THE WIVES COMPLAIN

It is not surprising to find that in a number of municipalities where cash relief has been satisfied wives are asking that the voucher system be restored, inasmuch as the money that should be devoted to providing for the family is being spent on beer, tobacco and entertainment.

The fear that such a result would follow the introduction of cash relief has led the Examiner to consistently oppose the suggestion that the cash system should be adopted in Peterboro.

We are quite willing to admit that in a great many cases there would be no abuse of the privilege and in not a few the money would probably be spent to great advantage than accrued from the voucher system; on the other hand, however, there is the danger that in many instances the relief allowance, if paid in cash, would be frittered away in beverage rooms and on other non-essentials, while the families would go short of food.

That this has been the experience in those places where the cash plan has been adopted is exactly what we would have expected; human nature being what it is, the honor system cannot be depended upon in relief administration, and while it is unfortunate that the thrifty and the sensible should have to be penalized for the sake of the extravagant and the foolish, there does not seem to be any other feasible way out than to control relief so that there is reasonable assurance that the necessities of life will be provided.

The Christian at Prayer

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson, October 21st

GOLDEN TEXT: "Continuing instant in prayer." Romans 12: 12.

LESSON PASSAGE: Matthew 6: 5-15

If radio's slim fingers
Can pluck a melody
From night, and toss it over
A continent or sea;
If the petaled white notes
Of a violin
Are blown across the mountains
Or the city's din;
If songs, like crimson roses,
Are culled from thin blue air—
Why should mortals wonder
If God hears prayer.

—Ethel Romig Fuller.

Public Prayer, 5

There is an incalculable amount of public prayer. No one can estimate the amount of prayer around the world in one week, not even in Christian meetings. It is a supremely dangerous practice. Jesus knew this. He had seen people who had come to care more for publicity than for prayer itself. There are subtle dangers for those who habitually lead in public prayer, according to calendar and clock. They may say words without feeling, and care more for high sounding phrases than for moral and spiritual values. To detect these dangers is the first step toward overcoming them. Jesus warns against these dangers of public prayer but he defined that there should be more and better prayer. Prayer focuses social purpose and leads to united action. If all the worshippers have prepared themselves spiritually for the high art of prayer, the presence of the Holy Spirit will be felt and the leader may bring all into the presence of the Unseen. Instead of being frightened to attempt public prayer because of its dangers and difficulties, we should discipline ourselves that we may worthily approach the Most High.

Private Prayer, 6

Not all are qualified to lead in public prayer, but all may pray in private. Here, too, preparation and training are necessary to receive the maximum benefit from prayer. Quiet and solitude enhance the value of prayer. It is possible to pray amid exploding bombs and busy streets, but normally we do better if we have perfect silence. Special times are a help, night or morning, or after the midday meal for busy housewives with children. Sacred places add to the sanctity of prayer, places with personal associations, a certain room, a pew in the church, under a tree or on a hill top. Jesus often went alone for prayer. Early in the morning he would go out on the hillside to pray to the Father in secret. In the Garden of Gethsemane he prayed on into the night. As important as solitariness is mental detachment. It is idle to escape from the busy world if we carry the world in our thoughts. Prayer is concentration, wrestling against some one temptation or for some blessing, having unbroken fellowship with God. The door of mind and heart must be closed as well as the door of a room. Private prayer does not always need to be long, but it does need to be intense.

Prayer Language, 7, 8

Every interest in life develops its own vocabulary. Motoring, flying and radio have produced phraseology of their own. There is a language of prayer, words of beauty with heightened feeling and suggesting pictures. Of course, colloquial language is often used in prayer and earnest people pouring out their hearts to God in a crisis may not pause to select devotional words. Yet a life of prayer does lead to the use of a certain form of language containing many echoes of the Bible, prayer books, poems and hymns. There is a classical literature of prayer handed down from saints and mystics with which we do well to be familiar, and there are modern books of prayer that repay our study. One thing to avoid is any suggestion of what is crude or coarse. Nor should we use too often the same words and phrases, no matter how beautiful they be. Prayer is a process of moral and mental discipline even as to choice of words and ideas. Through practice some develop a natural rhythm in prayer. The most important thing is that the prayer should be sincere, hot from the heart and conscious of the majesty of God. A study of the prayers of the Bible will enrich our vocabulary for prayer.

The Lord's Prayer, 9-13

Our best example as to prayer is the prayer that Jesus taught his disciples to pray, the Lord's Prayer. It is significant that there is only one thing that we know the disciples asked Jesus to teach them to do. They asked him to teach them to pray and the Lord's Prayer is the result. It is very brief, only a few dozen words in English. It is a social prayer—no singular personal pronoun is used. It is a missionary prayer beseeching the coming of God's kingdom. It is a spiritual prayer dealing with the deepest realities of the inner life. It is a God-centred prayer addressed to our Father in heaven and willing that his will be done. The Lord's Prayer is a miracle of condensed expression and expanding truths. Though it has been repeated many billions of times throughout nineteen centuries it is not shopworn or out of date. It repays our study when we think it through. Always, as we pray it, we should think it, and we should refuse, in public prayer, to gallop through it as though the chief aim is to make record time. An actor once recited the Lord's Prayer and a Christian man said, "I never heard that prayer before." The pulpit may learn a lesson from the stage as to noise and dignity in speech.

Prayer Principles, 14

Prayer is so natural and instructive that we do not need to be taught to pray, but we do need to be taught how to pray. To talk to God is as simple an act of devotion as for a child to talk to its parents. Its naturalness has been compared to that of breathing. The result of prayer depends upon our sincerity and reality in prayer. If we pray for forgiveness for ourselves while nursing hate against others, we defeat our own prayers. But if we are ready to live more nearly as we pray, we set in motion powers and forces that tend to answer our own prayers. If we are natural and genuine in prayer, without pretense or self-deception, we bring health to our spirits, energy to our wills and light breaks upon our darkness. Here, as everywhere else, or supreme example is Christ. To pray as he prayed and for the things for which he prayed is to find in prayer an open door to God.

Questions for Discussion

1. What prayer habits have you found most helpful?
2. Which do you find more profitable, public or private prayer?
3. How may we correct the abuses or misuses of the Lord's Prayer?
4. In prayer should we think chiefly of ourselves or of God?
5. Is prayer psychology automatic?

TERRA COTTA

Mr. George Whitney is going into the wood business quite extensively and has a large gang of men sawing wood.

Messrs. Roy and Lorne Miller had a narrow escape while in the act of drilling a hole in rock in the quarries. It appears that the blast has not exploded but went off while they were drilling, throwing them for a considerable distance. Their eyes were badly disfigured and they received some bad bruises, but we are pleased to learn they are both able to be on deck again.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Eady have moved to Cheltenham.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Geo Eves is on the sick list at present and hope soon to hear of his complete recovery.

We understand that Mr. W. J. Rutledge has sold his farm, known as the "Pine Grove," on the 10th line, recently, to Mr. Martin, who's farm joins it near the fishery.

BALLINAFAD

The Happy Helpers' Mission Band held their October meeting in the church on Saturday afternoon with Margaret Sinclair presiding. In the absence of the secretary, Joanna Shortill was appointed to that office. In connection with the scripture lesson Alma McInary told a very interesting story entitled "Working together for God's house." The study theme was "School children in China" taken by Mrs. Aitken and the story "The Doctor's Way" was given by Edith Warne. A solo "Beautiful Valley of Eden" was sung very sweetly by Reta Allan and Marguerite Kentner gave a very interesting item in connection with the Broadcast. The band is preparing for their Autumn Thank-offering which will be held on Friday 26th.

The young people's society held their reorganization meeting on Tuesday evening and officers were elected for the coming year. It was arranged to hold a social evening in the former Methodist church on Friday, Oct. 19th.

OBITUARY

JAMES C. SPERS

Mrs. Johnston Spers, 15th line, Erin, received word last week of the death in a London, England, hospital of her son James Clarence, aged 36. He was born in Erin and received his education at Hinkson Public School and Erin Continuation School. In 1916 he enlisted with the 8th Grenadier Guards. He served in France for over a year and was twice wounded. At the conclusion of the war he returned to Canada with his bride, formerly Edith Brown of Burlston, England. Later they returned to England, where they have since resident. Besides his widow, a family of two daughters and one son survive in England. His aged mother, four brothers, John of Toronto, Charles Nennis and Ewart of Erin, and one sister, Mrs. Frank Wonder of Erin, also survive.

NEW ROAD EXPERIMENT

Down in Essex county an experiment is to be made with a new type of road surfacing called a "salt road." In order to build this type of road a chemical analysis is taken to determine the gravel and clay content of the roadbed. After the surface has been scarified to a depth of about three inches the required amount of salt is mixed in the consolidated. The result is a road similar to concrete in point of hardness and durability, it is claimed. A number of roads of this types were put in in the state of Michigan a year ago and have stood up well under traffic. Winter frosts have not affected them either, it is said. It is claimed that repairs are easily made as all that is required is an application of the mixture of salt and gravel to any depressions or pot-holes that might be caused by heavy traffic. It is dustless and only requires an available water supply while it is being constructed. This style of surfacing is to be tried out in Simcoe county also. Chairman of the county roads commission says that an experiment will be made on a mile of road, just where has not yet been decided. If it measures up to the claims made for it, this kind of road would provide a fairly durable surface at small cost.

DOCTOR SAYS EXERCISE DOES NOT REDUCE WEIGHT

"Some women, in addition to enduring the martyrdom of limiting food also engage in gymnastic exercises under the impression that exercise causes muscles to be used up, writes a doctor in the British New Health Magazine. This is very bad physiology, for exercise has the opposite effect. The more the muscles are exercised, the more they grow in bulk. It is a case of response to stimulus by functional hypertrophy. The biceps of the blacksmith (whether beneath a spreading chestnut tree or not) will thicken the more he hammers the metal, and the leg muscles of the ballet-dancer will bulge out the more vigorously she dances. Only in phyiology starvation, in disuse atrophy and in definite disease can muscles be made to diminish in size.

Another popular belief is that hot baths are "thinning." This also is not correct, the heat of the bath causes a great loss of body heat through the excessive perspiration, but this loss of water is compensated by the large quantity of water usually drunk during and after the bath. Neither baths nor massage cause muscles to diminish in size."

Endorsed

"Please endorse the cheque, madam," said the teller.

"Why, but my husband just gave it to me," She replied.

"Yes, madam, but sign your name on the back so your husband will know we paid you."

A few moments later she handed the teller the cheque endorsed: "Your loving wife, Ethel. XXX."

AFTER OPERATION SHE GREW

And Became Short-Winded

A letter just received from a woman states that she is writing in thanks for the benefit she has received. Her letter goes on:

"About 12 months ago everybody remarked how fat I was getting. I turned the scale at 156 lbs. I was fed up at getting so fat, and it made me short-winded. Why they noticed it more was because I was getting fat slowly since I had had an operation for appendix. I went back to the hospital, and the doctor said most women get fat after that operation. I had tried everything I knew of to try and get slim, so I thought I would give Kruschen Salts a trial. I started at first to take half the dose prescribed, in my first cup of tea. Nine months ago, I turned the scale at 156 lbs., and at the time of writing I go 126 lbs. I feel better than I have felt for a long time."—(Mrs.) H.

The formula of Kruschen represents the ingredient salts of the mineral waters of those European Spas which have been used by generations of overstout people to reduce weight. Gently, but surely, Kruschen rids the system of all fat-forming food refuse, of all poisons and harmful acids which give rise to rheumatism, headaches, and many other ills.

LIMEHOUSE

(Received too late for last issue)

The Women's Institute and friends were royally entertained on Friday evening last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Millyard, Jr. in Brampton. Mrs. Wm. Goody, the president, was in the chair, and after the regular business had been disposed of, a splendid program was enjoyed by all, after which lunch was served.

On Monday afternoon last week, while splitting wood in the bush, Mr. Denis Hill gave his foot a bad gash, which required medical attention. We are glad, however, that he is able to be about, and the cut is healing up nicely.

Potato digging is occupying a good deal of the farmer's and gardener's time these days. The yield is much better than anticipated earlier in the season and of good quality. The gardeners around the village are vying with each other as to who can show the largest potato. Other roots and vegetables are turning out well too.

Communion season was observed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last and there was the largest attendance for several seasons.

Quite a number from the United Church here attended anniversary services at Glen Williams church on Sunday.

The Limehouse Orchestra held a box social at the home of Mr. Fred Becker last Thursday night. Those who attended had a good time and enjoyed the music, but the crowd was not as large as might have been. Better luck next time boys, and don't forget to advertise.

Mr. Mark Olven was successful in bringing home several prizes from Georgetown Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Brooks and Albert expect soon to home to their new home on the farm on the Town Line, between Erin and Esquesing. Their younger son, Fred, will remain on the home place.

Miss Winnifred Ivens of Toronto spent the week end and holiday with her sisters, Mrs. Gale and Mrs. Newton.

Mr. Gordon Sutherland of Vancouver and Dr. Lindsay Sutherland of Halifax are visiting their father and aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Meredith and daughter of Toronto visited Mrs. A. Meredith over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Greig and son of Brantford spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. John Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Law and family of Toronto were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Hill on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lane and daughters of Toronto spent the holiday and week end with Mrs. Robt. Lane.

THE PROPER CARE OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

Fenders

THE most common mishap among motorists is of a minor nature, damage to fenders, but is one which is liable to develop into a more serious matter if neglected. When fenders become scratched or scraped they should be retouched promptly to prevent rusting, because if neglected the rust is liable to eat its way through the metal. If the fender is black, it should be finished with an enamel which dries with a color and lustre closely resembling the newly baked enamel.

Before the scraped parts are retouched the metal should be thoroughly cleaned to remove all grease, dirt and rust. If the edges of the abrasion are smoothed down with fine sandpaper or steel wool it will give a better looking job.

It is wise, also, to retouch worn spots on the tire carrier, bumper fittings, shock absorbers, and other parts which are finished in black. If you also touch up bolts and nuts which are used for installing bumpers, license plates, etc., it will be easier, to remove the nuts should they need replacement.

HEALTH SELDOM COMES BY CHANCE TO PERSONS OVER THIRTY

Good health cannot be taken for granted any more than a good income can. So few persons over thirty it is just as smart and business like to plan to enjoy good health as it is to plan to enjoy a good income. And it's just as much a matter of plain common sense to check upon yourself.

In health, your shortcomings are, at first, likely to be those annoying, not exactly well feelings. At such times, if your blood were tested it would most likely be found "low in count". This means a shortage of red corpuscles and the corpuscles the positive chief of haemoglobin. Make up this double shortage, and you'll come up to normal health again. Neglect it and serious results may follow.

Observing, in his practice, the importance of keeping the vitality of the blood up to normal, a Canadian authority originated a blood building preparation which has been helping run down people back to health for nearly half a century. This preparation, now known the world over as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, definitely increases the blood "count" in the majority of cases, thereby restoring vitality, steadying nerves, imparting strength and toning up the whole system. So the person over thirty who finds good health slipping, is well advised to take at least a 30day treatment of this excellent remedy. The element of chance has been practically eliminated in such a treatment, because tests recently made to an authority in a clinic of 40 people, proved conclusively by individual blood "count" that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills certainly improve the health by enriching the blood.
