IN THE DARKENED ROOM

When bird dealers want to teach a young bird to sing, they shut him into a dark room while in the room adjoining a singer is hung, who fills the air with melodies. The little bird has nothing to do but listen. There are no distractions, and presently he begins to imitate the music he heard. It is not always a misfortune when we are shut away from the things which charm and interest us, and condemned for a time to an existence which seems prosaic and dreary. For then it is that we are likeliest to hear the divine harmonies which once fell on our ear unheeded, and in our response we realize the best of our possibilities. The darkened room has a place in our training as well as in that of the birds.

SOME HUSKIES, THESE MODERN GIRLS

All in one evening she suffered the following, while dancing with me:

"The hall is so hot, I'm cooked."

"I'm crazy about dancing."

"I was petrified, when I saw him."

"That light is so glaring it makes me blind."

"Can't you shut the window? I'm frozen stiff."

"You make me sick."

"I nearly had a fit, when he told me about that joke."

"That last partner I had drived me insane."

"I simply died laughing."

"I was perfectly dumb."

"I'm so tired, I'm just dead."

Then, when I looked at her, she seemed as alive and healthy as ever.—Stanford Chaparral.

Premier Drury Not Yet Opposed By Grit or Tory

Executives of Both Parties Have Met But up to Date No Opposition Has Been Decided Upon

FURTHER CONFERENCE MAY BE HELD

The Reformers had an executive session on Saturday afternoon and after three hours' discussion failed to come to any decision to put a candidate in the field to oppose the Hon. Mr. Drury, the new Premier of the province.

The executive of the Halton Liberal-Conservative Association met in Milton on Tuesday to discuss the political situation. The meeting was strictly private, reporters and outsiders being forbidden admittance.

The feeling of the majority present is said to be that Premier Drury should be opposed, but how this is going to be done has been left to a committee of nine members, who will weigh all the evidence in favor of a contest and bring in a verdict in a few days.

It is a well-known fact that there is a difference of opinion in the Liberal party here as to the wisdom of opposing Mr. Drury.

It is reported that if the Conservatives decide to lock arms with the anti-Drury Liberals a convention will be called shortly to prepare for a short but heated election campaign.

LETTER FROM SUNNY SOUTH

The following letter from Rev. Dr. Moore, of Toronto, who was by the way, editor of the Free Press 1877-8, written from Florida, has much of interest. Dr. Moore is in the south at the imperative suggestion of his physician, owing to his run-down physical condition. He is recuperating with very gratifying progress.

St. Petersburg, Florida,
January 23, 1920

My Dear Brother:

You will note that I am in the land of flowers, fruit and winter tourists. I came through the country of "de cotton and de co'n."

It is beautiful summer weather here. No one has on an overcoat and many are wearing palm beach clothes.

The trip down was pleasant, except that the train fell down three hours on schedule time, and a twin robber came into the pullman at Jacksonville and got away with a lot of the passengers' belongings. It was my good fortune that my property was properly stored and I lost nothing.

The trip south reveals an entirely different country from anything in Canada and the northern States. It was about 10 p. m. when we left Washington. When I got up in the morning we were in the south of Virgina. There were great fields of corn and tobacco. Pretty soon we saw the cotton fields. But the houses are tumble down, and the farms look as though the farmers were thriftless, and possessed of little care for home or farm. The negroes walk and work about one-third as fast as laborers in Canada. But the negro children are always laughing and playing and seem strung on wires. They are surely a peculiar people.

When we crossed the Savannah River into Georgia I noticed the strange southern mosses which hang in festoons from the trees. The orange groves and grape fruit orchards are most attractive.

Yesterday I went out into the country and saw a Florida jungle in all its wildness. There were a few paths through it, but the place was most interesting because of tree life. There were palms, cedars, cypress, oaks and many other species. Its bird life too was interesting. I saw robins, canaries and other familiar northern birds, also mocking birds, turkey buzzards, orioles and many others. It was a very interesting afternoon.

Out on the gulf were many people fishing, and nearer shore were the pelicans catching fish on their own account. Some were hunting crabs great large fellows as big as lobsters.

On many of the trees there hang in graceful festoons and pendants the pretty southern moss, a sample of which I am sending you.

It is real summer here. Yesterday was a hot day and I was glad to be in the shade of the trees. To-day I am going out among the orange groves where I can eat as many oranges as I can pick up. We can buy oranges at 30c. per dozen, bigger and better than you can get at home for $1.00. I am enjoying a menu almost wholly of fruit and nuts. Pretty good rations.

Glad to say I am rapidly returning to normal conditions. I sleep better than for months, and have no headache now.

Mr. Warburton of the Y. M. C. A. and Mr. Sorby, of Guelph, are here. I see them often.

I am improving every day.

Affectionately,
T. A. M.

FIREMEN'S EFFORTS WERE APPRECIATED

The Chief of the Fire Brigade received the following letter from Robert Noble, Limited, last Thursday:

Norval, Ont., Jan. 21, 1920.

The Chief of the Fire Brigade,
Acton, Ont.

Dear Sir:

We wish to convey to you and the men of your brigade our grateful appreciation of your work in putting out the fire in our elevator there January 3. Not only were you able to save a personal loss to ourselves, but also a large waste of property for the insurance companies.

We thank you one and all for your efforts in our behalf.

Yours truly,
ROBT. NOBLE, Limited.

The firemen deserve the thanks tendered. They spent over three hours in fighting the fire and in salvaging the property. Their clothing was frozen on them. Some of them ruined clothing and gloves in battling hose, ladders, burned timbers, etc. Yes, the thanks are richly deserved.

ALMOST A WHOLE FAMILY PERISH.

Two sisters, sole survivors of a once happy family, directed us pleasantly, as we visited in a sunny ward at the Muskoka Free Hospital.

The mother and several of her members of the family had died of consumption, and the plague had marked these two girls also for its own; but fortunately they were found in time.

One of them said: "I feel the Hospital has done me a great deal of good; everything is lovely, and I like it awful well." The other: "I have gained twelve pounds, and think I will be able to go home for good in six months."

Such is the work of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. Thousands of grateful patients can testify to the help they have received therein. It costs a great deal of money to carry on the work. Will you help?

Contributions may be sent to Sir William Gage, 84 Spadina avenue, or George A. Reid, 222 College street, Toronto.
