The Honesty of Our Boys and Girls

Lost Articles, Purses of Money, Watches, Etc., are Promptly Restored to Losers

It has been with sincere pleasure that the remark has been made over and over again in these columns that a spirit of genuine honesty prevails among the boys and girls of this community.

The Free Press is perhaps in a better position to judge of this than any other place in town. Rarely a day passes that some boy or girl does not bring to this office lost articles, many of which might be appropriated to their own use if they were so inclined. Lost purses containing money, watches, bracelets and other jewellery, wearing apparel, keys galore, automobile markers and parts, whips, halters, and a multiplicity of other articles are brought in. Usually it is found possible to promptly restore these to the owners, because this office has become recognized as the depository for things lost for the community.

A concrete case of this spirit of honesty occurred last Thursday. A business woman on Mill Street was unfortunate in losing a purse containing twelve dollars in bills and a signed cheque for $32.00. A visiting card in the purse gave the name of the owner. Within a few hours a boy, the son of a widow, not burdened with a superabundance of this world's goods, marched in to the lady with the purse and contents intact. He was proud to have the opportunity of restoring the lost purse and looked for no reward. He was, however, generously rewarded by the loser.

Our experience in Acton is evidently different to that of Toronto. The Star Weekly devoted a whole page a week ago to tell of its testing of the honesty of "Toronto the Good." Ten purses containing money were dropped by two reporters in different parts of the city, and the notes taken of the persons who recovered them. Although they were dropped in all parts of the city, from the poorer quarters to Rosedale, only two of the ten purses were returned to address given, in each of the purses dropped. And it is rather a reflection on the rich residential sections that the purses dropped there were not restored, while a working girl down town, and poor-looking young man in the business section were the two who returned the purses they found.

It would have a wholesome effect upon the children and young people of this community if the matter of their recognized honesty were occasionally referred to by the teachers of the schools.

St. Alban's Vestry

Encouraging Reports at the Annual Meeting Monday Evening

On Monday evening the annual meeting of the Vestry of St. Alban's Church was held with a goodly number of the parishioners present. The rector, the Rev. H. G. L. Baugh, B. D., occupied the chair.

The rector's report, together with that of the Church Wardens, showed much to be really grateful for in every direction. The year 1922 showed that the average number of persons in the congregation was larger, the number of communicants was higher, and the offerings of the people were greater than ever before in the history of the parish. The finances aggregated more than $600. There are only about eight families in the whole parish not now using the envelope system for their contributions.

Many improvements have been made both in the church buildings, and in the services, and there is an excellent spirit of good will and co-operation in the congregation.

The parishioners nominated Mr. Henry Goldham again as their warden for 1923, and the rector appointed Mr. Wm. Fryer once more as his warden.

The rector thanked all the officers of the church for their interest in the work and the manner in which they had fulfilled their various positions. There had been a great deal of enthusiasm shown throughout the year and the work now seemed to be settled down on the firm foundation of faith and prayer. The prospect of good work to be done during the year was very evident and all are confident that the hearty support of the congregation will be continued. It was felt that the monthly parish magazine, "The Acton Anglican," published by the rector, had been a great factor in the success of the parish during 1922.

COST OF THRESHING

Western Canada's wheat crop of 1922 cost approximately $57,600,000 to thresh, computing the sum from the Government crop estimate of 384,000,000 bushels and the cost of 15 cents a bushel for threshing estimated by experts. In 1910 the wheat crop of Western Canada was estimated at about 120,000,000 bushels, and threshing costs averaged 10 cents a bushel, a total cost of $12,000,000. The increase is accounted largely for by the rise in the price of labor, which is about 100 per cent. The total wheat crop of Canada in 1922 is given at 391,425,300 bushels and the total production of oats last year was 513,032,000 bushels.

BIRTHDAY WISHES

If I were to guess your age by the amount of your good cheer I would say you are at least a thousand.

A happy birthday? Yes, indeed!
And many, many more,
For those who keep on growing young,
Deserve them by the score.

Blessings, on your growing years,
Whether sent in smiles or tears;
If they come in radiant hours,
Sweeter may they bloom than flowers;
If wintry days be theirs,
Fragrance give them by your prayers;
Thus shall life its spring repeat
Till your eyes God's Eden greet.

—The Acton Skating Rink will hold a grand carnival and moccasin dance on Saturday evening, January 27. Full particulars as to prizes, etc., will be found in the advertisement in another column.

—A chimney on the home of Mr. Howard Price, Willow Street, took fire on Friday afternoon. An alarm was rung, but fortunately the fire was extinguished before the Fire Brigade had time to get to the house.

—A fine piece of fret work has been on exhibition in Brown's drug store the past week. It is a replica of an English locomotive and tender, and required a good many hours of tedious and skilful sawing to execute it. Mr. A. H. Bishop, gardener, is the artist who made this attractive machine.

—Hear the bobsleighs with their bells—silver bells! What a world of merryment their melody foretells! How they tinkle, tinkle, tinkle, in the icy air of night, while the stars that oversprinkle all the heavens seem to twinkle with a crystalline delight; keeping time, time, time, in a sort of Runic rhyme, to the tintinnabulation that so musically wells from the bells, bells, bells, bells, bells, bells, bells—from the jingling and the tinkling of the bells.

Neighborhood News--Town and Country

GLENWILLIAMS

At a meeting of the Glen Athletic Club a very favorable report was presented by the Committee referring to the activities of the past year, and showing a balance in the treasury. A cordial vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. E. Y. Barraclough for his generosity in granting free use of the athletic field; also to Mr. A. Beaumont for his kind services during the season.

CREWSONS CORNERS

Everyone is agreed that this is a real old time winter.

Mrs. M. Crewson, Sr., who was ill last week, is improving.

Mr. Jas. Jamble, Mr. H. H. Brown, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. McCaig, Mrs. E. Cripps, and Miss Sadie Cripps were in Hespeler over the week-end attending a convention.

Mrs. Alger Cripps and children of Acton, are at Mr. Crewson's this week caring for her mother, who is ill.

OAKVILLE

Flowers, newspaper weights and a chicken dinner were incidents of the inaugural meeting of the Town Council.

The Star is now printed in its fine new office, built on the site of the former building.

The annual meeting of the Fall Fair Board will be held to-morrow afternoon in the Council Chamber.

On Tuesday ex-Mayor Davis and family left on a motor trip to Florida, where they will spend the balance of the winter.

A pleasing feature of the Library Board meeting last week was the receipt of a cheque for five hundred dollars from the J. O. D. E. for the purchase of books.—Star.

OSPRINGE

This community lost an esteemed old resident when Mrs. Alex. J. Currie passed away last Friday. She had lived with her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Kirkwood, second line, for the past eight years.

From present prospects, wedding bells will ring in the very near future in our community.

Several land deals are pending in this district and it looks as if farms will change ownership during the next few months.

Our farmers are interested in trying to secure a blacksmith for Ospringe. It offers a splendid business in a fine agricultural district.

Quite a number of the young people from this section attended the short courses in agriculture at Rockwood during the week.

NASSAGAWEYA

The by-law to obtain Hydro-Electric power and light was carried in the police village of Campbellville last Wednesday by a large majority, only 3 votes being polled against the by-law. This means that the village will be lighted electrically within a few weeks.

The funeral of the late Mrs. George Norrish took place on Friday, 11th inst., from the home of her son-in-law, Mr. David Wilson, to the Ebenezer Cemetery for interment. A large concourse of friends and relatives gathered to pay their last respects to one of the early pioneers of the township. Rev. G. H. Cassmore, B. A., conducted the service. The pall bearers were six grandsons, Messrs. Elwood Wilson, Erbrook Norrish, Albert Norrish, William Norrish, John Norrish, and Arthur Norrish. The deceased was the last of her father's family. There were relatives from Detroit, Guelph and Montreal and surrounding country at the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nicolson, of Marlette, Michigan, are visiting relatives in Nassagaweya.

Quite a number of people from Nassagaweya attended the funeral of the late J. W. Knowles, of Rockwood, on Monday afternoon.

ROCKWOOD

Jack Miner, the wild bird man, was favored with one of the largest audiences which ever crowded into the town hall, when he was here last week. The people were delighted with his lecture and his pictures, which showed how wild geese and ducks may be attracted by kind treatment.

Much sorrow is felt here at the death of John Strachan. He spent most of his life here, and was for a time principal of the Public School of this village.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Thomas were called to Oshawa last week, owing to the serious illness of his mother. Her death occurred before they reached her bedside. Mrs. Thomas had lived here for a time and was highly esteemed.

Rockwood lost one of its oldest continuous residents last Friday when J. W. Knowles passed away. Mr. Knowles, though in his eighty-second year, was in his usual health until Tuesday before his death. He had been in Guelph on Monday, and had been attending to business in his harness shop every day. On Tuesday he was walking to the G. T. R. station, just a block from his shop, when he fell on the sidewalk. It is thought he had a stroke. He gradually grew weaker and died on Friday. Mr. Knowles was born in Dewsbury, Yorkshire, England, in 1841. He came to Rockwood in his nineteenth year. He was a successful harness maker and saddler, and an expert workman. He was a member of St. John's Church, and for many years was a member of Speed Lodge A. F. & A. M., Guelph. The funeral on Monday afternoon was conducted by Rev. Mr. Baugh, and interment was made in the Friends' Cemetery.

George Saunders, who went into one of our stores during Christmas week, while under the influence of liquor, and created a disturbance, was summoned to Guelph Police Court last Wednesday morning. Two charges were laid, drunkenness and assault. Both were proven. A fine of $2.00 was imposed for the assault upon Mr. Garside, and another of $10.00 for being drunk.

At the meeting of Eramosa Council here last week George Loree was appointed truant officer. Robert Scott, tax collector, reported $41,436.43 collected and $7,966.75 still outstanding. The sum of $136.20 was paid in discounts for prompt payment. A grant of $25.00 was made to the short course classes in session to assist in necessary expenses. The Council will meet again on February 12.

The charge preferred by License Inspector Grant against James Keough, the butcher here, for keeping liquor for sale was dismissed by Magistrate Watt at the Police Court on Friday. When the case was heard about a week ago, His Worship reserved judgment. In announcing his decision he stated that in his opinion there was not sufficient evidence produced for a conviction. At the time Inspector Grant and a party of officers raided Keough's premises, four bottles were seized, and in his defence Keough stated that one of these contained liquor which was legally purchased by prescription; another contained colic medicine for horses, and the other two which were found by the officers in a room at the rear of Keough's butcher shop, he claimed he knew nothing whatever about.

The Winner a Loser

A rather trivial case came before Judge Elliot at Division Court here last Thursday. R. McDonald, Limehouse, sued J. Trotter, a former resident, for $2.50 for hauling a small load of wood to Acton over a year ago. After hearing evidence pro. and con., the Judge ordered Trotter to pay $2 of bill claimed and $2 of costs, and strongly advised McDonald to pay balance of costs and his own legal fees.
