Red Cross Volunteers Prove an Active Group

By Nancy Lyttle

In October of 1962 the Senior Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, helped to organize the Georgetown and District High School Volunteen Programme. Miss M. Roszel of the High School was their advisor and Miss Sally Thornton of the Public Health Unit assisted in giving them pointers on organization. On July 6th, Miss Barbara Hildebrandt was sent to the Junior Red Cross Camp at Bolton, Ontario, as Georgetown's representative.

On September 21st and 22nd the Georgetown and District Branch had a display booth at the Fall Fair and the Junior and Senior Branch worked together on that project.

A meeting was held in October at the High School and Mrs. Platt, Supervisor of Junior Red Cross for Secondary Schools gave an outline to the students on how to form a committee.

In November, Mrs. Kenny, the Junior Red Cross Supervisor for Elementary Schools and Director of Crippled and Handicapped Children visited Holy Cross and Chapel Street Schools to explain Junior Red Cross programmes to the children. To get the Volunteens on their feet, the Senior Branch assisted them in sponsoring a Lucky Draw in December; it consisted of a 32" Home Nursing Doll dressed in $1 bills, and also a transistor radio. The doll was won by Mrs. Vickie Lay and the radio by Miss Mary Solyom, a grade 10 student at the High School. The proceeds from this project were $32.87.

I inquired around at the various schools in town in December, for children who were sick and unable to go to school for a period time, from this list. Christmas cards were sent on behalf of the executive. Around Christmas time, the Senior Branch presented the Junior Red Cross Volunteens with a scrapbook so they could start recording their various activities.

A Teen Home Nursing Course had to be postponed to a later date due to examinations and extra activities with the Volunteens.

Badges of service were presented at the Second Annual Red Cross Evening in June by former mayor Doug Sargent for recognition of conducting Junior Red Cross sessions in their class rooms for a number of years. They were as follows: Miss H. R. Hall, Mrs. Oliver McEachern, Miss Margaret Roszel, Mrs. Ruth Wrigglesworth.

Escapes Drowning in Ditch When Small Car Flips Over

According to Chinguacousy Township police, Ronald Gordon, 334 Queen St S., Streetsville, was lucky to escape drowning Saturday when his 1957 Moris flipped over into a water-filled ditch on the 4th Line W. just east of Norval.

Gordon was treated for back injuries at Peel Memorial Hospital and released.

At the time of the accident, police stated, the Gordon car had been southbound when it hit a 70-foot stretch where water was crossing the road.

Property damage estimated at $225 was the result of a two car crash on the Sixth Line West at the entrance of the bridge south of Norval. The cars were operated by Bob Burk, R R 2, Norval, and Clifford Burt, 123 Main St. N., of Georgetown. Both drivers escaped injury.

A car driven by V. R. Billings, R R 1, Terra Cotta, went into a skid as it crossed the CNR tracks on 27 Sideroad early Tuesday morning. The car struck a tree and then shot back and collided with a fence. Damage to the 1962 Corvair was estimated at $125.

Local Women's Institute Plan 60th Anniversary

Georgetown Women's Institute met in Knox Hall, Wednesday evening, March 6th, with an attendance of 24 members and four visitors. President Mrs. Matthews was in the chair.

The resignation of Mrs. Evans as Historical Convener was regretfully accepted as the first item of business. Mrs. Walker reported on the Local Council and Mrs. Thompson on the Hamper sent a bereaved family, and Mrs. Petch on the plans for the coming 60th Anniversary dinner on March 25 at 6.30 p.m. at Kennedy's Club Main St. N., to which all the members and ex-members are invited.

Five dollars was voted toward prizes for the High School Commencement and $25 to another bereaved family. A collection was taken for the 'Freedom From Hunger' project, through the Local Council. A bake sale on March 22, in the United Gas Store, was planned, with Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Baxter and Mrs. Palmer as committee.

It was also arranged to have Euchre parties in the near future, in homes offered by Mrs. Baxter, Mrs. Shields, Mrs. Bell, and Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Armstrong read a few timely hints, then introduced the Armstrong sisters, who entertained the audience with musical numbers; Mary Louise with piano selections and Diana with vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Paul.

Mrs. A. Wilson then introduced Mr. Joe Ross, representative of the Halton Co-Op Medical Services, who kindly explained the new Comprehensive Coverage plan being presented to the public, also answering during question period on same. Thanks was expressed to those taking part in programmes, after which the meeting closed with the Queen and lunch was served by the committee in charge.

List 59,341 As Eligible to Vote

Since the last federal election less than a year ago the number of eligible voters in Halton has risen by 3,511.

Richard West, federal returning officer, said that his enumerators tabulated 59,341 eligible for the April 8 election. For last June the riding had 55,830 voters. The increase was broken down into 992 rural and 2,519 urban voters. Thirty-three extra polling stations will be open this election.

March 21 to 23 is the last chance for voters missed by the enumerators to get their names added to the voters lists. Revising officers will make corrections during these three days.

Blasts Insurance Firms For 'Needless Lawsuits

George Elliott, Halton County judge, is asking the Ontario Government for legislation to curb insurance companies now clogging courts with unreasonable damage suits.

Presiding over the Second Division Court yesterday, the judge accused insurance companies of refusing to make settlements on clear-cut cases. Division Court costs are nominal and do not deter companies from dumping these cases on the already over-burdened judiciary.

Even if the judgment is unfavourable they stand little to lose because of the low costs. However, against someone not at fault they hope to frighten him into a settlement with long and delayed procedures.

Judge Elliott said he is going to confer with the inspector of legal offices to see if legislation can't be introduced to discourage the companies from swamping the courts.

His proposal is to raise court costs. At the present time, a lawyer arguing in Division Court can only be granted a maximum of $40, even if he has spent weeks in preparation. Witnesses are allowed $1.

Ever since July 1962 when the District Court's jurisdiction on claims was increased from $200 to include everything under $400, insurance firms have turned to the law bodies with increasing frequency.

Prior to this time, claims over $200 were handled by the County Court where the costs are "substantially higher."

As a punitive measure Judge Elliott said, "I am going to allow all the costs I can possibly give."

LOCAL BOY WINS 'DINO' IN CONTEST

A local 9-year-old has one of the '40 Dinos a day' offered by the Colgate firm in a contest.

The dino (short for dinosaur) has been popularized by the Flintstones cartoon show on television.

Dale Turnbull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Turnbull, 62 Main St. N., was notified last week of his good fortune.

Heart Attack is Fatal For Charles St. Man

Rev. Norman Young conducted the service at the Harold C McClure Funeral Home on March 7th for William Lorne Given, 37, who died suddenly at his home, 17 Charles St. on March 5th.

Mr. Given was about to change a tire on his car when the fatal attack occurred.

A native of this district, he had been employed at the Domtar papermill for over fifteen years and prior to that worked for a construction firm. He lived in Acton for a time following his marriage and for the past ten years had resided on Charles Street.

He was a member of Limehouse Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Given leaves his wife, Edith Jean Massey, and six children, Billy, Peggy, Bobby, Debbie, Kathy and Charles.

Pallbearers at the funeral service were Clarke Holmes, Wesley Fendley, Robert Davis, Ken Hill, Gordon Harley and Bill Bullivant. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Georgetown.
