Baha'is Believe

IN AN ANSWER TO CRISIS

Mankind today is suspended between two worlds: one that is dying and the other that is struggling to be born.

The real battle is not in Jordan, Hungary or Arkansas, it is in the human soul. It does not concern Capitalism or Communism, rather it involves our willingness to respond to the spirit of racial and religious unity which is stirring in human hearts everywhere.

In the Baha'i Faith this spirit has become a powerful living answer to the challenge of our times.

If you would enjoy an invitation to an evening discussion, or would like more information please let us hear from you.

Brown-Hancock Wedding In Grace Church, Brampton

Grace United Church at Brampton was decorated with standards of yellow and white chrysanthemums and white satin bows marked the guest pews for the marriage of Gail Margarette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hancock, Glen Williams, when she became the bride of Roy Henry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown of Brampton.

Rev. K. Stringer officiated at the ceremony on September 24 at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Bert Dixon of Glen Williams was the soloist singing O Perfect Love and O Promise Me. Mrs. Hetherington was the organist who accompanied her and played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she chose a gown of white organza with pearl trim on white appliqued flowers. Her finger-tip veil was caught with a pearl and diamond tiarra shaped crown. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings to match the groom's gift. She carried a white bible with red roses and streamers.

Miss Donna Dixon was maid of honour in a street length gown of aqua organza fashioned on princess lines. Her head dress was a crown of pearls from which fell a veil which matched her gown. Bridesmaids were Darlene Billings, Marsha Haddock, Sandy Marchment, all girl friends of the bride. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honour in shades of pink, mauve, and yellow with headdresses to match their gowns. Each wore pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from the bride and all carried colonial bouquets of white carnations with ribbons to match their gowns.

The groom and his attendants wore evening suits with white carnation boutonniere. The groom presented his attendants with tie and cuff link sets. The groomsman was Bill Talbot with Tom Fischer and Ted Verhaegen and Ron Hedley as ushers.

Bonnie Hancock, sister of the bride was flower girl in a dress of blue nylon, her head band was of flowers and she carried a basket of red roses and stephanotis. Master Wallace Brown nephew of the groom was ring bearer wearing a suit the same as the groom and his attendants.

Mrs. Hancock received for her daughter at a reception at the Yellow Brian Inn, Brampton, in a dusky rose crepe gown with navy and mauve accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations and lily of the valley. Mrs. Brown assisted her wearing a silver blue silk suit with white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left on a honeymoon to Cape Cod and other points. She chose for going away a gown of green chiffon with white accessories. They will make their home in Brampton.

Guests attended from Guelph, Toronto, Brampton and Glen Williams.

Speaker Tells Ladies of Elizabeth Fry Society

The Local Council of Women had a lovely treat on Thursday of last week when they were the luncheon guests of Mrs. Kiteley at her cabin in its beautiful autumn setting. After the pleasant luncheon the guest speaker Mrs. J. R. Rutherford of the Elizabeth Fry Society, Toronto, was introduced. She spoke of the origin of the society, its aims and the work currently carried on.

She mentioned particularly the rehabilitation of women prisoners, the causes of the crimes and the effort to educate the public into taking action to help these women. She told many stories of the results of work accomplished. Mrs. Rutherford told the ladies that Georgetown had made a wonderful contribution to the society in the person of one of their very capable, hard-working Board Members, Mrs. William Kelly, the former Betty Paul, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Paul.

Mrs. F. W. Johnson expressed the appreciation of all present to their guest. A short business session followed with Mrs. Floria Nodwell giving the treasurer's report and Miss Hettie Lawson reading the correspondence. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Nodwell were appointed as a nominating committee to bring in a slate of officers. Mrs. Johnson read a report from the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Mrs. J. Kerr and Mrs. F. Nodwell assisted Mrs. Kiteley with the buffet luncheon.

Boss to voluptuous secretary: "Take the afternoon off, Miss Wiggles — I want to think."

Objects to Any Sale Of Treed Park Land

101 Main Street South
October 21st, 1960

Dear Sir:

I imagine that the native Georgetowner is pretty proud of the great maples which line the streets of the old town. At least, I think he would create something of a fuss if some enterprising businessman were to make an offer to council for their purchase and removal for conversion into flooring, veneer and dollars.

It is, therefore, in the earnest hope that the citizens of this town are not so lacking either in appreciation of its very real natural beauty, or the desire to preserve it against the ravages of the developer, subdivider and similar entrepreneurs, that they will allow a present bid of this kind to escape their vigilance.

I refer, of course, to the report in this week's Herald under the heading "What Council Did" of an enquiry by a local law firm on behalf of a client, about purchasing a 4.2 acre property across from Park School!

To those who think only in terms of the dollar, I imagine this enquiry is one of considerable attraction in terms of added assessments and taxes, store customers, church members and the like, according to one's fancy, and all in terms of now. After all, we can plead with our consciences that the town gets nothing out of this land — in dollars of course.

May I suggest the hope that the older citizens of town, whose forbearers planted a forest of trees for the endless comfort and pleasure of succeeding generations, take the lead by immediate action to block every attempt to violate the land lying all about the Park School for multiple or any other form of dwellings.

On the other hand, let the said natives and citizens as a whole, set a vigorous example by leading a campaign to restrict this land and all its wonderful trees, for sole use as the beautiful natural park it is. Let them avail themselves of the foresight of those who, years ago, did the same thing for the great cities of the world like Paris, Brussels, London, which were small towns once. What about New York, Toronto and Hamilton? Huge tracts of park land were set apart in these cities, often in the hearts of them, for the perpetual enjoyment of the common people.

The land stretching out and about the Park School and new hospital would cost something to develop and perhaps even more needs to be purchased by the town for the purpose, but there is no need to do more at the present than ensure its sufficiency and its preservation.

Perhaps council should give the first lead bearing in mind not only the aesthetic requirements of the town of Georgetown, but of the city it will become.

Let it never be said by those who come later, that we of this generation sold their birthright for a mess of pottage!

It would be interesting to hear your views on this subject, Mr. Editor, and perhaps those of the good folk of Georgetown whose ancestors planted these maples. Or would we sell them too, if the bid were high enough?

Yours very truly,
H. N. Martyn.

WINTER'S READY FOR US! ARE WE READY FOR WINTER?

Well, we've seen the first snow and it's so early this year. It's an indication of a long winter ahead, but how many of us are prepared right now for winter driving?

Really, October is not too early to think of winterizing the car and there are quite a few things to check and repair.

Antifreeze and Snow Tires come to everyone's mind of course, but what about a battery and ignition system check, exhaust, steering and transmission, engine tune-up and etc.

The best way to ensure a proper preparation for winter is to see a competent service man.

They'll fix your car the way you want it, and you look look ahead to snow, sleet, and cold without worry. Call one today.

Plan Crack-Down on Lotteries Over $50

Halton county police chiefs have been instructed by crown attorney Peter McWilliams to crack down on charitable and religious groups offering lottery prizes worth more than $50.

"Some prizes offered by county organizations are worth up to $5,000," the crown attorney said. He asked the chiefs to warn offending groups before cracking down.
