School Department Heads Offer Recommendations

Heads of departments at Georgetown District High School met with the board's recently appointed building committee Saturday to present prepared lists of recommendations regarding the proposed addition to the school. The recommendations were in connection primarily with their own departments.

The meeting, arranged by the board, lasted for some three and a half hours.

The building committee will meet with Principal Jo L. Lambert and Fred Turner who will become headmaster this summer to discuss the new recommendations this Saturday.

Members of the staff invited to present their ideas were English dept. head P. Legge Technical English and Audio Visual acting department head Mike Peleschak, Science department head T. E. Bear, acting History department head Mrs. N. Tucker, Moderns department head Mrs. M. Hardie, Physical Education department head Lyn McLaren; Girls Physical Education subject chairman Mrs. W. Thompson, acting Guidance department head A. C. Prouse, Maths department head J. R. Bellamy, Latin subject chairman Mrs. J. M. Glynn, Home Economics subject chairman Mrs. P. Heas, and Technical Director O. W. Robb.

The board's building committee is composed of chairman William Carr, E. E. Hall, and Donald Lawson, of the board and Advisory Vocational Commissioner James McCalg.

DIETING A PROBLEM

The desire of teen-age girls to be slim often leads to dietary errors resulting in ill-health. This should be watched. At this age soft drinks and candy become a problem when they take the place of foods required to meet bodily needs.
