OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE WRIGGLESWORTH

The death of Mrs. George Wrigglesworth, widow of the late George Wrigglesworth, whose maiden name was Mary McIlwell, at the home of her son, Mr. Frank Wrigglesworth, at Erin on Monday, Oct. 14th, removed an old and highly respected resident of Georgetown and district for many years. Deceased was born in Meadowvale, and after her marriage resided in Esquesing and Georgetown all her life until moving to Toronto in 1922. She was a member of the United Church. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. R. C. Cowles of Toronto, and four sons, Frank of Erin, George Alfred of Toronto, Walter of Rockwood and Harold of Toronto, also nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Many relatives and friends from Georgetown, Toronto, Guelph and Esquesing, attended the funeral on Wednesday of last week when the remains were interred in Greenwood cemetery, Georgetown. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Ward of Bellcountain.

NEVILLE JEPSON

A bright and promising young life was ended on Tuesday last, when Neville, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jepson, passed away after an illness of about two weeks duration. Neville had just passed his twenty-first birthday on Monday, and his sudden and untimely death came as a great shock to the entire community. Deceased was of a quiet disposition and a clean living young man, highly respected by all who knew him. Not only will he be greatly missed in his home, but by his chums and many friends. Neville was born in Centerville, Albion Township, October 14th, 1914, and came to Georgetown with his parents in 1918. He attended Georgetown Public School and at the time of his death was a valued employee at Smith & Stone Ltd. Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Hugh Dickie, Miss Edna, and Alex (Dick) all of Georgetown. The large number of young men who attended his funeral and the very beautiful floral offerings bore the testimony of the high esteem in which Neville was held in the community. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon from his house on Arletta St. to Greenwood cemetery, the Rev. F. C. Overend of the United Church conducting the service. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Carl Hyde, Harold Mitchie, Jos. Hall, Jr., George Sargent, Robert Reeve and Walter McGilvray.

Anniversary Services at United Church

INSPIRING MESSAGES BY REV. ROBERT GRAHAM, B.A.—LARGE CONGREGATIONS AT BOTH SERVICES

SUPPER AND CONCERT MONDAY EVENING

A most successful anniversary of Georgetown United Church was held on Sunday and Monday, October 20 and 21. Large audiences gathered on Sunday in the church, which had been beautifully decorated by the young people. The choir, assisted by Mrs. Robt. Metzler, soprano soloist of Philadelphia, provided music of a high order.

Owing to the severe illness of Mrs. Davidson, Rev. Principal Davidson of Emmanuel College, was unable to be present. His place was ably taken by the Rev. Robt. Graham, B.A., assistant editor of the New Outlook, who gave very helpful and inspiring messages both morning and evening.

In the morning the text was "In that day shall there be upon the bells of the horses Holiness unto the Lord." The central thought was that all work undertaken should be done as an act of worship, and that neither man nor beast should be set to a task over which could not be written, "Holiness unto the Lord."

In the evening Mr. Graham based his address on Isaiah 38: 16, "by these things shall men live." He showed how life must be nourished physically, mentally, emotionally and spiritually, and that the ultimate source of nourishment for all life is found in Jesus Christ.

On Monday evening, in spite of the forbidding weather, a large number sat down to tables artistically decorated with golden scorn, oak leaves and autumn flowers, and enjoyed the delicious supper provided by the ladies of the church. After supper, the guests repaired to the auditorium of the church for the evening's program. Mrs. Robt. Metzler, soprano; Mr. Douglas Thorne, baritone, and the choir contributed several enjoyable numbers. Rev. George Dickson, M. Th., D.D. of Metropolitan United Church, Toronto, then delighted the audience with a lecture sparkling with wit and humor, on the subject "Successful Failures." The outstanding thought of the lecture was that it was not in reaching the top, but in selfless service to others along the journey of life.

BENGAL LANCER SETTINGS TAKEN IN REAL LOCALE

Rhapsodized in score of books and lusty soldier songs, the steep, carved sides of India's historic Khyber Pass have at last been used as motion picture background.

"The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" has materialized from the interesting pen of Francis Yeats-Brown's adventurous novel. The elaborate Paramount film spectacle is at the Gregory Theatre, Georgetown, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 24th and 25th, with Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell, Sir Guy Standing, C. Aubrey Smith, Monte Blue and Kathleen Burke in important roles.

Don't miss this excellent picture on the holiday afternoon and evening, also on Friday night.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Neville Jepson wish to express their sincere thanks to friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy extended to them during their recent sad bereavement.

A very exciting game took place at the bowling green on Saturday, Oct. 19th when the Rinkey-Dinks defeated the All Stars by a score of 19 to 12. It was a hard fought game and only the fact that the Rinkey Dinks were in the pink of condition saved them form defeat.

On Thanksgiving Day, weather permitting a jitney will be held, commencing at 2 p.m. Mixed rinks. Everybody invited.

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, October 23—The selection of a cabinet is the first of many problems to be faced by the incoming premier, Mackenzie King. The election of 175 followers, with every province represented, has made the geographical representation in the cabinet relatively simple. There is a wealth of material to choose from. In the past many a mediocre member has found himself in the Cabinet simply because he was the least impossible representative of a part of the country which had not sent more than two or three government members to Ottawa. But in all provinces except Alberta Mr. Mackenzie King has a choice which includes one or two men of experience and capacity at least; and in Ontario Quebec and the Maritimes there is a positive plethora of talent waiting to be chosen. This wealth is not without its embarrassment either. There are a number of party veterans, who have been in cabinets before, who are old friends, and who demand attention. Their supporters and their provinces urge that they be placed in the cabinet. But at a time like this, with urgent and weighty problems to be solved and the policies of Liberalism to be put into effect as rapidly and effectively as possible, Mr. Mackenzie King has to avoid loading up his ministry with men whose best days are past; and whose Liberalism has waned.

End of Sectional Influence

One happy effect of the large Liberal majority is the ending of undue sectional influence. In those earlier Liberal governments only a solid Quebec enabled the King government to exist; and whether true or not it was always felt in some quarters that Mr. King was unduly influenced by the French members. In 1931-35 there were times when other parts of Canada thought the government was unduly influenced by a small number of members from the West who held the balance of power. Now Mr. King holds office by virtue of a large representation from every economic area in Canada; and cannot very well be charged with undue concern for one part at the expense of another, for political reasons, at least. And the existence of eight Liberal provincial governments gives the government a golden opportunity for swift and decisive action along many fronts. Only an unfriendly Senate stands in the way, and with such an overwhelming majority in the Commons it is probable that the Senate will be careful about anything which ever appears to be obstruction.

If the new government is able to carry out its pledges the country can look for a period of intense activity. A great many things are waiting to be done. Trade negotiations will be carried on with the United States, with Japan and with the British Commonwealth of Nations. Afterwards, also with other nations, the idea being the enlargement of all legitimate means of Canada's international trade. The Ottawa agreements will be amended in such a way as to allow Canada to regain control over the lowering of its tariffs. Numerous trade restrictions and obnoxious regulations will be abolished, and the power now vested in the executive to raise tariffs by arbitrary valuation and other means will be removed.

Marketing Act Amendments

Amendments may be expected at the first session to the Marketing Act. The power of the executive to restrict or ban import or export trade in regulated products will be taken away, it is expected; and the imposition of a jail sentence for failure to obey the regulations of a local board will also be eliminated. Another clause which the Liberals vigorously protested was that which found a producer guilty unless he could prove himself innocent, if he was charged with having goods produced in a regulated area. This is certain to go.

The abolition of Section 98 is on the program and unquestionably will be passed by the Commons at the first session. What the Senate will do to it is another matter. It may be recalled that it was placed on the statute books at the instance of the man who now leads the opposition forces in the Senate—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Improvement of Canada's electoral laws so that they more nearly represent the wishes of the people is also one of the pledges of the Liberal party. Proportional representation for the cities and the single transferable vote for the rural areas are the two reforms most often mentioned in this connection.

The lowering of duties will, probably, be most noticeable on textiles, boots and shoes, gasoline, automobiles, certain electrical apparatus, radios, farm machinery, fertilizer, barbed wire, fishing tackle and equipment and other requirements of primary production.

ASHGROVE

On Tuesday, October 15th, the Women's Institute held their meeting at the home of Mrs. James Barnes with a good attendance. The motto, "If you want to keep the country clean, let every woman sweep before her own door;" some interesting thoughts were given on this by Mrs. Milton Bird. The roll call was answered by a first aid hint, and the paper on "Do's and Don'ts for the Sick Room," by Mrs. Walter Brownridge was well thought out. Miss Jean Fisher gave a splendid reading, and pleasing musical numbers were sung by Mrs. M. Guy Wilson of Norval and Mrs. Hector Bird. A helpful and indeed, practical demonstration on making a bed for a sick person, was carried out by Mrs. M. Alexander of Norval. A social half-hour was enjoyed.

The "Bright Star" Mission Band held their first meeting on Saturday afternoon.

The Young People's Society held a special temperance meeting on Sunday night and were privileged to have Miss Duff of Toronto, travelling secretary of the W.C.T.U., as guest speaker. Her earnest and timely message brought a ringing challenge to the young people to go forward more seriously in this great cause. We were pleased to have the young people from Hornby Y.P.S. join us in this meeting.

PAULINE LORD'S PERFORMANCE AS "MRS. WIGGS" HIGH EPOY OF FILM VERSION OF CLASSIC

With Pauline Lord, one of America's foremost stage actresses, in the title role and W. C. Fields and Zasu Pitts in the other principal featured roles, Paramount's delightful picturisation of the immortal "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," is coming to the Gregory Theatre on Saturday next, Oct. 26th. It brings to the lovers of both the story and the play an extraordinarily convincing and moving elimination of the tale, through the medium of competent acting by a host of talented players and the excellent direction of Norman Taurog.

After having resisted the lures of the motion pictures for years Miss Lord finally capitulated for the opportunity of playing "Mrs. Wiggs" and plays the quaint motherly and whimsical character with such charm and definess that we venture to predict that she will soon be in the forefront of Hollywood's star character players.

W. C. Fields, fresh from his recent starring triumphs, is teamed with Zasu Pitts. These two, as the maiden lady and the mail-order answer to her prayer for a husband, provide the film with its uproarious comedy.

But that is not the end of good things. There are five of Hollywood's juvenile stars cast in the roles of "Mrs. Wiggs" numerous progeny, including Jimmy Butler and George Breakston, who were recently seen in "No Greater Glory," and little Virginia Weidler as the unforgettable child who threatens to hold her breath until she gets black in the face.

The story is too well known to everyone to demand even a brief synopsis here, but let us warn you to prepare for side-splitting laughter when the "Wiggses" dress up to go to the theatre, and for genuine tears at the moving scene of Jimmy's death.

No one should fail to see this very fine and amusing picture at the Gregory on Saturday.

TERRA COTTA

Mr. C. McNally spent Sunday with friends in Grand Valley.

Mr. Roy Puckering met with a painful accident in the quarrie recently, when he had one of his fingers fractured in several places, and will be laid up for some time.

Mr. D. Stamp also met with a serious accident in the quarrie, when he had his toe fractured.

Miss Alma Atkinson of the 5th line, who is in the hospital for an operation on her throat, we are pleased to learn, is on the road to recovery.

Our young people have organized a card club for Terra Cotta, which meets we understand every Friday.

Master Jackie Burgess of the 10th line had the misfortune of falling out of an apple tree and fracturing his arm. We sincerely hope that he will soon be able to be around again.

Opportunity knocked on some doors here in the town recently and the householders, thinking it was the brush salesman, went right on playing contract bridge and didn't answer the door-bell.
