EDITORIAL NOTES

An Important Decision made by Col. Denison, Police Magistrate, Toronto, on Monday, shows that the Ontario Temperance Act prohibits people from jointly ordering or importing liquor into the province. Men who order liquor in this way and share up when the goods arrive are liable to a penalty of $200 and costs.

President Wilson was re-elected last week after all. The contest was one of the keenest and closest ever known in the United States. It is generally believed that Mr. Wilson will now put on a bolder front toward Germany, do less note-writing and demand that the rights of American citizens be respected by the German powers.

Mayor M. C. Smith, of Burlington, was in town on Tuesday. Mayor Smith will probably be the Conservative candidate in Halton for the next Dominion Election.—Georgetown Herald. With two ex-Wardens of Halton County Council in the field, both natives of the county and popular in their respective districts, the contest will likely be a lively one.

"This Government will not recede one iota from its position as recorded in the recent temperance legislation, now effective all over the province. If anything, certain clauses of the bill may be made stronger." This was the assurance given by Premier Hearst last week to a deputation of women from the vicinity of Hamilton, who waited upon him with a congratulatory resolution on the working of prohibition in Ontario.

It is very Gratifying that Acton's financial standing is so highly regarded that the leading financial corporations are anxious to secure our debentures and willing to purchase them at a substantial premium above par. Twelve offers were made for the Reliance Shoe Factory debentures, now shortly to be issued, and every one of these, with a single exception, offered prices considerably above par. Acton's credit is certainly good.

Canada Welcomes very cordially the new Governor-General, the Duke of Devonshire, the Duchess and family. They arrived at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, on Monday. The Duchess, who is the daughter of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a former Governor-General, has numerous personal friends at the Capital. The new Governor-General comes to a united people and throughout the broad dominion he will find the strongest possible ties of loyalty to the King and the Empire.

Lieut.-General Sir Sam Hughes has resigned as Minister of Militia and Defence at the request of the Prime Minister. His resignation has been accepted. The retirement of Sir Sam Hughes is, in part, the outcome of the establishment of the Ministry of Overseas Forces and in part is due to assumption by Sir Sam of powers which in the judgment of the Prime Minister can be exercised only by the Government as a whole. This summary action is surely very scant reward for Sir Sam's earnest activities in military matters since the outbreak of the war.

The Toronto News, which until lately was an unqualified opponent of prohibition, now admits the value of the Ontario Temperance Act. Last Friday it said: "After nearly two months of prohibition the opposition to the measure decreases. Its satisfactory influence on the home and upon the business of tradesmen is admitted. The jails empty themselves, women and children are fed and clothed with the wages that formerly went for alcoholic stimulants, to the undoubted advantage of grocers, butchers and drygoods merchants and of the former drinkers themselves. Sufficient time may not have elapsed to pronounce finally on the lasting results of the reform, but it begins to appear that the Hearst prohibition law will greatly strengthen the Government, and that Mr. Hearst has won enduring fame by placing the most populous Province in Confederation in the dry column. It is believed that the people of Ontario will never relegate the bars."

If you must worry, worry over the things you can't help. You can work over the others.

164TH BATTALION NOTES

The men are now settled in their quarters Westinghouse Barracks, Hamilton, and are getting down to the work again.

On Thursday, November 9th, the 164th took part in a Brigade route march and field tactics. But the continual rain somewhat marred the plans.

The 164th were nearly all on pass this week-end. They returned on Tuesday.

The Battalion is now attached to the 4th Brigade under Colonel Hendrie.

Rev. Capt. Woodcock has secured a large number of chairs and tables for a recreation room. It is intended to have moving pictures and entertainments this winter.

The Battalion has also received a large quantity of books, donated by the City toward the Library. Other gifts of books and magazines will be thankfully received. Parcels may be left at the home of Pte. J. P. Scarrow, who has charge of this work.

On Sunday, November 5th, the writer visited the Garth Street Methodist Church Sunday School and gave a short address to the scholars.

The 164th are going in for sport this winter a Hockey team has been organized and other sports are being planned.

FINE SERMONS BY DR. CHOWN

Anniversary Services of the Methodist Church largely attended and Highly Interesting

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT'S FIRST VISIT

The first visit of Col. the Rev. S. D. Chown, D. D., LL. D., General Superintendent, to the Methodist Church, Acton, was an event of especial interest. The occasion was the seventy-first anniversary of the founding of the church in Acton, and the fortieth of the opening of the present place of worship.

Keen interest was manifested in the services of the day and the congregation was augmented in the morning by the presence of the pastor and congregation of the Baptist Church, and by the pastor and congregation of Knox Church in the evening. Others from outside churches were also present in large numbers.

Rev. Mr. Avison, the pastor of the Church, was assisted at the opening services in the morning by Rev. R. E. Jones, and in the evening by Rev. J. C. Wilson, B. A.

The Choir rendered special music at both services which was highly appropriate and added to the interest of the services. The ladies' quartette, Miss Bertie Smith, Mrs. Shirley Watson, and the Misses Hazel and Lottie Mason sang "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me," which was much enjoyed.

The offerings of the day were for parsonage repairs and were as usual on the liberal basis for which the congregation is noted.

Dr. Chown's sermons were powerful and effective. The themes presented were highly appropriate to the times and were ably and eloquently delivered. From the basis of apt scriptural words of truth, and out of the wealth of his wide experience and travel and the many opportunities for observation, this large-hearted man of God addressed himself to the present day needs of the people for increased spiritual light and life and the great opportunities for service to God and the empire's need.

The text of the morning discourse was from John 6: 63. "The words I speak unto you they are spirit and they are life." The positive sayings of Jesus Christ in all his sermons and teachings were forcefully impressed. He knew. He never supposed anything. He never corrected any of his sayings. He spoke the eternal truth, and the truth bubbled forth from his great living heart with crystal clearness and direct appeal. He preached only for three years yet he spoke everything the world needs for its salvation. "Never man spake like this man." He raised empires from their foundations. The great of earth unite to crown him Lord of all. Jesus was a man of perfect character, the most perfect incarnation of God to be conceived. When the question was asked: "What is truth?" Christ's reply was "I am the truth." His is a world-wide kingdom built upon an empty grave. The truth exemplified by Jesus Christ brings God and man close together. It is the guarantee of ultimate democracy in the ruling of the world and makes all men free and equal. If we get this spirit of truth from God the altruism of Christian life requires that we give it on. True religion will be regulated by the spirit of brotherly love. The war will necessarily change our present conditions and the tenor of our thoughts and out of it will grow our call to a new knighthood of brotherly love.

At the evening service an impressive patriotic discourse was preached. Dr. Chown took as the basis of his forceful remarks Psalm 4: 1, "Thou has enlarged me when I was in distress." Naturally the war and its varied influences entered largely into the theme. At this time, when the civilization of the world is in the crucible of the Almighty, some are asking said the preacher, "Where is now thy God?" "Does God Rule?" The cry of the human heart to-day is one of real distress, but the text is an anchor to the soul both sure and steadfast. "Thou hast enlarged me." This is the best possible cure for any trouble, because it is bigger than the biggest trouble. There is a ministry in this dire and distressful war, with its severe disciplinary troubles, which will necessarily set us in a place where we shall become better Christians. God has not deserted us. The British Empire may say truly, thou hast enlarged me when I wasin distress. The sense of brotherhood, the enlargement of our sympathies, the broad swing of our manhood, have all grown out of our war experiences. We thank God and take courage. In this time of distress Canada can say, "I was enlarged when I was in distress." We were forgetting those principles which Jesus inculcated and were living in pampered self-indulgence. The war must go on until we are prepared to live and rule as God directs. It means more to be a Canadian to-day than it ever did before. We have linked ourselves in loving loyalty to our empire and value the principles of liberty and have greater sympathy for the weak and oppressed. We are getting an inspired vision of humanity. In these days of distress our mothers, our wives, our sweethearts and children have been enlarged. History teems with illustrations of those who have been enlarged through distress.

In his closing words Dr. Chown, who is an honorary Colonel, and has done very effective work in recruiting, made a strong appeal to the young men of Canada to enlist and faithfully do their duty in behalf of their country. It will not do for eligible young men to hide behind other young men who are serving their empire, and shirk their personal duty. Every man must give an account of himself to his conscience, to his empire and to his God.

Dr. Chown's two sons and a nephew who has grown up in his home have all enlisted.

LETTER FROM CORP. W. DOUGLAS

Is at Military Campat Witley, Surrey, England

The following interesting letter was written on October 27th in Witley Camp:

Dear Mr. Moore:

I received the home paper this morning but not this week's news, as it is dated Sept. 28th, 1916, nearly a month "Absent Without Leave," but better late than never.

We left Borden Camp on August 19th and landed in Liverpool on the 30th; it took us nearly six hours from Liverpool, via train, to the Camp. So we have spent about two months in Old England, and some of us are likely to spent two more. Our Battalion has been broken up for drafts and nearly 500 have gone to France already with No. 1 Construction Battalion. Another draft is called for No. 2 Construction, but unfortunately they will not take any N.C.O.'s. Every thing over here is much more official than in Canada, and unless you have an extremely good reason for asking for a transfer, headquarters will not grant it.

When we first came into Witley Camp, we thought it was paradise, and so it is in comparison to Camp Borden. However, the boys got "fed up on it" and those who are left behind are dying to get to France. The so-called "huts" are constructed of wood and built with very sanitary conditions and the men are hardly ever crowded in them. The M. O. will not allow any more than 32 in a hut and you rarely find any more than 20 among the Canadians.

We are now in a permanent Canadian Training Camp. All the Imperials have moved out to Shorncliffe and other English camps. We have no complaint here in regard to mud on the parade ground. Though it may rain for two or more days, is half an hour the ground is dry and fit for marching, and we have no sand to contend with. The training here is more advanced and we get more trench work and real ideas from the front. Out on the common, where we train the trenches and barbed wire entanglements are built identically on the plan used in France, and we have night attacks and counter attacks carried out on similiar orders. Our casualties are a minimum.

All our boys have had their pass. Those who went to Ireland or Scotland got eight days and those who went to England and Wales got only six days. However, as my ancestors came from Scotland I received eight days and two extra days on account of the lengthy train journey. It took two days from London to my destination and I saw some of the prettiest scenery among the Highlands I could ever wish to see. We crossed the Forth Bridge about four in the morning. It is three miles long and it took us nearly ten minutes to cross it. I went north as far as Thurso, Caithness, though my warrant was only good to Wick and I had some time hunting up cousins and relatives I had never seen before.

Well, I must close now on account of "Lights Out" and would you be kind enough to change the address of the Free Press. I remain,

Yours sincerely,

"THE WAR AND THE JEWS"

A Highly Interesting and Informational address in Knox Church

The lecture on Wednesday evening of last week in Knox School room on, "The War and the Jews," by Rev. R. B. Rohold, of Toronto, was a masterly and intensely interesting presentation of the subject. Mr. Rohold is in charge of the Presbyterian Jewish Mission in Toronto and while an open and avowed Christian Jew, speaks with the deepest sympathy for his fellow Israelites.

Born in Jerusalem and much travelled in the east, as well as highly educated, he is well able to undertake his special work.

Those who were present learned much and now have a much deeper respect for the people who, as the lecturer said, seem to be wanted in no land, yet are always sought after; a national people without a nation, yet found in every nation. Their reputation as money makers is not peculiar to themselves, as Gentiles have been known to be money-grabbers, and the circumstances in which the Jews are placed makes the possession of money almost imperative.

Their relation to the great war is most peculiar, as war was declared on the very day in which the world over Jews were fasting on account of the two exiles, each of which occurred on the same date. The part taken is most creditable and generous. The British Ambassador who protested against a treaty being "a scrap of paper" was a Jew; several British Commoners, Ministers and Lords are Jews; the Chancellor of the Exchequer who negotiated loans in America for the Allies is also a Jew, and a greater relative proportion are in the ranks. True, there are Jews opposed but Britain's Jews are very loyal. The sufferings of Russian Jews were pathetically described.

The speaker in closing frankly stated that the only hope of deliverance in the sense of becoming a national unit lay in the redemption by and acceptance of Jesus the Christ.

Rev. Mr. Wilson on behalf of the large and interested gathering expressed the deep satisfaction felt with this very informational address.

WEAR RUBBERS TO SAVE SHOES

Economical Housewife Is Giving this Advice to Members of Her Family to Defeat High Cost of Shoes

The economical housewife is outfitting her family now with rubber footwear for the fall rains and the winter snows. She is doing this because she knows that rubber is the only staple article that has decreased in price since the war began, and that rubber shoes and overshoes cost no more now than they did before, while leather has reached a price that is almost prohibitive.

"Save your Shoes by Wearing Rubbers" is the thrifty woman's advice to her family. Rubbers cost no more than they did two years ago, leather has advanced over 50 per cent. The British Government has made cheap rubber possible. Show your patriotism by buying rubbers and overshoes to save your leather shoes. 20
