Holiday show of local artists continues in the Cultural Centre

Two new exhibitions are currently on display at the Town of Halton Hills Cultural Centre.

In the Helson Gallery, Frank Black: Portrait of the Artist offers an overview of this celebrated Georgetown artist's lengthy career in both painting and commercial art. Several private collectors have lent art for the exhibition which runs until Feb. 1.

The annual Holiday Show and Sale of work by local artists is on exhibit in the Sisnett Lobby of the Cultural Centre until Jan. 4. The show features a variety of fine art and craft pieces perfect for holiday gift giving including pottery, jewelry and wood carving.

The Gallery is open Wednesdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays: 1-5 p.m. and on Thursdays: 1-8:30 p.m. The Cultural Centre will be closed on Dec. 25, 26 and Jan. 1. Admission is free.

Insurance companies give $2,000 to Links2Care

Caledon & Credit Valley Insurance & Financial and Peel Mutual Insurance recently presented $2,000 worth of gift cards to the Links2Care's Holiday Giving Program for families in Halton Hills.

Approximately 450 youths will receive items such as clothing, toiletries and gift cards prior to the holidays and Links2Care's Cathy Gerrow said the giving program looks to support mid-teens who lack in necessities.

As well, CVC organized a candy cane campaign in which holiday wishes are granted to youths through the sponsorship and generosity of the company's clients, staff and fellow business owners.

GETTING USED TO NEW HEARING INSTRUMENTS
Part 2

If you are having difficulty with the hearing instruments, or do not like the sound quality, discuss it with your Hearing Practitioner. Chances are there are adjustments that can be made to the instruments to accommodate your complaint.

Remember that you are not alone. There are millions of people with hearing loss, and as the Baby Boomers age, the numbers grow. It is nothing to be ashamed of, and there are many treatment options available to you in these modern times.
