Social and Personal

Mrs. Vance Kentner returned home on Sunday from a visit in Claybank, Saskatchewan with Mr. and Mrs. R. Welch and family.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Blackstone of Oak Park, Illinois, were visitors last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Darlington.

Miss Shirley Rabbage, who has returned to her studies at the University of Alberta in Edmonton, was a recent visitor in town with her sister, Mrs Leslie Ellis.

Miss Jean Harley left by plane on Sunday morning from Malton Airport to spend a couple of weeks with the Ostrom family at Port Arthur. Rev. J. E. Ostrom is a former pastor of Georgetown Baptist Church.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Stiles and family of Bracebridge were visitors in the district last week-end, making their headquarters with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hunter at Norval. Dr. Stiles, a former local veterinary, moved to Bracebridge last spring.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Clark over the week-end were Squadron Leaders John T. McCutcheon, DFC, AFC, Montreal, Weir Klassen, DSO, DFC, of Edmonton and S. Wiseman of Ottawa. The four men flew together during the war, and the three are at present stationed near Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coventry and family of Pittsburgh, Pa., called last week to visit in town with Miss A. Coventry and Mrs. John O'Neill. Mr. Coventry, who is the son of a cousin of the ladies, is a sanitary engineer employed by the city of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. F. Cameron of Cleveland, Ohio, has been visiting in town with her sisters, Mrs. Mary Morrow and Mrs. Charles Hoare. She brought with her little Sandra Lee Williams, who attends a nursery school in Cleveland conducted by Mrs. Cameron. During her trip to Canada, Mrs. Cameron is also visiting with her mother, Mrs. George Kelly of Orangeville, who recently celebrated her 90th birthday.

A DAY DREAM

Midst the pines a whispering breeze is blowing,
High in the sky there's a moon
a-gleam;
Down through the glen there's a streamlet flowing, Reflecting back every silvery gleam.

There's a moss-grown path where the dew is falling,
A path where the lovers used to stray.
And there's muted notes of the night birds calling,
In fancy again we are there today.

The setting sun in its matchless
glory,
Is bathing the peaks of the towering ben,
Blotting the ache from the years,
and their story,
The changing years that have flown since then.

Since last we saw the mists of the morning,
And the bloom on the heather that mantles the ben;
The blue bells, the paths in the pine grove adorning,
The beauty, majestic that reigns in the glen.

Just for a moment, lost in daydreaming,
But we must forget them whatever betide;
A ribbon of road-way with traffic is teeming, Somehow we must cross to the other side.
