Norval's Junior Farmer Hockey Team Receives Jackets, Crest

The Norval Junior Farmer hockey team, victorious in the winter's Halton hockey league when they defeated teams from Milton, Palermo and Acton, were guests at a euchre and dance in their honor in Stewarttown hall Friday evening.

Following a euchre and lunch, Esquesing deputy-reeve George Currie was introduced by Ward Brownridge. Mr. Currie reviewed the hockey season and mentioned that he was proud to present their jackets to them, because they were "all Esquesing boys." He called on the team and handed each of the members a leather jacket, red with white trim, bearing a crest signifying their high hockey honors.

Coach Len Coxe was also given a present from the team members and three men who helped with the team through the season, Ed Bailey, Elwood Carney and Don Timbers, were called upon for applause. Agriculture representative Earl Whitelock added his congratulations to the Norval club, not only for their hockey playing, but for their dramatic acting which has recently won high honors. He told that the club in Norval was organized in 1933 and that in the past 22 years the Norval club has been doing an outstanding job. He urged the club to keep on their toes to keep up the good reputation they had.

Following the presentation, about 150 enjoyed dancing to Doris Hull's orchestra.

Scotch Farmer Enjoys Month's Stay in Halton

Halton Junior Farmers are at present entertaining a Scottish farmer named David Oag, in Canada for three months to study Canadian farming. Mr. Oag, who comes from Allness in Northern Scotland, has visited in Oxford county, and while visiting in Halton, has been staying with John Picket and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart McFadden.

Mr. Oag is 26 years old and celebrated his birthday at the Picket home on Friday. He has noted considerable difference between the farming in Scotland and Canada. He is one of four Scottish young farmers in Canada for the three months' stay. The other three are Robert Howie in Lincoln county, Allistair Grant in Greg county and Mary Adam in Wentworth county.

Mr. Oag and his three companions left Scotland in April and plan to return in June. He will stay in Halton from May 1 to 10, then spend four days at the O.A.C. in Guelph and at Niagara Falls. Following this, he will visit York county.

He is vice-president of the Scottish Young Farmers' group in Ross-Shire county, Scotland. Reviewing his farm in Scotland, he noted it has 45 milking cows and 110 others of all ages, as well as 100 breeding ewes. His farm at home, while being primarily a dairy farm, is verging on mixed farming, for he has 30 acres of turnips and 30 of potateos. No silage is grown.

Needless to say, the young man is enjoying his stay in Halton county, as was indicated as he made his way through an ice cream sundae in a restaurant while interviewed by this paper.
