FOREIGNER TROUBLE QUELLED

The Interned Austrians to be Removed as Soon as Dominion Government Gives Permission

FOREIGNERS MUST GRADUALLY BE REPLACED

Reeve Hynds sent out a call yesterday afternoon in which the citizens were invited to meet in conference with representatives of Beardmore & Co., at the town hall at 4.30 o'clock, to discuss the unfortunate situation which had arisen.

There was a crowded hall. Mr. A. O. Beardmore and Mr. Torrance Beardmore in brief addresses presented the position of the firm, and the trouble experienced in securing labor. They expressed their willingness to meet the citizens in a fair compromise on the question of the employment of the interned Austrians, in order to avoid any serious breach.

They were given a very respectful hearing; various questions were put and answered.

After a fair discussion of the whole question the following resolution was put and carried by the meeting:

Moved by H. F. Moore, seconded by William Parsell, that if Messrs. Beardmore & Co. will agree to have the forty interned Austrians, brought to Acton during the week, removed within ten days or earlier if possible; and if the firm will further agree to gradually replace their other foreign employees with English-speaking men, as far as possible that this meeting will accept such pledge in good faith.

Messrs. Beardmore & Co agreed to the terms of the resolution and the difficult problem now appears to be settled.

A second resolution requested the officer commanding the 164th Battalion to have Acton Platoon returned to the town at once, owing to the settlement of the trouble in which some of the men were implicated. Reeve Hynds has the assurance that the soldiers will be returned to Acton to-day.

EDITORIAL NOTES

DISCUSSING THE RUSSIAN BUDGET before the Council of the Empire last week the the Russian Finance Minister said: "Despite war expenses amounting to 12,000,000 roubles, and thanks to the abolition of the alcohol monopoly, the financial strength of the country is growing. The savings of the nation since the beginning of the war have been increased by 2,000,000,000 roubles."

THE DOMINION Seed Commissioner is making strenuous efforts to see that the corn growers are supplied with good seed corn this spring. Last season much of the seed corn did not mature properly and consequently is very low in germinating power. The Seed Branch has inaugurated the Seed Corn Control Policy to protect the farmers. They send out lists every week of the growers of seed corn, who have their corn inspected and approved by Government Inspectors. These lists of growers may be obtained from the local branch of Department of Agriculture and it is advisable for all clubs or farmers who intend buying seed corn to get one.

ACCORDING to special regulations of the Education Department, in cases of schools that have been approved by the inspectors, students will be allowed to enlist for overseas service and have their standing allowed without examination for entrance to Normal Schools of Faculty of Education, provided that in the estimation of the staff such students have satisfactorily completed their several courses and have been in regular attendance up to April 20th. A similar privilege is allowed to students who engage to work on the farm for a period of three months, including the school holidays.

NASSAGAWEYA

Mrs. John McKinnon has rented her farm to Mr. William McCullough, of Georgetown, and is having a clearing auction sale of farm stock and implements on Monday, 24th inst.

The people of Eden Mills will rebuild the town hall. They have the brick on the ground and are calling for tenders for the erection of the hall.

Several of the farmers commenced spring plowing last week. It will be general this week.

A few bright warm days would soon put the land in shape for seeding.

The maple sugar season is nearly over for this year. There was a fair run of sap last week.

The fall wheat and clover seems to have stood the winter fairly well. With favorable weather from now good crops should be realized.

STIRRING RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

Largely Attended Meetings on Sunday and Monday Evenings

EFFECTIVE SPEAKERS AT BOTH

The recruiting meeting on Sunday evening crowded the town hall to the doors. Reeve Hynds occupied the chair and with well-chosen words introduced Mrs. Jessie Campbell McIvor, Toronto, editor-in-chief of the National Century, the organ of the National Council of Women. Mrs. McIvor delivered a strong address from a woman's standpoint. She showed the position of mothers, wives and sweethearts and the duty devolving upon them to willingly release their men for service in defence of king and country. Incidentally Mrs. McIver stated that her two sons were enlisted and ready to do their bit in the great conflict in the defence of the cause of right, and protection of the weak. She made a appeal to men who are eligible and who have not enlisted to join the colors at once.

Miss McIvor and Miss May Wildgust sang solos and Rev. C. H. E. Smith, M. A., made a brief address.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. McIvor held a meeting of the ladies to further exploit the work of women in the war. She showed how women in many walks of life can take the place of men releasing them for service as soldiers. She is a convincing speaker and is certainly enthusiastic in the matter of securing men for enlistment. Quite a number of the ladies present gave their names as willing to do all in their power to release men so that they may join the colors.

On Monday morning the band of the 164th Battalion, under the leadership of Bandmaster Bower, arrived from Milton and spent Monday and Tuesday in assisting in the recruiting campaign. They played about the streets, paraded with Acton platoon, and gave a liberal programme of music at the concert in the town hall on Monday evening. The band deserves great praise for the state of proficiency they have attained. Their music has a precision and a military air which is very creditable to both the conductor and the men.

The men's meeting in the town hall on Monday evening attracted a full house. The programme was full of interest throughout, but the recital of his personal experiences by Private Gibbons of the 3rd Battalion, who was seriously wounded at St. Julien and taken prisoner by the Germans, was the feature of the proceedings.

Pte. Gibbons is an excellent speaker and his well-told story was listened to with keen interest. His sufferings as a wounded soldier in a German prison camp were vividly rehearsed. Those present did not wonder when he exclaimed with vehemence: "I hate the Germans." His speech was one of the strongest that has been told here by any returned soldier, and his closing appeal to men to enlist and help the poor fellows in the trenches who are unable to advance to any distance in driving back the foe, because of the lack of men to follow up with necessary reinforcements, was effective. Pte. Gibbons' splendid speech was not without results. Several mangave their names as recruits at the close of the meeting.

Col. Domville, O. C., made his first visit to Acton on this occasion. He presided and made a brief speech complimenting the Acton platoon upon their appearance and conduct and appealing for additional men. Major Wright of the headquarters' staff, and Lieut. Roberts of the Recruiting League, accompanied the Colonel.

The programme of the evening included a number of excellent moving pictures, solos, duets, quartettes, and band numbers by the Battalion Band, and a brief speech by Dr. A. D. Lake, the platoon physician.

ANOTHER ACTON BOY KILLED

Corp. Roy Hurd, Who Went to England in December, Killed in Action

MEMORIAL SERVICE GOOD FRIDAY

On Tuesday forenoon the following sad message was received by Mr. Thos. Hurd:

"Deeply regret to inform you 60825 Gunner Roy Hurd officially reported killed in action April sixth.

ADJUTANT GENERAL

Corp. Hurd enlisted in the 29th Battery, Guelph, last June. He spent six months in training in the camp there and was one of a special draft of men for overseas made in December. He left Christmas week and was in one of the training camps in England until about the first of March when he was sent to France.

Corp. Hurd came to Acton with his father from Erin eighteen years ago. He grew to sturdy manhood, and was employed for years with the Acton Tanning Co. He had many friends in Acton. He was a member of the Methodist Church and of the King's Orderlies Bible Class in the Sunday School.

Much sympathy is felt for the stricken father who feels the death of his eldest son most keenly. His sisters Nellie and Hazel and his brother James, are also in great sorrow through the bereavement.

A memorial service will behold in the Methodist Church on Good Friday morning at 10.30 o'clock. The service will be conducted by Rev. H. W. Avison, M. A., B. D., the pastor, and Rev. C. B. Draper, of Milton, the latter of whom was a warm friend of the late Corp. Hurd during his pastorate here. The officers and men of Acton Platoon will attend the service in body.

Mr. Duncan Sinclair's family are sick with the measles.

The Mutual Improvement Society has closed for the season.

The beef ring started last week.

Mr. Will Spear has secured a position for the summer with Mr. D. J. Sinclair.

Mr. Oliver Hilts was the guest of Ballinafad friends on Sunday. His mother, Mrs. E. Hilts, who has spent the past month with friends here accompanied him home.

AUSTRIANS ARE NOT WELCOMED

Bracebridge Refused to Allow Alien Enemies to Settle in their Town

THEY THEN COME ON TO ACTON

A dispatch from Bracebridge to the Toronto papers on Friday said: "So displeasing to the 400 tanners employed at the Muskoka and Anglo-Canadian plants on the Muskoka River here, was the arrival of ten Austrians from the internment camp at Hearst this morning, that Mayor G. H. O. Thomas induced them to leave town again. The Austrians took the next train to Acton, where, it is said, thirty more fellow-countrymen were taken to-day to work at the Acton plant of the Company. Mayor Thomas complimented the tanners on their behavior, which averted a situation which at times threatened serious trouble for the Muskoka tannery and the Austrians. The only regrettable feature of the day was the burning of a house in which it was proposed by the Company to shelter the Austrians after their arrival here.

The clash between the workmen and the Austrians was the outcome of the "outside" labor situation at the Muskoka plant. Recruiting officers made inroads on the staff to such an extent that men had to be brought in from outside. Eventually these, too, found their way into the ranks of the 122nd Battalion, the men claiming that $1.50 per day is not enough to live on in this town. Workmen said if better wages were paid there would be no scarcity of men, but the Company did not fall in with their views. Arrangements had been made with the Dominion Government to bring forty Austrians from the internment camp, thirty to go to the Acton plant and the other ten to remain here.

On the arrival of the Austrians here notice was given to the Company that the men would not work with the Austrians and the workmen remained outside of the plant, where they were joined by the workmen of the plant across the river. Two hundred soldiers of the 122nd Battalion also looked on. Mayor Thomas' visit to the plant resulted in a promise to have the Austrians taken away, and a big crowd followed them to the station and saw them off on the train to Acton.

The men at the Muskoka plant did not return to work to-day, owing to the absence from town of Manager Peter A. Smith, with whom they will hold a conference to-morrow and discuss the local labor situation."

The FREE PRESS interviewed Mr. John Clarke, the manager of the tannery interests here, on Monday relative to the above report and found that, so far as the influx of forty interned Austrians to Acton is concerned, the statement is practically correct.

Mr. Clarke stated in explanation that owing to the reduced number of their employees, caused largely by enlistment of many of their men here, and the removal of others who have gone to outside points to take situations vacated by men who have enlisted there, they were unable to fill their contracts for army requirements and other important orders. During the past winter they had increased the rate of wages in the hope of retaining their employees and attracting outsiders to their works. Still they found themselves short of men.

Learning that the Government were releasing aliens from the internment camps to work on farms where labor was needed because of the enlistment of so many farmers' sons and farm hands, their Company applied to the Government for a supply of men from that source. Forty men were consequently released from the internment camp at Spirit Lake, Ontario, for their works, ten to go to Bracebridge and thirty to come to Acton. Owing to the trouble at Bracebridge last Friday all the forty men were brought to Acton.

The FREE PRESS called Mr. Clarke's attention to a special dispatch sent from Acton on Friday which stated as follows, and asked as to the truth of the statement:

"Forty Austrians arrived here from Hearst and went to work at local tanneries. As many as 120 Austrians from internment camps have been at work here at one time."

"That statement is not true to fact," said Mr. Clarke. "We have not previously employed any man from the internment camps. One man, who had been in our employ for some time and who had been interned from Acton, was released by the authorities without any solicitation by us. He returned to Acton and we took him on again.

"I wish you would say most emphatically," said the manager, "that we would much prefer to employ Canadians or any other English-speaking man throughout our works. We have no desire to bring in foreigners, but the exigencies of the present, and the conditions for several years past, have forced us to do it.

Until a few years ago there was no work about our tanneries which English-speaking employees were not quite willing to undertake. Now, that is all changed. There is necessary work about our establishment which they absolutely refuse to do and which in their own words, freely expressed they say, 'No white man should be expected to do.' With the growth of our works here this class of work has necessarily increased and we are obliged to bring in foreigners to do it, just as the railways have been forced to do in their construction work, and the cities in the excavation for sewers and such work. It was not our choice to bring in the foreigners at the outset."

"With reference to the foreigners you employ in other departments," said the FREE PRESS, "the complaint is freely made by the men that you put them to work beside your Canadian and other employees, pay them the same wages, and in some cases higher wages, and require the experienced employees to teach the foreigner his work."

"As to the wages paid," said Mr. Clarke, "we have no alternative but to pay the minimum wages paid to our regular men. Our contract with the Government in securing these men requires that we pay them the full minimum wage in order to avoid trouble with the labor organizations. We have never paid them higher wages than our regular employees, as is rumored. You are at liberty to go over our pay rolls and verify this for yourself. Concerning the matter of teaching the newcomer, this has always been the policy pursued in our works. Every man in our employ, except perhaps some of our foreman, came in on exactly the same basis, and was taught his work by the experienced mate we selected for him."

"We are honestly endeavoring to treat our men right and are paying them as high wages as are paid for similar work by our competitors anywhere in Canada. The fact that scores of our men have been with us for years, and the further fact that many who have from time to time left, us for what appeared more alluring situations outside—often when we needed labor the worst way—and have been freely taken back when they found the promised employment did not materialize to their satisfaction, is surely a fair answer as to our treatment of the men who work for us."

Production and Thrift

"TO win the war with the decisiveness which will ensure lasting peace, the Empire will require to put forth its full collective power in men and in money. From this viewpoint it is our true policy to augment our financial strength by multiplying our productive exertions and by exercising rigid economy, which reduces to the minimum all expenditures upon luxuries and non-essentials. Only in this way shall we be able to make good the loss caused by the withdrawal of so many of our workers from industrial activities, repair the wastage of the war, and find the funds for its continuance. It cannot be too frequently or too earnestly impressed upon our people that the heaviest burdens of the conflict still lie before us, and that industry and thrift are, for those who remain at home, supreme patriotic duties upon whose faithful fulfilment our success, and consequently our national safety, may ultimately depend."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

PRODUCE MORE, SAVE MORE.
MAKE LABOUR EFFICIENT.
SAVE MATERIALS FROM WASTE.
SPEND MONEY WISELY.

LET US PRODUCE AND SAVE—

The war is now turning on a contest of all forces and resources—men, munitions, food, money. The call to all is to produce more and more. It may be necessary to work harder. The place of those who enlist must be taken by those at home, men and women, old and young. The more we produce the more we can save. Produce more on the farms and in the gardens. Save more and help to win the war.

LET US NOT WASTE OUR LABOUR—

In this war-time all labour should be directly productive or should be assisting in production. Make it as efficient as possible. If your labour is on something that can be postponed, put it off till after the war and make your labour tell now. Making war is the first business of all Canadians. Efficiency in labour is as important as efficiency in fighting.

LET US NOT WASTE MATERIALS—

Begin at home. The larger portion of salaries and wages is spent on the home—food, fuel, light, clothing. Are any of these things being wasted? $20.00 a year saved from waste in every home in Canada will more than pay the interest on a war debt of $500,000,000.

LET US SPEND OUR MONEY WISELY—

Are you spending your money to the best advantage? What do you think of extravagance in war time? Tens of thousands of Canadians are daily risking their lives for us at home. Is it not our duty to be careful and economical? Canadian dollars are an important part of the war equipment. Make them tell. Have a War Savings Account. Buy a War Bond.
