Rested at McClure-Jones Funeral Home, 34 Edith Street, Georgetown. Christian burial mass was held Tuesday morning at Holy Cross Church, Maple Avenue, followed by cremation. In memory, contributions to the charity of your choice would be appreciated.

MARCHINGTON, Robert H (Bob)—At the Milton District Hospital, former head of the Science Department at Prince Edward Collegiate. Dearly loved husband of Helen Marchington. Dear father of Craig, Ian and Kevin. Rested at the Shoemaker Funeral Home in Acton, where later, a private funeral was held.

MNR Crown land ideas await public comment

Herald Special

Open houses across southern Ontario have been set up to give the public a chance to participate in the land use planning process of the ministry of natural resources.

Scheduled for this month, these events will display the recently completed district strategies which show what the ministry has proposed for Ontario's Crown Land. Minister Alan Pope has invited the public to comment on these plans.

Local open houses will be held at the Milton public library Aug. 24 from 3 to 9 p.m. and at the Bramalea Civic Centre Aug. 12 from 1 to 9 p.m.

A group of conservation organizations stresses the importance of public participation in this process. "Mr. Pope said he will base his decisions on the plans on public comment, so it is important for Ontario's residents to go to the open houses and say what they want done with public land," said Nancy Patterson, of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists.

Crown Land makes up 87 per cent of the province's land base. This land belongs to the residents of Ontario, and is managed by the ministry. The plans displayed at the open houses are to be altered in light of public comment received, and then sent to Mr. Pope for final approval.

Slated for implementation in 1983, the plans will asign public land to various uses, such as forestry, mining, cottaging and parks for the next 20 years. These critical decisions have industry and interest groups scrambling for their share of the land resource.

Conservationists fear that commitments to industrial development may squander Ontario's natural heritage. "By the end of this year industry will be firmly established on the land assigned to it in the plans. If we don't get more parks now, our future choices are non-existent for wilderness parks, and limited for others," said Arlin Hackman of the Wildlands League. "Besides, all the candidate parks represent only five per cent of the productive forest land. That isn't too much to ask," he said.

"Protection and recreation are the two goals of the parks system. We want Mr. Pope to live up to these goals in the plans," said Grace Patterson of the Canadian Environmental Law Association. "The ministry has pledged the people of Ontario a good Provincial Parks system. It is up to the public to make sure it is delivered," she said.

Conservationists across the province joined her in encouraging the public to participate now in the Crown Land decisions. The deadline for public comment is Aug. 31.
