closed the debate for the Opposition in strong and emphatic denunciation dealing with the tariff.

The final reply of the debate was made by the acting-Premier, and the motion passed without a note.

The Oratorio-Cantata "Zion"

The scripture oratorio to be given in Knox Church on Easter Monday evening, by the church choir, will be a musical event of keen interest and merit. The character of the oratorio is especially appropriate. It abounds in choruses, solos, quartettes, trios, and duets, and has also interesting recitative passages. The rehearsals of the past week have proven that the production will provide a delightful musical evening.

Arrested for Being Drunk

His money having evidently all been expended in liquor he was unable to pay the fine and costs. He was consequently conveyed to the county goal at Milton.

Acton's Veteran Postmaster Has Accident

Mr. James Matthews Sustains a Fracture of the Right Thigh by Falling on Cement Walk

IN HIS OWN BACK GARDEN

Mr. James Matthews, Postmaster was seriously injured on Tuesday afternoon, the result of a fall. He had been out to the stable and was returning to the house when he slipped on the cement walk and falling on the edge of the walk had the misfortune to fracture his right thigh. He was unable to rise and lay for five minutes or so before his plight was observed by

JAMES MATTHEWS, Postmaster

Mrs. Matthews. The fracture is in the hip joint. By the fall he also injured his right shoulder which was fractured five years ago and which has never been restored to normal action.

Mr. Matthews is in his eightieth year, in fact his birthday is next Wednesday, 7th April. He is the oldest postmaster in Canada and is now in his sixtieth year in that office, his appointment dating from 1855.

It is sincerely hoped his recovery from the unfortunate accident will be rapid and complete. He is resting nicely, but is very tired from lack of sleep.

SUNDAY CARS WILL RUN

On the new Toronto Suburban Electric Road Through Acton

Permission was extended the Toronto Suburban Railway Company by the Railway Committee of the Legislature on Thursday to operate its cars on Sunday over the full length of the line now in use, to Weston and Woodbridge, through York and Etobicoke Townships, and over the Toronto to Guelph line as soon as that new division becomes operative.

Owing to opposition from the Lord's Day Alliance, the operation was restricted to passenger cars, freight traffic being refused. When the point was carried to a vote in the committee, only one member voted against the Bill, that being Mr. Wm. MacDonald of North Bruce.

Strong opposition came from Mr. John A. Paterson, who urged the course of the Lord's Day Alliance, declared it would not be fair to impose Sunday cars upon a district before a plebiscite had been taken. There were evils, Mr. Paterson maintained, and he believed many people residing along the proposed extension to Guelph would place themselves upon record against further infraction of Sunday observance. Further, if it were found that Sunday passenger cars were necessary, there should at least be some clause inserted to guard against the operation of freight cars on the Sabbath. The Legislature had forbidden the Metropolitan line to operate Sunday freight cars therefore the people along this line should not be subjected to the possible annoyance of having their Sundays disturbed by the freight traffic.

Sunday freight traffic was consequent disallowed.

CANADA'S GREAT GRAIN ACREAGE

The West Will Have an Increased Sowing Area of About Forty Per Cent.

37,500,000 BUSHELS EXTRA GRAIN

Within the next few weeks the farmers in Canada will be engaged upon the work of seeding the greatest acreage which has ever been given over to the production of grain in the history of the Dominion. While statistics portraying the actual increase in area will not be given until the federal authorities at Ottawa compile in the late spring the reports from their correspondents on work done, the findings of investigations which have already been completed point clearly to the conclusion that the additions throughout the Western provinces, at least, will be very considerable in extent. Officials of the Canadian Northern recently finished a survey of fall plowing along the lines of the Company in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The figures which were sent in, of course, deal with the C. N. R. only, but they may be taken as an indication of the manner in which the farmers west of the Great Lakes have responded to the call for a greater production of foodstuffs in Canada. Five hundred and thirty nine agents contributed to the report in order that it would be thoroughly representative of the territory served.

Altogether, along the Canadian Northern lines in the prairie provinces the increase may be averaged at forty per cent. The figures give a total acreage plowed last fall of 6,181,570 acres. This is an increase of 1,766,108 acres over the preceding year. Figured at 21.54 bushels to the acre the flat average of the yield in western provinces in 1914 for wheat, oats, and barley—the grain yield from fall plowed lands along Canadian Northern in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta would be 132,157,818.86 bushels. On the yield basis of last year the increased acreage would produce 37,759,369.01 bushels. But 1914 was an off year for grain production in the West, and that average will probably be exceeded in 1915.

The largest acreage for any one station was reported from Star City, in the black loam district in Northern Saskatchewan. It was given as 110,000 and the increase over last year as 40 per cent. Naisberry, close to Star City, reported 75,000 acres. Melfort, nearby on the same line, claim of an increase of 100 per cent. Rosthern reported an increase of 300 per cent. over last year. Duck Lake's 50,000 acres is an increase of 75 per cent. To the north, Hafford, on the new line connecting the cities of Prince Albert and North Battleford, reported 72,000 acres, an area 95 per cent. greater than in 1913. To the south, in Saskatchewan, Delisle, on the Saskatoon-Calgary line, reported 88,000 acres, which is an increase of 39 per cent. Marshall, on the main line toward the Alberta boundary returned 30,000 acres. In Alberta, the town of Hanna reported 40,000 acres, an increase of 20 per cent. Stettler in the central portion of the province, gave 30,000 an increase of 20 per cent. Craigmyle, close to Calgary, reported 40,000 acres, and Delia, the next station 47,000 which is an increase of 200 per cent. Two towns on the same line, closer to the Saskatchewan line, Carseland Chinook report 15,000 acres each. In the former the increase is given as 1,400 per cent., while at the latter place there was no fall plowing done in 1913.

Even in the older settled parts of the West, there are gratifying increases. At Morris, in Manitoba, the acreage is given at 30,000 and the increase 35 per cent. At Gladstone, there are 20,000 acres, which represent a 25 per cent. increase. At Spirling in the Carman subdivision, the agent reports 40,000 which is a increase of 15 per cent. At Dunrea in the Hartney district the figures jump to 70,000, which represents an increase of 70 per cent. Kipling reports 75,000 an increase of 90 per cent. As these are the conspicuous returns only, it is apparent that Canada is doing her allotted part of the task which is at present confronting the Empire.

A HISTORIC TRIANGLE.

Famous Battlefields of the Plains of Hesbaye, in Belgium.

Describing the road from Brussels to Liege, which skirts the plains of Hesbaye, Baedeker quotes the old proverb, "Qui passe dans le Hesbaine est combattu tendemain." "He who enters the Hesbaye is defeated the next day." Such was the reputation of the Hesbaiens for strength and bravery.

The ancient province of Hesbaye is indicated on the maps as a triangle, some fifty miles from its base to its apex Liege. The river Meuse, from Namur to Liege, forms its southern side; the railways from Liege through Tillemont and Louvain to Brussels its northern side. A line from Namur north to Brussels is its base.

This triangle contains many famous battlefields. Besides Waterloo, there is Neerwinden, where Marshal Luxemburg defeated the allies under William II of England in 1693 and where a century later the Austrians, under the Prince of Coburg, uncle of the late King Leopold of Belgium, defeated the French, led by Dumouriez and Louis Philippe.

Then there is Quatre Bras, where Ney's division fought part of the British army and its German and Belgian allies in 1815. There had been a battle the day before at Sombreffe, and on that June night the Prussians accomplished their unparalleled retreat from Ligny. Fleurus, near by, won fame in 1622 and 1690 and again in 1794.—Newark News.
