Russian Milling Machine Only Second in Province

A three and a half ton Russian made, vertical milling machine is in use at Zenith Tool and Die Ltd. The milling machine, manufactured by S.F.D. Lepkin, in Gorky, is the second of its kind in Ontario. Manager Leon Dearsley and the men seem proud of the Russian made machine, which comes with two instruction booklets, one in Russian and one in English. Since no-one in shop reads Russian this is handy.

Zenith Tool and Die started five years ago with only Mr. Dearsley, and now has twenty employees. They are custom mold and die makers. Many of the familiar make-up cases and deodorant containers are made from dies at Zenith Tool and Die.

They make molds for the plastic industry all over Canada and the States, with one of their products recently hitting the headlines. They made the molds for the controversial military medals given away as premiums in cereal boxes. They made the Military Cross, the Victoria Cross, D.F.C., D.S.O., Silver Star and Medal of Honour. All of these demanded fine engraving of the molds.

Mr. Dearsley firmly believes in the apprentice system, and at present has four young men, learning their trade as tool makers. If possible he hires them after they have completed the four year Vocational Training course. Every other year they go to school for ten weeks with the government paying part of the cost and the employer paying part.

Mr. Dearsley deplores the fact there are only 800 apprentice tool makers in the whole of Ontario and speaks very highly of the young men he has in his employ.

Commons' Birth Control Report by End of Month

The report of the Commons' health and welfare committee on birth control will be presented not later than the end of November, Dr. Harry Harley, MP for Halton said Friday.

Dr. Harley is chairman of the committee which has been hearing a series of witnesses on the present legislation and Criminal Code as it affects the dissemination of birth control information and devices.

He said the final meeting of the committee to hear witnesses was held this week and the Canadian Association of Pentecostal Churches presented a brief. Following that, there was one meeting of the steering committee and one meeting of the whole committee, both in camera, to discuss and approve the report.

Criminal Code

Dr. Harley will then table the report in the Commons and it will then be up to the government to take action or not as it sees fit. It is expected the report will recommend amendments to the section of the Criminal Code to ease the present restrictive law which is frequently ignored.

And there's a strong possibility the committee will recommend the entire subject be removed from the Criminal Code and made part and parcel in Canada's pure food and drug legislation. Dr. Harley expects the report to be relatively brief with three or four specific recommendations.

Drug Costs

But, he said the special committee on drug costs will not be meeting for some time yet. The Halton MP also chairs this committee and he said evidence will be taken until mid-December and the committee will resume hearing witnesses if the present parliamentary session is continued after the Christmas recess.

Dr. Harley said there were enough witnesses to keep the committee going for some time to come and the report is likely to be a bulky and somewhat complicated document because of the complexities of the problem revealed in the evidence presented to date.

In the next few meetings the relationship of drug costs to patients and government purchasing of drugs is to be examined.

Erred in Statement Mayor Apologizes

Mayor Gibbons told council Monday that he erred in blaming an engineering firm for loss of a roads subsidy because a proper by-law had not been passed by council in time.

Addressing council at the start of the meeting, he said it had been brought to his attention since last week's council meeting that he was incorrect in saying the Damas & Smith firm should have arranged for the subsidy.

"I make this statement in fairness to everyone," he said. "No pressure has been brought on me to make this statement."

A news report in the Herald had quoted him as saying it has cost the town $120,000 in fees and lost subsidy.

"Through our contract with one firm, they have collected $88,000" he said "I realize we recover some of this in government subsidy, however we have been good customers of two firms, another of which has received $22,000. I don't think any of us know exactly how much of this is subsidy."

The mayor said he didn't intend to pursue the subject any farther in the light of certain facts brought to his attention.
