Actually Retired.

Joseph Jefferson is sensitive on the subject of his retirement from the the stage. To suggest farewells is to make him nervous and to receive a reply outwardly pleasant, but tinged with sharpness. But one reporter did succeed in getting ahead of him.

The veteran had, during a tour, to stay, sickly, good, and meeting in the paper a long, well-polished, worded article, hinting at his retirement. He made a complaint to the managing editor, who at once called in the reporter, and asked him where he got the story.

"Why, editor told me to see Mr. Jefferson," said the young man, and asked him if he was going to retire.

"Well, did you see him?"

"Mr. Jefferson came up long here to his room, and he was returned to me with these words written on it: 'Mr. Jefferson has retired.'"

They says the story, the actor, who sleeps twenty years a night in his Van Wickle, took the reporter out and bought him a five-dollar hat.

A Mind-Reader.

"Unfortunately, boys cannot be apprenticed ultimately," says one of George Eliot's characters, a mother who was compelled to delay her son's education because her husband lost money by a man who cheerfully proposed paying it "ultimately." That, alas, was the date the rich Mr. Mullin seemed to have chosen for settling with his workmen. They were sure to receive their due, but they often had to wait for it.

One day he was wandering through the hay-field, taking incidental note of the work, and there he came on John, who had not been paid off for three weeks.

"Let me see, John," said Mr. Mullin; "there was something I meant to ask you, but for the life of me I can't remember what it was."

"I can tell ye," said John, in inexpressible exasperation. "You were going to ask me how I meant to go to the county fair on the wages I never got."

Statistics of Lynching.

An accurate record of all lynching reported in the United States since 1885 has been kept by the Chicago Tribune. During those eighteen years there have been lynchings in every State and territory in the Union except Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Utah. Delaware was on the list until lately. The total number of lynchings during this period was 2,516, or almost three every week for the eighteen years. Of the total number 2,080 occurred in the South; 1,687 of the victims were negroes, 801 white, 21 Indians, 9 Chinese and 7 Mexicans. The death penalty has been administered at the hands of mobs for 114 different offenses. The figures, year by year, show wide fluctuation between 90 in the year 1891 and 235 in 1892. In general, taking the whole country together, there are more lynchings than legal executions.

CORRECTED HIS MISTAKE.

High prices often prevail in frontier towns, as of those [illegible] in new world [illegible] and think twice about it. A man who had just arrived from the East [illegible] of a dollar for a pound of butter, he came to be regarded as reasonable prices. But once I had the surprise of buying at an unexpectedly low price. It was like this: I had a morning [illegible] lady little bit of it. And [illegible] shanty where I was [illegible] for a month. A rough-looking fellow sold me. He was the dentist, and I asked him to draw my tooth. He looked at me, got his forceps fastened on my tooth, and wrenched it out. Made a couple of hard twists.

"How much?" I asked.

"Well, ten dollars I guess," said the dentist.

I paid him, although my jaw was still sorely hurt.

"That's the cheapest thing I've done round here," I remarked, as I gave him the money.

"Well," he said, "I thought I'd make it low, because on account of the light I pulled the wrong tooth."

I had to go the next day and have the bad tooth out, and he made matters square by charging me ten dollars.

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—Miss Alma Pratt, Holly, Mich.—$5000 forfeit if the above testimonial proving genuineness cannot be produced.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO YOUNG WOMEN.

All young girls at this period of life are earnestly invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; her advice is freely and cheerfully given; her address is Lynn, Mass.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls Mrs. Pinkham is inclined to the belief that our girls are pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries; less learning and more health needed.

Not His Fault.

They had been married only a few months, and the wife stood beside her husband looking into one of the department store windows. A handsome tailor-made dress took her fancy, and she left her husband to examine it more closely, then she went back to him, still talking.

"You never look at anything I want to look at any more," she complained, "you don't care how I dress. You don't care for me any more. Why, you haven't kissed me for two weeks."

"Indeed, I am sorry, but it is not my fault," said the man.

Turning, the lady looked at him and gasped. She had taken the arm of the wrong man.
