It is Milk in Feed Form

It's no wonder that Cow Chow makes more milk and better milk, for it's made of just the materials that go into milk. Scientifically made of the highest quality ingredients on the market, Cow Chow supplements your grain feed and forms the best possible milk making ration.

An extra inch of milk in the pail doesn't look like much—but it's the extra inch that often spells profits on top of production costs. Purina Cow Chow is ready to produce that extra inch—and more—for you.

Feed Cow Chow and keep tab of the extra milk and the extra profits it makes for you.

LITTLE THINGS

It takes a little muscle
And it takes a little grit,
A little true ambition
With a little bit of wit.
It's not the "biggest" things that count
And make the biggest show;
It's the little things that people do
That makes the old world go.

A little bit of smiling
And a little sunny chat,
A little bit of courage
To a comrade slipping back.
It's the little things the people do
That makes this old world go.

It takes a kindly action
And it takes a word of cheer,
To fill a life with sunshine,
And to drive away a tear.
Great things are not the "biggest" things
That makes the biggest show;
It's the little things that we may do
That makes this old world go.

Halton County Caters to One Million Buyers

The statement is frequently made that no market is as good as the home market; and of the truth of this claim Halton County is in a splendid position to judge.

With Toronto on the east, Hamilton on the west and a suburban area extending along the lake front from one city to another, the County of Halton is within driving distance of a market of a million buyers. Halton is located in the most densely populated area of the Province, and the type of agriculture practised is necessarily influenced by land values and market demands.

An illustration of this may be found along the Canadian National line between Hamilton and Toronto. Bronte will serve as a case in point. Years back, Bronte was a good shipping point for live stock—cattle, sheep and hogs. Recently a dairyman in that locality lost some cows in the tuberculin test and they were consigned to the abbatoir. The yards at Bronte were found in such a state of disrepair that the cattle were loaded with difficulty, while weighing the cattle was out of the question because years of disuse had rendered the weigh-scales altogether useless. The entire country-side is now a part of the great milkshed from which the City of Toronto draws its supply. Beef cattle and hogs are now a thing of the past.

And how the countryside along the front in Halton has changed! Thirty or forty years ago the Middle Road, which lies half way between the Dundas Highway and the Toronto-Hamilton Highway along the Lake, was the front in Halton. South of that was low, swampy land, or land so light in texture that it was not worth tilling. The Middle Road is still there, and has been designated as a third provincial highway; but along this thoroughfare the type of farming, while still substantial, is no longer the front-door variety. The gardens, the show places, the front of Halton are now located on both sides of the Toronto-Hamilton highway which is near the water's edge.

The transformation is remarkable, but still incomplete. Every year sees new gardening enterprises begun, new fruit plantations started and new palatial residences erected on the lake front. And more striking still, perhaps, are the cozy cabins, enticing booths and ornate filling stations that cater to an ever-growing tourist trade.

But with it all the natural beauty of the countryside throughout the County remains unimpaired. The so-called Mountain stands sentinel over fields and valleys, dotted with homesteads, well watered and fertile.

Halton shares with Peel County the reputation of being one huge seed centre. Alfalfa and alsike seed are produced in large quantities, but the past two or three years have been disappointing ones for the seed growers. Seed fields killed out, or having stood the winter and bloomed profusely they failed to set seed. The problem has been a baffling one, but fortunately clover is showing up splendidly this spring. It looks now as though the seed growers in Halton would have a crop this year.

Dairying in Halton has resolved itself pretty much into a fluid business with supply going largely to Toronto, but to some extent to Hamilton. The price delivered at the plant is the same in both cases, and the difference, if any, is found in the carrying charges. The prevailing price is $1.95 per can of 82¼ pounds of 3.25 per cent. milk delivered. That is the equivalent of $2.36 per cwt. The summer months are May, June, July and August. From September 1 to June 1, 1930, the average price will be $2.86 per cwt.

With a definite price established dairymen know "where they are at," so to speak, and can govern themselves accordingly. The Toronto Milk Producers' Association and the Hamilton Association have done valuable work in stabilizing prices and making good bargains with the city distributors. The dairyman supplying Hamilton think it unfair, however, that with tested herds they should be obliged to accept the same prices for milk as is paid for the untested milk going to the City of Toronto.

In company with A. P. MacVannel, the Agricultural Representative for Halton County, a "Farmer's Advocate" editor recently made several calls throughout the County. When discussing the dairying problems with W. E. Breckon in Nelson Township, a director of the Toronto Milk Producers' Association, we learned that his equipment did not include a silo. Here was a dairyman engaged in the production of milk for city consumption, a director of the largest local milk producers' association in the Province, and a man who knew the merits of different feeds carrying on without a silo. Here we thought we might find an answer to the question, why so many silos remain unfilled these days.

The answer was simple — alfalfa. Lucerne hay takes the place of silage, and Mr. Breckon declares that his feed bill for bran and other concentrates of like nature is no larger than that of other dairymen growing corn and filling silos. His production costs per cwt. of milk were as low, he said, as any of his neighbors'. Lucerne is the principal hay crop on the farm, all the fields being seeded to it.

In the same connection Mr. Breckon rather guiltily admitted that he had made hay out of sweet clover. The clover was cut with the mower, coiled up while still quite green and allowed to stand for a week. In the spirit of "giving the Devil his due" Mr. Breckon admitted that the sweet clover made good hay. It was thought to be poor quality fodder, but it had to be fed to get it out of the way. It was naturally surprising, therefore, to see the cows increasing in milk flow when this poor hay was being fed.

Mention was previously made that the summer price of milk was $1.95 per can delivered. The carrying charges on a can of milk, in Mr. Breckon's case, are 25 cents, leaving a net revenue of $1.70 per can of 82¼ pounds.

ERIN

Forty-five students commenced writing the entrance examinations at the local school, on Wednesday morning.

Mr. Monford Ridler and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Arnott of Buffalo, Mr. Cecil Ridler and son, Douglas, of Toronto, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ridler.

Last week an inspector from the Department of Agriculture called on local merchants, and left instructions that all who purchase eggs, must candle same. Merchants who purchase eggs not fit for domestic use are liable to a fine.

The trustees of the local school board have selected the following teachers for the next school term. Mr. Donald A. McNabb, of Arnprior, Ont., has been engaged as principal and comes highly recommended; Miss Babbington will again be assistant. Miss Carter has also accepted the position for another term, and Miss Martha Smith has been engaged for the junior room.—Advocate.

MILTON

Miss Agnew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Agnew, of Milton, has resigned her position as supervisor of the operating rooms at the Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, and has accepted a similar position at the Lockwood Clinic, Toronto.

Tuesday of last week was Halton county Farmers' day at the Agricultural College, Guelph, and a large representation was present from all parts of the county. Agricultural representative A. P. MacVannel was in attendance to look after the Halton visitors.

Serious facial injuries received when he fell on a sharp stone while playing in front of his home at Robertson's lime kilns on Saturday last necessitated an operation at the Guelph General Hospital, which cost Jimmie May, three-year-old son of George May, the loss of his right eye. The little lad is reported to be progressing favorably.

In its issue of June 6th the Davidson, Sask., Leader, published a picture and sketch of the life of D. Selby Hutcheon, Conservative-elect for Arm River in the recent election in Saskatchewan. Mr. Hutcheon, who is a son of D. Hutcheon, County Treasurer, of Nassagaweya Township, went West in 1902 and became one of Davidson's prominent business men. He was Mayor of the town for ten years, a member of the Board of Education for a number of years and the efficient Secretary of Willner Rural Municipality, No. 252, for some time.—Champion.

LIFE

Life! we've been long together,
Through pleasant and through cloudy weather;
'Tis hard to part when friends are dear
Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear;
Then steal away, give little warning,
Choose thine own time;
Say not "good night" but in some brighter clime
Bid me "Good morning."

—Mrs. Barbould

NOTES AND COMMENTS

WEED inspectors are out to severely check the weed menace this year. Fines from $20 to $50 for failure to comply with the weed act may be imposed. Both rural and urban properties are effected as the war is against noxious weeds.

WILL you smile and make others happy, or be crabbed and make everybody miserable? You can live among flowers and singing birds if you will. The amount of happiness which you can produce is incalculable, if you will only show a smiling face, and speak pleasant words.

HONOUR is a personal asset and one that no man parts with lightly. We read "as snow in summer and rain in harvest, so honour is not seemly for a fool." To be honoured by our fellowmen is a pleasure and one worth striving for at any time. We render honour to the good workman and to good work. We take a very real pleasure in good tools and good materials. We feel glad when honour comes to our country, our city or our side of the street. "A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country," yet one can safely prophesy that there will be over ten thousand accidents reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board in Ontario next month, and one may prophesy that accidents will be reduced in number if you and others are careful. Honour your own life and limbs; honour the lives and limbs of others by being careful. "Honour all men."

PERIODICALLY hardened criminals from across the line dash across the border and with accomplices here stage a hold-up that startles the easy-going peace-loving Canadian people. But the arm of the law is quick, as well as long, and it is a source of gratification to know that very few desperadoes or amateur criminals, native or alien, escape for very long the courts of justice in this land. There is a vigilance about our police forces and courts that make wrong doing a hazardous occupation in Canada. While the desperado may be quickly apprehended and punished there is a tendency in some districts to condone petty larceny or misdemeanor rather than lay a charge or inform the police. People are not anxious to go into court and testify, and for that reason many minor though annoying violations of the law are not properly dealt with by the authorities. Without law and order no community is a satisfactory place in which to live. The law and officers of the law are friends of human welfare and merit the support of all.
