Hostel committee awarded grant

A grant of $7,532 to the Halton Women's Hostel Committee has been approved by the Young Canada Works Program. The committee will use the grant to hire three students for a summer research project related to the establishment of a shelter for abused wives in Halton.

The committee also hopes to get a grant for a fourth student from the Department of the Secretary of State. "It looks good," commented committee chairman Gloria Hincks.

The deadline for student applications is April 21. The committee hopes to hire one student from each town in Halton — Milton, Halton Hills, Oakville and Burlington. Area residents with research skills have volunteered to help the students as well.

Office space for the students has been found in a former Georgetown home, located at 121 Main St.

At its regular monthly meeting last week the committee selected Johan McMillan, a Georgetown lawyer, to serve as vice-chairman.

A workshop on wife abuse is planned for June 17 in Burlington. It will be open to the public. A more extensive workshop is being considered for the fall.
