A BIT OF HALTON'S MILITARY HISTORY

Goodwillie, Georgetown; W. P. Appelbe, Stewarttown; W. P. Moore, Georgetown; Alex. Noble, Norval; Jas. Ballantine, Georgetown; G. O. Brown, Stewarttown. The north end of the County has furnished eight of the C. O., and Georgetown has been the headquarters of the band for over forty years.

LIMEHOUSE

On the evening of April 4 the neighbors and friends of Mrs. Marie Henderson met at her home, "In the Shadow of the Pines," in number about forty persons. The meeting was in the form of an old-fashioned surprise party, the ladies with baskets of provisions in abundance.

An address was read by Mrs. R. L. Brown and the presentation of a beautiful kitchen cabinet was presented by Messrs. Harvey McDowell, Fred Brown and Hyatt Dobbie.

Mrs. Brown made a very suitable and feeling reply, thanking her many friends for their kindness to her and their beautiful and much appreciated gift.

The address was as follows:

Dear Mrs. Henderson:

As time in its swiftly turning rounds has turned ten years away, since first you came to neighbor with us and be a friend for aye, and as you are so soon to disconnect this neighborly circle, and go to you new home, where you will make new friends and neighbors,

You go from us with all good wishes for a bright and happy future for yourself and the children, not forgetting the two little ones, whose destiny we all pray for.

In those ten years we have all experienced many changes. In all you have ever been one of us. There was always a cheerful yes in response to any reasonable or right gathering for good, which needed support, whether Guild, Junior Relief, or last of all the Boys' Club, so lately gotten up, we shall all miss you very much and in every way.

For we have lived and loved together
Through many changing years.
We have shared each other's burdens,
And wept each other's tears.

And now, Mrs. Henderson, we would ask you to accept this kitchen cabinet as a parting gift, wishing that you may live long to enjoy its usefulness in you everyday work.

May it prove to be your pantry in hand. Hoping you will often retrace your steps and come to see us, and the old place, where memories will ever linger. Signed on behalf of the neighbors and friends by

HARRY BEVEREAUX,
FRED BROWN,
WILLIAM GOWDY,
JOHN NICKELL.

All sang "Blest be the Tie that Binds." The evening was spent in a dainty lunch, music and dancing. All went home, happier for their pleasant evening.

WINNING CONFIDENCE

The ability to win confidence is one of the essentials to success. No one gets very far who is unable to inspire trust in his associates. And one of the first requisites to winning confidence is to feel it. One who doubts his own judgment and is always apprehensive of failure, cannot possibly inspire confidence in those he meets.

Scrupulous exactness in little things is a help in creating confidence. It may not matter particularly whether you do a certain thing on Monday or Tuesday, but if you have agreed to do it Monday, keep your word, even at the cost of considerable inconvenience. Never say, "It won't make any difference." It makes a difference that you should have the reputation of doing exactly as you agreed.

Integrity is the foundation of confidence. Some men make money by sharp practices, but in so doing they have sacrificed the thing of supreme value. When the business world is sure that right means more to a young man than anything else, he will be in demand.
