Jackson Robert Debrou

In memory of Jackson Robert Debrou September 29, 2014-November 11, 2014. If tears could build a stairwell and memories a lane, I would walk right up to heaven and bring you back again. No farewell words were spoken, No time to say goodbye, You were gone before I knew it and only God knows why. My heart still aches with sadness and secret tears still flow, What it meant to love you no one can even know. But now I know you want me to mourn for you no more, Remember all the happy times, life still has much in store. Since you will never be forgotten, I pledge to you today a hallowed place within my heart is where you will always stay.

Thank you to everyone who supported us. To family and friends who loved and cared about Jackson, thank you for being there. We are truly blessed to have such a wonderful community supporting us.
Sincerely Debrou family.

GETTING USED TO NEW HEARING INSTRUMENTS

Part 1

A patient who has never worn hearing instruments before, or is wearing a new type or circuit may go through a period of adjustment. The following are suggestions to help you through that adjustment period:

Don't get discouraged. It may take time to realize the benefit of your hearing instruments. You have been hearing through a damaged system that has delivered distorted signals to your brain. Now the sounds you are being exposed to are louder and different than what you are used to. In time, your brain will adjust to the new signals it is receiving.

When you first start wearing the hearing instruments, you will suddenly hear sounds you were previously unaware of. Many you will recognize as sounds you used to hear before you had a hearing loss, and others will have to be identified for you. These sounds will seem bothersome at first because you are not used to hearing them. In time, like those with normal hearing, you will unconsciously block out these daily sounds.
