FRIENDS

Riches come and riches go,
Stocks that rise can tumble low,
Through the fingers fortunes slip,
Storms may wreck the stoutest ship,
Only friendships tried and true
Surely last a lifetime through.

On this old terrestrial ball
Up we climb and down we fall,
By mysterious ways and strange
Fads and whims and fancies change,
But the faithful friends we make
Cling to us for friendship's sake.

Work for money, work for place,
To your duty set your face,
Play the neighbor, play the man,
Brave life's battles best you can,
But remember to the end
He is blessed who has a friend.

Misers clinging to their gold
Find life's journey bleak and cold,
Men who rise by strength alone
Soon or late are overthrown,
But when storms and trials sweep,
Friends are all a man can keep.

TIRED OUT

We used to hear that the blood got thick or thin in the spring, and we were told that the tired-out feeling which is not uncommon at that season was due to the change in the blood.

Because of this belief, it was customary every spring to indulge in an orgy of so-called spring tonics, with the idea of purifying the blood. Sulphur and molasses was the remedy of choice in the time of our grandparents for the run-down spring feeling.

The condition does occur, but the reason is not due to any change in the blood. Why does it occur? If we consider for a moment the way many people live during the winter months, we will not be surprised that there is a physical let-down towards spring. How many of your friends secure a reasonable amount of exercise and fresh air in winter. Do they regulate their eating to their lessened activities?

For the children, winter is the time for parties and late hours, for the strain of school and examinations. Instead of spending most of the day in play out of doors, they are indoors; instead of being active, they sit at desks.

The reason for the tired-out spring feeling is the manner of life we lead during the winter months. Those who do take reasonable care to have fresh air and exercise, who consider their diet, who go to bed in time to have sufficient sleep, and who are not alway on the rush at meals and to school or work—these individuals do not suffer. They are as fit during the winter as at any other time. They do not experience any special fatigue with the coming of spring.

The blood is as clean and pure in the spring as it is at any other time of the year. The composition of the blood as to thickness or thinness does not vary. The purity of the blood is controlled by certain organs of the body. The blood is altered in certain diseases, but it is not altered by the incidence of a particular season of the year.

From this, it can be seen how futile it is to drug ourselves with the idea of correcting a blood condition which does not exist, or of toning up the body when what is needed is to alter the mode of life sufficiently to allow the body to come back to normal.

Better to prevent, but if this has not been done, remember that Nature's year-round tonic is rest, fresh air, exercise, and proper food in the right amounts. It has been truly said that health is to be found in a way of life, not in a bottle of medicine.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

BITS OF HUMOUR

Quite the Contrary

"Do you think I put enough fire into my speech?"

"Oh, yes. The trouble was, you didn't put enough of the speech into the fire."

The Preliminaries

"So your son is going to be an artist? What are you doing to help him?"

Sandy: "I'm letting his hair grow; the rest is up to him."

A Happy Change

Newly-married husband: "I never was so happy before! Marriage has made a different man of me."

His late rival: "I'm glad to hear it—for your wife's sake!"

Did You Ever Stop To Think

That the town that fails to encourage the business concerns it now has will fall way behind in the March of Progress.

That when business concerns fail to use every effort to increase their business in the home town and its trade territory, they are holding back its progress.

That merchants should show the people of their community by NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING that they can supply their every want.

That people appreciate the true merit of the home town as a trading centre when the local concerns take interest enough to tell them what they have through the recognized shoppers' guide—THE NEWSPAPERS.

That newspaper ads. draw shoppers from other localities. Shopper do not come to town to buy just one article, they usually buy many articles.

That out-of-town shoppers, as well as the local shopper, should receive prompt and strict attention.

Advertising, Service, Quality and Price are the Big Attractions that Bring Them to Trade
